

Quincy Patriot

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1903.

VOL. 67, NO. 27.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 124 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The Only Daily in the Only City in Norfolk County. Established in 1859.
Subscription Price, $2.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid one year in advance.

Also Publishers of the Brantree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUBOIS & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

QUINCY DENTAL PARLORS.
FIRST CLASS DENTISTRY.
At Lowest Prices. Gas and Ether Administered. Reasonable—Reliable—Responsible.
Office Hours, 9 to 5. Open Monday and Friday Evenings. City Square, opposite Fountain, Quincy. Tel. 45-9.
FREE EXAMINATIONS. 11:30 p.m.

DR. G. R. ENGLAND,
DENTIST.
21 Chestnut Street.
Telephone 126-5.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Rooms 5 and 6, Durgin & Merrill's Block,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Grenville street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St.,
Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Also, MONDAY and FRIDAY Evenings, 7 to 9.
Telephone number, 146-2.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets,
Quincy, Feb. 6.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable rates. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing, AKINGTON STREET - WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9.

A. W. PARKER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Cor. Putnam and Merrymont Roads, Quincy.

HOUSES FOR SALE AND TO LET.
PLANS FURNISHED.
Jobbing Promptly Attended to.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, QUINCY, MASS.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter & Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

Granite Firms.
LONG & SAUNDERS,
Superior Workmen from American and foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs. Superior workman ship. Works, South Quincy. Branch, Stoughton, Mass.

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. Works near Quincy Adams Depot. Office, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office, 14 West Main St., North Adams.

BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Mechanicians. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Cemetery for sale. West Quincy.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams Station, So. Quincy.

FULLER, FOLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works at West Quincy Depot.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Headstones. Willard street, West Quincy.

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.

N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe Stock and Mutual offices.

By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

W. G. CHUBBUCK,
Furniture and Piano Mover,
—AND OUT OF TOWN.
Furniture Packed and Stored.
Carpets Taken Up, Cleaned and Re-laid.

JOBING.
Orders left at No. 82 Water street, or Nickerson's Candy Kitchen, Music Hall Block; or at W. T. Arnold's Revere Road.
14-1/2 Address, QUINCY, MASS.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS.
Carriage Builders
—AND PAINTERS.
BY FIRST-CLASS WORKMEN.
Farness Making and Repairing.
All orders promptly attended and faithfully executed.

Buy your Rubber Tires at us.
Factory Quincy Ave.,
QUINCY, MASS.

ABBOTT & MILLER'S HOUGHES NECK.
QUINCY AND BOSTON EXPRESS.

Boston Office—47 Franklin Street, 139 Kingston Street, 36 Court Square, 11 Broad Street.
Quincy Office—4 Chestnut Street, 101 Box, Quincy depot, Q. & B. St. R. R. building, C. E. Tilden's, Pastor's Drug Store.
South Quincy—Quincy Adams depot, 66 Quincy street, and Burns' store.
West Quincy—Kimball's store and depot.
Leave Quincy 8:30 and 9:30 A. M. Leave Boston 1 and 3:30 P. M.

G. M. MILLER, General Manager.
Furniture and Pianos moved and stored. Light and heavy teaming.
P. O. address, Lock Box 3, Quincy. Telephone, 45-3. Quincy.

THOS. W. LINCOLN,
Awning Maker,
764 Washington St., Quincy Point.

Italian Awnings.
All Kinds of Strips,
Made in the Best Manner,
At Very Short Notice
—AND—
STORES, HALLS, PRIVATE RESIDENCES,
Bench Houses.
Yacht Sails made to order and warranted to fit.
Second-hand canvas constantly on hand.
March 14.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!
OF ALL KINDS.
DRY AND GREEN
At Lowest Possible prices.
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
Yard off Miller and West Streets,
WEST QUINCY.
Quincy, Jan. 10.

ELLA L. STETSON,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES
—AND—
RUBBERS.
166 Washington Street
Quincy, Mass.
Jan. 24.

C. L. PRESCOTT,
CONTRACTOR.
HAVING Been appointed City Scavenger, I respectfully solicit the patronage of the citizens, pledging myself to give particular attention to all work entrusted to me, and to do all by the Edison's Odorous Extinguishing System. Orders may be left at:
P.O. Address—At Miss Freeman's store. CITY HALL, Board of Health office.
AT MY RESIDENCE,
Baxter Avenue, Quincy Point.
March 21.

THE MOTHERS KNOW

A growing, active boy puts clothing to its supreme test. It is the mother of such a boy who understands, as nobody else does, whether materials hold their color, are properly put together, and stand wear as they should.
Hundreds of mothers have told us how absolute is the satisfaction which

Our Clothing
gives to them, in all respects, as worn by their sons.
We cannot conceive of a higher endorsement—can you?

Macular Parker Company
400 Washington Street
BOSTON

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

900 DROPS
CASTORIA
Vegetable Preparation for Assuaging the Food and Bowels of Infants and Children.

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Narcotics. NOT NARCOTIC.

Perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac-Simile Signature of
W. A. HATCHER
NEW YORK
35 DROPS - 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

EXAMINERS FOR AND MAKERS OF EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
ORIGINATORS OF THE
JOHN W. SANBORN CO.,
OPTICIANS.

No. 3 Winter Street, BOSTON, MASS.
BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres. and Manager.
TELEPHONE. ELEVATOR. ONE FLIGHT

Laboratory
JAYNES & CO.
GIVE GREEN TRADING STAMPS

A word of many meanings.
But it's the Jaynes' Laboratory, at 48 Washington Street, we are talking about.

It covers a quarter acre of floor space.
It is a busy place all the year round.

It keeps eighteen girls and nine men hustling all the time—manufacturing, bottling, labeling, and wrapping, the various preparations which the people demand.

These preparations are all sold at one profit only, and then if they fail to cure, you get your money back.

All the latest up-to-date machinery is used to facilitate the work—bottling machines, tablet machines, mixers, sifters, pressure filters, etc., etc. We also have a complete malt plant for turning out Jaynes' Liquid Extract of Malt—the only malt plant in the world owned and operated by a retail druggist.

All these things, combined with the efforts of the most skilled chemists and the very highest quality of materials, enable us to fully guarantee our preparations, and to refund the money in case they fail to cure.

A trial purchase by you is our best advertisement.

JAYNES & CO.
(TRADE-MARK)
Washington St., cor. Hanover
Summer St., cor. South
877 Washington St., opp. Oak

EBEN SMITH.
1872.
MRS. EBEN SMITH.
1897.
PICTURE FRAMING.
FINE GOLD WORK.
147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.
Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.
Oct. 12.

Poetry

The First Glorious Fourth.

Ah, could we have seen them,
Those patriotic men,
All true for achievement,
With the sword and with the pen!
Which permitted no delay:
They did their duty,
On each Independence day,
Their minds were full of bliss,
Which permitted no delay.

Miscellany.

An Independent Pair.

Gran'ma'am sat in her hot and close little room sewing carpet rags. She hated to sew carpet rags, and there was an angry look in her dim blue eyes as she glanced at the great basket of rags her daughter-in-law Susan had asked her to "fix around" and sew that day, as she wanted to take them to the weaver next morning.

Never had she been more rebellious than on this beautiful June morning, as she sat with the basket, in her lap, picking out the red and green and yellow rags, the weaver had sewed by themselves for the "twisted stripe" of Susan's carpet.

"I've stood just all I'm going to stand," the old lady said as she spitefully flung aside a handful of the black rags that were to be used as "filling" in the carpet. "I just been put upon and put upon until I can't and won't stand any more. A body would think from the way Susan and Hiram act that I hadn't any rights here. I'll let them see if I ain't! I's my house just as theirs. I ain't never signed away my rights to a third in the place and I ain't goin' to, no matter how much Hiram and Susan hint that I ought to. They're carrying things with a mighty high hand, but they'll overreach themselves if they ain't watchin'!"

"Now they're going over to the big celebration at Hinsdale, and, as usual, are going to leave me at home, to look after things. They've been leaving me at home to look after things every time they have gone any place for the last six years. I ain't even been to town in all that time, and I ain't been to church a dozen times in eight years. Susan thinks that 'home is the best place for old folks,' and she makes Hiram think just as she does. She lets on to folks that she's the 'gran'ma'am' and she's got to stay at home."

"They don't know it, but I'm going to that celebration over at Hinsdale. I ain't going to say a word to them about it, but I'm going. If Independence day ain't a good day for a body to muster up some independence I'd like to know what day is! I ain't bound to say anything to Hiram and Susan if I want to go any place, and if Susan thinks I'm going to set here and sew carpet rags or to mend all day the Fourth she's mighty mistaken. A body would think to hear her talk that I was a hundred years old and too feeble to get from room to room, and here I ain't but sixty-nine, and I do about as much work in this house as any one. I'm capable enough except 'at I ain't watchin'!"

"Tell you, Elviry," he said it's a shame the way these youngsters try to ride over the old folks. An' it ain't right! I ain't going to stand it any longer, an' I don't want you should. It's a good day to assert our independence."

It was a long ride to Hinsdale and the old horse went very slowly, so that the couple had a long time in which to talk over their grievances. Each found a sympathetic listener in the other. Samuel was very thoughtful for some time before they reached Hinsdale. Then he said suddenly as he reined the horse to a standstill under the shade of a tree:

"See here, Elviry! I've been thinkin' of a way out of our troubles for both of us, an' I ain't goin' to drive on until you have heard what that way is. You see I still own my little house and five acres of ground and I have my pension of twelve dollars a month. You own a third of your home place and it's only right and just that you should have the profits of that thing. Now don't get scared, Elviry, if you do spilt your milk I'm goin' to say. We ain't such terrible old folks, an' we are both in the best of health. Both my parents lived to be twenty years older than I be, an' you come from long-lived folks. I've found out more about it I always liked you. I was good to my first wife an' I—I—well, Elviry, I'd be just as good to a second wife, an' specially to one that'd make me such a home as I know you'd make. What do you say, Elviry?"

Her face was crimson and her eyes downcast.

"Why, Sam'l," she said, "I—I—what would our children say?"

"Who cares a rap for what they'd say? Ain't that Independence day? An' ain't we both set out to be independent? Course we have! Let's carry it right through, an' let our children think what they please! You see that red brick house on the hill about a mile ahead of us? Well, old Elder Thos. lives there an' he's so crippled up with rheumatism that it ain't likely he has gone to the celebration. We don't need any license in this state, an' I say for us to stop an' let the Elder say the words that'll make the rest of the town trip to Hinsdale a wedding journey. Ain't that the best way to let folks see that we've got some independence left?"

He pleaded his cause so well that gran'ma'am was a bride when she reached the grove in which the celebration was being held. Five minutes later she came face to face with Susan and Hiram in company with Samuel's son and daughter-in-law.

"Well, for pity sake!" exclaimed Susan. "If here ain't gran'ma'am!"

"An' if here ain't gran'pa!" exclaimed Samuel's daughter-in-law.

"I'd like to know who is lookin' after things at home?"

"You look purty shabby, Elviry Wheeler; but you are clean and tidy." This was true. There was nothing awry, nothing amiss, about the little old woman as she stepped out of the house into the glowing sunshine of that cloudless July day. She held her clean but faded calico skirt well up out of the dust as she walked down the dusty road with a step that was wonderfully light and springy for a woman of her years. Her faded cheeks glowed with excitement, and her blue eyes were shining.

"I declare if I don't feel like a child goin' to a party," she said as she tripped along on the grass by the roadside. "I hope that I'll get a chance to ride soon or I'll be all covered with dust."

She had walked half a mile when she heard the sound of wheels behind her. She waited under the shade of a tree for the vehicle to approach. A moment later she was saying gleefully:

"Well, Sam'l! Turner, if I ain't lucky! I bet you're goin' over to Hinsdale to the Fourth of July doin's. You're dressed up so smart."

"Well, Elviry Dickey! When have I ever seen you so far from home before? Ain't lost, be you?"

Samuel Turner was a kindly looking little old man with wondrously rusty cheeks and eyes of surprising brightness, when one remembered that he was verging close on to threescore and ten. He had a somewhat rickety old buggy and a horse that was quite in harmony with its antiquated appearance.

"Yes," said Samuel, "I have started off for Hinsdale, whether I ever get there or not with this outfit. What? You're on the way to Hinsdale about? Be ye crazy, Elviry? Why, it's ten miles to Hinsdale!"

"I know it. But I reckoned that some of our neighbors would happen along and that they would be perille and obligin' enough to ask me to ride, but they needn't unless they want to."

"La, climb right in, Elviry! Climb right in, if you ain't ashamed to be seen in such a turnout!"

"I reckon it looks as well as I do," said Elviry. "I ain't had no new things in a coon's age. Seems as if it takes all my pension money to git things for my son's farm, since I broke up an' went to live with him. It's sure to be everything some to give out about the day my pension money comes due. Git up, Bill!"

He laid the whip across the back of the horse adding:

"I'll tell you how I happen to be goin' over to the Fourth in this old rig with such a skilful of a horse hitched to it. My son and his folks put out this morning with the double team an' the three-seat wagon, an' never said beans to me about goin'." They said on to their sons when I git to Hinsdale, they'll git sassed back. I'm goin' to turn over a new leaf, Elviry."

Then gran'ma'am told how she happened to be setting out alone on foot for Hinsdale, and Samuel became most sympathetic.

"Tell you, Elviry," he said it's a shame the way these youngsters try to ride over the old folks. An' it ain't right! I ain't going to stand it any longer, an' I don't want you should. It's a good day to assert our independence."

It was a long ride to Hinsdale and the old horse went very slowly, so that the couple had a long time in which to talk over their grievances. Each found a sympathetic listener in the other. Samuel was very thoughtful for some time before they reached Hinsdale. Then he said suddenly as he reined the horse to a standstill under the shade of a tree:

"See here, Elviry! I've been thinkin' of a way out of our troubles for both of us, an' I ain't goin' to drive on until you have heard what that way is. You see I still own my little house and five acres of ground and I have my pension of twelve dollars a month. You own a third of your home place and it's only right and just that you should have the profits of that thing. Now don't get scared, Elviry, if you do spilt your milk I'm goin' to say. We ain't such terrible old folks, an' we are both in the best of health. Both my parents lived to be twenty years older than I be, an' you come from long-lived folks. I've found out more about it I always liked you. I was good to my first wife an' I—I—well, Elviry, I'd be just as good to a second wife, an' specially to one that'd make me such a home as I know you'd make. What do you say, Elviry?"

Her face was crimson and her eyes downcast.

"Why, Sam'l," she said, "I—I—what would our children say?"

"Who cares a rap for what they'd say? Ain't that Independence day? An' ain't we both set out to be independent? Course we have! Let's carry it right through, an' let our children think what they please! You see that red brick house on the hill about a mile ahead of us? Well, old Elder Thos. lives there an' he's so crippled up with rheumatism that it ain't likely he has gone to the celebration. We don't need any license in this state, an' I say for us to stop an' let the Elder say the words that'll make the rest of the town trip to Hinsdale a wedding journey. Ain't that the best way to let folks see that we've got some independence left?"

He pleaded his cause so well that gran'ma'am was a bride when she reached the grove in which the celebration was being held. Five minutes later she came face to face with Susan and Hiram in company with Samuel's son and daughter-in-law.

"Well, for pity sake!" exclaimed Susan. "If here ain't gran'ma'am!"

"An' if here ain't gran'pa!" exclaimed Samuel's daughter-in-law.

"I'd like to know who is lookin' after things at home?"

"That's what I'd like to know," said Susan sharply.

Then Samuel stood up with his old bride's hand in his said boldly:

"There's nobody seen't to things at home, an' hereafter you will have to see to your own things we'll have all we kin do to see to our things. I'm pleased to intercede you to my wife!"

Susan dropped down on a log in her amazement and Samuel's son and daughter-in-law were so amazed for words. Before they could find utterance Samuel said with increased boldness:

"Elviry an' me thought it about time to show our independence. We ain't in bondage no longer. We've turned on our oppressors. But we hain't any hard feelin's, and we'll be glad to see all of you at our home any time, come, Elviry, let's go an' git some of that pink lem-lime an' some ice cream."

They turned away, and Samuel said over his shoulder:

"You needn't wait for us to go home. We're goin' to visit a few days with Elviry's cousin Susan, an' then we plan to go over to Hillsboro an' visit awhile with some of my kin over that way. We'll come home when we git ready. We're just independent."—Good Housekeeping.

"Yankee Doodle."

When Dr. William Mason made his first concert tour (1855) he astonished the natives by playing "Old Hundred" and "Yankee Doodle" at the same time. Fifteen years later he was asked to do the same thing and did it. In after years his name was destined to be linked with that of the popular American song. In the century he writes:

Not long before Rubinstein's departure for Europe he wrote a large number of variations on "Yankee Doodle," and meeting me shortly afterward, he informed me of the fact, and added: "I have inscribed your name at the head of the title-page, and they are now in the hands of the publisher." He said further, and in a seemingly apologetic tone, "They are good, I assure you, and I have taken much pleasure in writing them." He played this composition at his farewell concert in New York, and in point of fact the variations were very well made; but I think that much of his playing at the concert referred to was improvised.

The second season Paderewski was here I sat next to him at a dinner given just after his arrival. During conversation he said somewhat suddenly: "Mr. Mason, I have just composed a fantasy on 'Yankee Doodle,' and I have dedicated it to you." He looked at me, and saw, or thought he saw, a curious expression in my face, although I was quite unaware of such a thing, and continued, "You don't like it?" "Oh, I do," I protested, "and esteem the dedication as a great honor." "I see you don't," he said. "Well," I replied, "I already have one 'Yankee Doodle' from Rubinstein, and was thinking that the coincidence of your dedicating me another was very curious, that is all. Let me explain to you that 'Yankee Doodle' does not stand in the same relation to the United States as 'God save the Queen' to England, 'Gott erhalte Franz den Kaiser' to Austria, or the 'Marseillaise' to France. 'Yankee Doodle' was written by an Englishman in derision of us." I am afraid that my remarks discouraged him, for he never finished the composition. He played it to me as far as he had progressed with it, and it is certainly the best treatment of the theme I have ever heard. He had given it respectability, and indeed, he told me that he really liked the tune.

Stupid City Folks.

"Henry," said Uncle Amos from Upernivik, who was visiting his city nephew, "who's that man in the house on the other side of the street? Every morning he stands in front of a window an' shaves himself. He's done it now for three days head-running."

"Of course," replied Henry.

"Has he lived there all that time?"

"Yes, and longer than that, for all I know. I've been here only ten years myself."

"Who is he?"

"I don't know."

"What does he do?"

"I haven't the slightest idea, uncle. Uncle Amos put on his hat and went out.

In an hour he returned.

"Henry," he said, "that clap's name is Horton. He runs an insurance office downtown. He's worth about $27,000, owns that house and lot, and belongs to the Presbyterian church, has three boys an' one girl, an' he's 46 years old. I've found out more about him I always liked you. I was good to my first wife an' I—I—well, Elviry, I'd be just as good to a second wife, an' specially to one that'd make me such a home as I know you'd make. What do you say, Elviry?"

Her face was crimson and her eyes downcast.

"Why, Sam'l," she said, "I—I—what would our children say?"

"Who cares a rap for what they'd say? Ain't that Independence day? An' ain't we both set out to be independent? Course we have! Let's carry it right through, an' let our children think what they please! You see that red brick house on the hill about a mile ahead of us? Well, old Elder Thos. lives there an' he's so crippled up with rheumatism that it ain't likely he has gone to the celebration. We don't need any license in this state, an' I say for us to stop an' let the Elder say the words that'll make the rest of the town trip to Hinsdale a wedding journey. Ain't that the best way to let folks see that we've got some independence left?"

He pleaded his cause so well that gran'ma'am was a bride when she reached the grove in which the celebration was being held. Five minutes later she came face to face with Susan and Hiram in company with Samuel's son and daughter-in-law.

"Well, for pity sake!" exclaimed Susan. "If here ain't gran'ma'am!"

"An' if here ain't gran'pa!" exclaimed Samuel's daughter-in-law.

"I'd like to know who is lookin' after things at home?"

"That's what I'd like to know," said Susan sharply.

Then Samuel stood up with his old bride's hand in his said boldly:

"There's nobody seen't to things at home, an' hereafter you will have to see to your own things we'll have all we kin do to see to our things. I'm pleased to intercede you to my wife!"

Susan dropped down on a log in her amazement and Samuel's son and daughter-in-law were so amazed for words. Before they could find utterance Samuel said with increased boldness:

"Elviry an' me thought it about time to show our independence. We ain't in bondage no longer. We've turned on our oppressors. But we hain't any hard feelin's, and we'll be glad to see all of you at our home any time, come, Elviry, let's go an' git some of that pink lem-lime an' some ice cream."

They turned away, and Samuel said over his shoulder:

"You needn't wait for us to go home. We're goin' to visit a few days with Elviry's cousin Susan, an' then we plan to go over to Hillsboro an' visit awhile with some of my kin over that way. We'll come home when we git ready. We're just independent."—Good Housekeeping.

One Hopeful Sign.

While I was living in California, writes an Englishman, I had the opportunity of noting the extreme consideration shown to employees by California employers. I cannot recall an instance of a cruel and cutting rebuke from one in authority to a clerk or servant during the seventeen years of my stay.

A friend of mine had a clerk who was always forgetting important duties. Letters would be forgotten, important entries on the books omitted and messages even were sometimes not delivered. Said my friend to me one morning:

"Really, I must speak to John."

So John was summoned, and I wondered what manner of rebuke would fall upon his head.

"John," said my friend, "it is most astonishing what a very bad memory you have. But I believe that in time it will improve, because I have noticed that you have never once forgotten to draw your salary on the first of the month."

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1903.

Lawn Party.

Nothing was lacking Thursday to make the lawn party at the residence of Mayor Bryant, for the benefit of the Day Nursery, a success. Beautiful grounds, finely adapted for such an affair, and a warm, yes a hot, summer day and evening. A large attendance. What more could be asked?

It was like a fairy scene. Hundreds of Japanese lanterns encircled the grounds, and rows of them marked the driveway and walks. Circling back and forth were scores of pretty girls and the more stately matrons in cool, bewitching summer costumes. Yes, indeed, it was a fairy scene.

Money was freely spent and there can be no doubt that it was also financially a success.

Chief Hayden was present with a squad of bluecoats but their presence was not necessary to keep order. Henry H. Faxon came early and saw to it that no child went without a refreshing drink of ice cream. Fifteen hundred tickets he paid for, besides patronizing liberally the tables or booths.

Among the distinguished visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Adams, Mr. Adams is the only member of that illustrious family who makes his home in Quincy, and Quincy people are glad that he chooses to identify himself with Quincy and that he takes an active interest in all that pertains to the welfare of Quincy. Mr. and Mrs. Adams were present in the afternoon and left generous remembrances at all of the booths.

Mayor Bryant who kindly gave the use of his grounds was also present and he and Mrs. Bryant left nothing undone that would in any way add to the event. The ladies of the Day Nursery promised that if by Oct. 1 it had $200 it would open its room. It is almost certain now that this object will be carried out.

The public would be surprised to know how many children needed such a room and it is the hope of those interested that next winter no child will be alone and hungry, while its mother is away at work, as there were many last year.

For amusement there was nothing aside from dancing in the barn. It was a warm night but the inspiring hurdy hurdy music with Marie Goss as tambourine girl proved too fascinating and the floor was constantly occupied all the afternoon and evening.

The hours were from 2 to 10; and the officers of the association and chairman of the several booths constituted the committee of arrangements. The booths were arranged about the lawn and were marked by rows of lanterns.

One of the first tables to meet the eye as the visitor came up the main drive was the lemonade table. After the walk or drive to the grounds, what could be desired more than a glass of cool, refreshing, sweet lemonade, served by young ladies, in cool, becoming summer costumes. The attraction was too great to be passed by unnoticed and many a nickel found its way to the treasury by this table. The young ladies in charge were Miss Ada M. Nightingale, Miss May L. Gavin, Miss Alice E. Townsend, Miss Emily Gassett, Mrs. Clara A. Penley, Miss Annie H. Leonard, Miss Myra A. Spear.

Just in the rear was the fancy table. This was in charge of Mrs. Frank S. Davis assisted by Mrs. Joseph M. Sheahan, Mrs. John W. Sauerba, Frank Brewer, Mrs. Walter E. Simmons, Mrs. T. A. Addison.

Near by encircling a large tree was the confectionery booth. This was in charge of Mrs. Luther W. Glover, who was assisted by Mrs. H. H. Hall, Mrs. Clarence Burdick, Mrs. Harry L. Rice, Mrs. George E. Pfaffman, Mrs. Joseph Goss, Miss Katherine Sibley, Miss Gertrude Waterhouse.

Next came the domestic table in charge of Mrs. Nathan G. Nickerson and Mrs. J. B. Cornish.

On the south side of the house was a table where tea had been served early in the evening. This was in charge of Mrs. Walter T. Babcock, who was assisted by Mrs. Clara Dyer, Mrs. A. M. Hayden, Miss Ethel Babcock, Miss Mollie Rogers, Miss Alice Porter, Miss Jennette Carr, Miss Catherine Hardwick, Miss Bertha Newcomb, Miss Louise Randall.

In the rear was the cake table in charge of Mrs. E. A. Penman who was assisted by Mrs. Jennie Twell, Mrs. George T. Mager, Mrs. E. L. Pearce and Mrs. E. G. Pratt.

Near this was the ice cream table in charge of Mrs. C. T. Hardwick, assisted by Mrs. George H. Brown, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Cobb.

At the left of the main drive enclosed in a hedge of green was the Good Ten. From an opening a goose head protruded and ten cents placed within its mouth brought forth a present. This was in charge of Mrs. Paul R. Blackman, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Blanchard, Mrs. W. L. Dawson, Miss Gertrude Babcock.

Near the barn was a table laden with books for summer reading in charge of Mrs. Theophilus King, Mrs. Fred H. Reed, Miss M. D. French, Miss Jane Need, Miss Kate Lincoln.

Away over in one corner in a canopy of flags was the palm reader, Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth, who was gowned in a Swedish costume, which she obtained on a recent visit to that country.

Although situated a little to one side it was the mecca toward which many found the way and Mrs. Wadsworth was kept busy all the afternoon and evening.

A round to the tables shortly before 10 o'clock showed that few articles remained unsold. On some family refreshment had been sold and the ladies were packing up their effects.

It is impossible to tell how much was netted but it must have been several hundred dollars.

Clements-Phelps.

Miss Abbie L. Phelps, who for many years has been one of the pleasant compositors in the Patriot office, has gone and got married. That is the way with the nice girls, when they learn to set type in good shape there is someone who falls deeply in love with them and carries them off.

Miss Phelps got acquainted several years ago with a clever boy who worked at that time in the Patriot office, and watching his upward career carefully she decided he was just the man for her heart, and on Tuesday last, June 30, John M. Clements and Abbie L. Phelps were united in the holy bonds of wedlock.

They will be at home to their numerous friends at 57 Freeman street, Norfolk Downs, after September first.

On the fair grounds at Hingham on the morning of the Fourth, the Branties will play the Wompatucks at 10 o'clock instead of 10.30 as at first announced.

CITY BRIEFS.

Sunday was a grand day and every body was out.

Miss May Wood of Nantasket spent last week with friends in this city.

With Dunn in the box the Quineys defeated the Lexingtons on Saturday 6 to 3.

James H. Webb is confined to his bed on Washington street with an injured knee.

Horace F. Spear and family of Hancock street are at Rose Cliff for the summer.

Henry T. Brown, Jr., is the new man, employed at the stable of Brooks & Johnson.

Master Guy Marden has gone to West Hingham for a week's visit with his brother Arthur and family.

Mrs. Charles B. Stebbins and child of Bigelow street are spending the week with parents at Medford.

Mrs. George H. Norris has been confined to her home on Whitwell street the past few weeks by sickness.

Mrs. Friend Crane gave a dinner party Monday to several lady friends at her home off Washington street.

Benjamin Albert has served his conscription as foreman of Brooks & Johnson, said on Washington street.

R. Cady Loud and family have moved from Newcomb street to their new house just remodeled on Wilder street.

Miss Martha E. Graham of Washington street left last week for the Adirondacks, where she will spend the summer.

The lathers are at work on the new block on Washington street, corner of Hancock, and the building is also being connected with the water system.

The ground is broken for the cellar of a new double house upon Faxon avenue, to be built by Julius Johnson for George G. Saville.

The King's Daughters are doing a commendable work in raising funds to secure admission of a worthy Quincy couple to the Pond House.

Mrs. W. E. Cunningham of Hull has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. M. Marden, the past week. She is accompanied by her daughter Pearl.

Miss Julia Underwood left Saturday for Lynn where she will spend her summer vacation with her sister and family, with the exception of a week at Newton.

Mrs. C. H. Burgess of Whitney road has gone to Bear Island, N. H., to join her husband, who has been spending the month of June at this delightful summer resort.

Some of the veteran firemen of Quincy are interested in the play on Boston Common at 10 A. M., July 4, between the Boston Veterans and the Roxbury Veterans, for $25.

Ernest D. Gould has vacated the rooms he has so long occupied on Chestnut street, and has taken up his abode in his new house recently purchased on Goffe street.

A knitting machine company are to locate in this city having rented the lower floor of Col. W. B. White's large building on Baxter street. They commenced work this week.

The travel to Houghs Neck and Nantasket was very heavy Sunday, requiring four and five electric cars on several of the trips. The Houghs Neck line should be double tracked.

D. D. G. W. Bertha O. Gibbs and the deputies of her district will visit Quincy Friday No. 291, New England Order of Protection, at the regular meeting on Friday evening at Wilson's hall.

The Quincy Tennis club holds an open tournament in singles on July 4th, at 10 o'clock. Entries may be made to J. O. Hall, Jr., Box 141, Quincy, Mass., before that date. Fee, fifty cents.

Pictures of Commodore Sheppard, Bryant and Wiley of the local yacht clubs and also illustrations of their yachts appeared in the Sunday Herald, with comments on yachting in general.

Don't forget to take dinner at the Cooperative Dining Room on the 4th. Everything that goes to make up a first class fourth of July dinner will be found on their table. It costs only 25 cents.

It did everyone good to see Mr. H. H. Faxon's generosity and evident enjoyment at the Quincy telephone exchange. Faxon says what he has to say matters does not please him, but does not lose his good nature.

Mrs. Otto A. Hayward, who has been at the Hospital undergoing an operation for several weeks has returned to her home on Codding street and is able to walk out a little each pleasant day.

The new magneto switchboard with positions for nine operators is now in position at the Quincy telephone exchange. Manager Clark is to be congratulated in his efforts to give the city better service.

Friday last thirteen young men passed the examination for the fall admission to the Adams academy, among them being Ray Brown, Ralph Marden and Walter McKenzie of the Codding grammar school.

Inspector McKay, with Officers Murray, Redington and Cahill, raided a double house on Cottage avenue, Sunday, occupied by Francis Spador and Antonio Guillar. They seized a small quantity of whiskey in both places.

It required four cars to convey the members of the Christ church Sunday school to Highland park on Saturday for their picnic. It was a day of enjoyment for all. Refreshments were served liberally by the committee of the Sunday school.

The match for the Quincy Tennis Club challenge cups in doubles was played Saturday afternoon. The holders of the cup, Messrs. A. W. Hall and A. B. Holden, defeated the challengers, Messrs. C. L. Cole and A. F. Fuller.

The match was a pretty exhibition of playing. Hall and Holden played a net game and forced their opponents throughout. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3.

On Thursday evening last, after the Houghs parade in Boston, Judge Everett C. Bumpus entertained at dinner at his beautiful home on Goffe street, Maj. Irwin U. S. A., and officers of the battalion of the 8th U. S. Infantry. His son, Edward Avery Bumpus, U. S. A., was an officer of Co. C of the 9th Infantry and was killed at Balangiga island of Samar, in 1901, in the massacre of troops.

Mrs. William E. Alden of Chestnut street is with the Appalachian club in the White Mountains. Among the trips scheduled were Monday, Mr. Keasarge; Tuesday and Wednesday, Mr. Washington, with a smaller party to Chatham, where the club has a reservation on Mt. Baldface; Thursday, the ridge of Mount Mountain; Friday, Madison bowlder, and Saturday to Carrigan.

It is the last half of 1903.

Col. C. H. Porter is in New York on a business trip.

The City Council will meet next Monday evening.

The stores that sell fireworks will keep open late tonight.

Henry H. Faxon spent over $100, at the lawn party Thursday.

Mrs. Dexter Remick and niece, Ella, returned Tuesday from a week's visit to Worcester.

Quincy will be well represented at the firemen's muster in Portland, Maine, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Read, Jr., and son Lowell went to Leominster Wednesday for their vacation.

The Universalist Sunday School picnic will be a car ride next Monday to Norumbega Park.

The boys are to have a large bon-fire on the Atlantic playground the night before the Fourth.

The three drunks fell into the hands of the police Thursday were released by the court this morning.

Superintendent Leverage, the Electric Light Engineer, has gone on a visit to New Hampshire for a week.

Miss Martha L. Desmond of the High school, has left for the Catskills, where she will spend her vacation.

A case under the new naturalization law was put through the mill in the district court Thursday morning.

Frederic W. Plummer, master of the Woodward Institute, has returned from an automobile trip to Auburn, Maine.

Officer Goodhue sat with Lowell Thursday as one of the bearers at the funeral of the murdered Golda girl who was his cousin.

Some of the posters advertising the Day Nursery lawn party were painted by Miss Ethel Babcock, a prize winner at the Art Museum school.

Word has been received from Albany, N. Y., of the marriage of Lillian I. Flowers of Quincy to Mr. Charles H. Deaver of Baltimore, Maryland.

The regular meeting of the Managers of Public Burial Places to have been held Friday evening has been postponed until next week Friday, July 10.

The many friends of George D. Langley will be pleased to learn that he is improving at Durham, N. H., and that he hopes to return to Quincy soon.

F. W. Bent of Codding street, who is agent for Quincy, is giving daily exhibitions of a backboard automobile which is easily operated and costs little money.

Miss Esther Howland fell at the home of E. P. Howland Monday evening and fractured her leg. She went out in the dark to shut the stable door when she tripped and fell.

Lack of a quorum, prevented the regular meeting of the School Committee from being held Tuesday evening. Several of the members of the committee are out of town.

The joint committee on Finance and Public Buildings met Monday evening to consider plans for the addition to the High school building. The architects were before the committee.

For the seven years previous to 1903 there has always been 90 degree temperature in June and in one year 98. The highest temperature in the June just closed was 85 degrees. The lowest temperature was 54, one degree below the seven year record.

Our ladies will find good bargains at West Quincy next week. The entire stock in store of the late Mrs. A. H. Ginn on Crescent street will be sold regardless of cost. There is quite a good stock of goods at the ladies will be able to purchase many things at half price or less. Do not miss this chance as they do not often happen.

The morning Globe says that Thomas Carey, 55 years, of 25 Carey street, Quincy, was found in a doorway on Washington street about 4.30, semiconscious. Bystanders said he had either fallen in front of an electric car, or from one. It is probable that the man was overcome by the heat.

Among those who contributed to the Garden party at Mr. Henry L. Kincaide small tablets and chairs; Mr. Cass. Brooks fancy canisters; Mr. Jewett, spoons; and Mr. F. H. Smith, china. These are but few of the many who gave service or money, and to whom the Day Nursery Association will be always indebted.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brady of Newcomb street received the congratulations of their friends Tuesday, the thirtieth of June, being the anniversary of both their birthdays. A bountiful supper was served to the immediate friends. Mr. Brady presented his wife with an emerald ring set with diamonds. The evening was spent with music and dancing until a late hour.

The attention of the City Council has been called to the condition of South Walnut street, and Councilman Bass will probably be anxious for a report now. He was driving through the street Wednesday evening and found it flooded. As there were islands here and there and thought the water was shallow and attempted to drive through, but got into a hole and smashed a wheel.

Dr. Edward Anderson of Presidents' Hill sailed from Boston for Labrador Tuesday of this week. More than forty of his parishioners were on the pier to wish him on voyage. His steamer was lined with bouquets, one being made of thirty American Beauty Roses. He had a package of fifty-five letters to keep him in touch with his friends. One parting gift was a fine silk American flag which fluttered from the deck as long as the vessel was in sight. Dr. Anderson has gone for a much-needed rest and will not return until early autumn.

Although the weather Wednesday morning was rather inclement, nearly one hundred of the Sunday school of the First church participated in the annual picnic at Houghton's pond. During the day there was a series of sports, consisting of fifty and a one hundred yard dashes, three-legged race and potato race. Suitable prizes were given the winners. The children also had their fill of boating and there were peanuts, lemonade, ice cream and bananas.

A few nights ago residents near a thousand miles from Foster street, were unable to sleep on account of the tramp, kicking and squealing of horses in a nearby boarding stable. About 1.45 A. M. the disturbance became unbearable and a well known young lady kindly went out and summoned aid, and but for the timely assistance rendered, a number of the animals would have undoubtedly been seriously injured, as it was learned that eleven horses out of fourteen had free range of the building. As it turned out, however, owing to the timely aid rendered, but three of them received any injury and those only slight scratches. Good for the young lady.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Sheppard announce the marriage of their daughter Ella Williams to Dr. William Gallagher Friday, June 26. Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home to their friends on the evenings of November 10th, 11th and 12th, and on the evenings of November 17th, 18th and 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Graham of Bangor, Me., are in town.

Miss Audrey B. Bates of Bigelow street is at Gloucester for two weeks.

F. D. Fellows leaves Saturday for Wisconsin for a few weeks' trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Sargent of Goffe street will spend the Fourth at Belmont.

Miss Patty Faxon has gone to Washington for the month of July to visit the Ogdens.

William H. Doble and family of South street have gone to West Harwich for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Howland, and Mrs. Edward Russell sailed Thursday for Europe.

The Unitarian summer meetings at the Isles of Shoals will be held this year from July 12 to July 19.

Mrs. James Lewis and her three youngest children left Tuesday for Detroit, where they expect to remain till September.

It is estimated that the receipts from the garden party on Thursday afternoon at the Mayor's residence will amount to over $600.

The large Emelio has arrived at Sheppard & Son's wharf with a cargo of 203 tons soft coal. This is the largest cargo of coal that ever came to Quincy.

Misses Florence and Marion Howe of Bigelow street have gone to Redfield, Me., for two weeks. They were accompanied by their uncle, Mr. Walter Wilson.

The children have found Kincaide's annex to be a good place to get fireworks, because of the big variety and the prices. He also has box assortments for evening display.

The King's Daughters and Bethany church brotherhood will hold a joint picnic at Squantum next Saturday afternoon, July 11. There will be sports and other attractions.

Mr. Harry K. Briggs, civil engineer of the Massachusetts Water and Sewerage Board, now working at Houghs Neck, leaves tonight for his home in Athol, for a two week's vacation.

Miss Mary E. Keohan formerly a Quinny, is one of the committee of the Catholic Unitarian church which will assist in entertaining the delegates to the National Educational Convention in Boston next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Putnam Chase who were married in Milton last Saturday, sailed on the steamship Company on Thursday for Liverpool. Mrs. Chase was Miss Wigglesworth, the daughter of George Wigglesworth of Milton.

A suit for $200 was entered against Henry H. Faxon Thursday by Charles L. Prescott for services in cleaning cesspools, etc. Mr. Prescott claims that Faxon owes him for work performed and Mr. Faxon claims the work charged for was not properly done.

Among the most distinguished and generous guests at the Garden Party, Thursday, were Mr. and Mrs. Brooke Adams. Mrs. Adams is a most charming and unaffected woman. Her culture and excellent judgment as well as her tact make her a great acquisition to Quincy.

Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth as the Palm Reader at the Garden Party was one of the greatest attractions there. She read more than seventy hands and in many cases with wonderful accuracy. The Swedish costume worn by her was very becoming. It was brought home from Stockholm by Mrs. Wadsworth a year or two ago.

The prompt act of a young man, whose name could not be learned, prevented what might have been a serious accident at City Square, Thursday night. The square was crowded when the horse attached to a wagon of the Old Colony Laundry came tearing down the street. The young man caught the horse by the head and brought him to a stop.

Mrs. Madeline (Hayden) Poole of Philadelphia, Penn., was in this city, her native place, to spend this week. She appeared young and smart as ever, and seemed pleased to visit once more the old town where she spent her school days. She will be remembered better as the granddaughter of the late Ebenezer Bent, who resided for many years at the corner of Washington street and Elm place.

Wasskillo Temperance Society of Quincy, accompanied by the Hunkaja band, participated in the midsummer festival of the Pines at Gardner on Friday and Saturday last week, including a parade and exercises. The Quincy society was represented by 120 men. The Vianoma club of Quincy won second prize in the contest among singing clubs.

The Copeland met with a crushing defeat at West Quincy on Saturday at the hands of the Randolphs. The visitors scored ten runs and the Copelands a bunch of zeroes.

At Highland Park on Saturday the West Quinny played the George E. Keith nine of Brockton, and was taken into camp to the tune of 13 to 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burr of West Quincy were the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Crowell at Milford last week.

Daniel C. Milroy of this city, the solicitor of Boston College, made an appeal in his address for the abolition of war and the support of international arbitration. The degree of bachelor of arts was conferred upon him.

The West Quinny play the Dorchester at Dorchester on Saturday afternoon July 4.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, JULY 11, 1903.

The Granite Men.

The Barre Granite Manufacturers Association has accepted the invitation to visit the Quincy Association the following week. At the meeting of the Quincy Association this week the following committee was appointed to make all arrangements for the visit:

William T. Spargo, Henry McGrath, James Joss, P. T. Fitzgerald, John C. Murray, Robert Mavers, Thomas F. Munnex, John L. Miller, Alfred O. Mack, Harry S. Nicol, Alexander Falconer and Thomas Collier.

This committee was empowered to appoint such sub-committees as necessary. Official notice of the date of the visit has not been received as yet, but from private sources it is learned that the visitors will leave Barre on the night of July 23, and will arrive in Quincy the following morning.

Friday the 24th, will probably be spent in sight seeing about the city of Presidents.

On Saturday, the 25th, the Quincy Association will hold its annual annual summer outing and the Barre men will be taken to some of the seashore resorts and be given a genuine clam bake dinner, which will be a treat to the visitors. The plans of the visitation are immature as yet, but the above is the outline of the plans.

Two Hot Days.

Thursday's noon temperature of 96, and Friday's of 97 were the hottest for two years. The Patriot's record for eight years shows temperature of 96 and over as follows:

June 27, 1901,	96 degrees.
June 28, 1901,	98
July 16, 1901,	99
July 17, 1901,	96
June 28, 1900,	96
July 16, 1900,	100
" 17, 1900,	100
" 18, 1900,	100
" 25, 1900,	96
June 4, 1899,	97
July 3, 1898,	101
" 4, 1898,	99
" 20, 1898,	96
" 13, 1896,	96

City Square Sale.

It is understood that the John W. Nash property on Hancock street which comprises about 15,000 square feet of land and the store buildings occupied by John W. Nash as a grocery and A. A. Linscott as a jewelry store have been sold to Henry L. Kincaide. It is also reported that Kincaide has bought for investment and as a means of needed improvements the present buildings will remain for a few years. After the sale had been made another local business man offered Mr. Kincaide a good bonus for the property but Mr. Kincaide declined to hold it himself.

Enjoyed the Visit.

Wednesday of this week Mrs. Esther Hunt entertained at her home in East Barre. Miss Sarah Ashton, Bent of Quincy, Miss Bent is a cousin of the late Elizabeth Vinton Ashton, the philanthropist who so generously remembered Boston's poor. She is in her ninety-third year but surprisingly keen and alert for her advanced age, and she thoroughly enjoyed both the electric ride and her visit with her friend.

Tolling of Bells.

Pope Leo XIII, who is very aged and feeble, is expected to die soon. Vicar-General Byrne has ordered the bells in the Boston Archdiocese to toll a passing knell at 9, or noon, or 5 P. M., subsequent to the receipt of the news.

—This is a great time in Kansas. People in the wheat belt have no time to go to church. In many rural districts it is said services are wholly abandoned. Women work in the fields and the lands are divided into two shifts, so that the harvesters can utilize the moonlight nights.

—One interesting result of the teachers' convention at that people who have lived in Boston and vicinity all their lives are learning something about the historic points of interest that visitors come across the continent to see.

Mr. Daniel Spear of Ohio, a native of Quincy, born on South street, called at the Patriot office on Thursday. He is about seventy years of age, smart and active, and is stopping at his cousin's, Esther Hunt, in Braintree just over the Quincy line. In the forties he carried the Quincy Patriots for Mr. Green. Probably a few of the aged citizens at the Point will remember the news each Saturday morning. May Mr. Spear enjoy a pleasant visit in his native town.

—The Boston Globe says, with so many mosquitoes about, the teachers from New Jersey must feel decidedly at home in Boston.

—We may expect rain soon. The First Corps of Cadets went into camp at Hingham last night. It always rains when they are in camp.

—The total number of bathers who went into the water from the State bathhouse, Revere, was 4,498. Never before in the history of that establishment was there such a patronage for a week day. More than 1,500 of the bathers were women or girls.

—Fifteen hundred school teachers from Boston went to Plymouth on Thursday, 400 by cars and 1,100 by steamer. Many of them had been East before, and a more enthusiastic group of persons has never visited these historic grounds.

—For the first time in the history of Boston, $200 per acre has been assessed upon land at the south west corner of Washington and Winter streets. In 1878 this corner was assessed at $74 per foot. This assessment for 1903, therefore, shows an advancement of $126 per foot, or 170 per cent. gain, an average of nearly 7 per cent. per year.

—According to a private letter received here from Kansas City, Kan., in a single ward (the 6th) of that city no less than 1226 houses were taken from their original sites, by the flood. About 325 were found near their original sites, 250 were moved quite away from their former locations, and 650 were swept down in absolute ruin.

Of the five tickets distributed to Massachusetts teachers to attend the stow given by Mr. and Mrs. James J. Storrow of Waltham, Thursday, Quincy teachers were fortunate to receive three.

CITY BRIEFS.

Harry Slade is in Quincy for a few days.

Mrs. F. H. Crane of Elm street is ill with pleurisy.

William Tanner of California, is on a visit to his old home in Quincy.

Miss Carrie L. Bliss has gone to Providence, R. I., for a few days.

George W. Able, spent the Fourth and Sunday at South Waterford, Maine.

Wells Quimby of Lyndon, Vt., spent the Fourth with his uncle, N. B. Fernald.

John C. McGowan of the Quincy post office is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Alice Prescott has gone to the Isles of Shoals to attend the Unitarian meetings.

Messrs. Richard D. and D. L. F. Chase left Monday over the road for Milford, N. H.

John H. Alden of New York spent the Fourth at his home on Washington street, this city.

John Halliwell has accepted a position in the Weeks-Hill drug store to learn the business.

George H. Hitehcock and family of Foster street leave today for their summer home at Marshfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis N. Curtis of Orchard place celebrated the Fourth by the arrival of a "Young America."

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clements (nee Abbie L. Phelps) are at Old Orchard, Maine, on their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Edison Loud of Patterson, N. J., are the guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Southworth have returned to Syracuse after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Southworth.

H. P. Fernald and family of Newcomb street are located at "Camp Elizabeth," Houghs Neck, for the summer.

Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. George Pfaffmann and Master Jack Pfaffmann are registered at Hotel Everett at Bar Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. James left Sunday for their summer home at Center Sandwich, N. H., driving over the road.

The June number of the "Rudder" contains an interesting article on Yacht Awnings, written by Joel F. Sheppard, 24, of this city.

One hundred or more have enjoyed the water at the city bath house week. They reported the water warm and delightful.

The nine composed of members of Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows will play at Brockton with members of Brockton lodge Saturday, July 18.

Miss Emma D. Conklin, the well known artist of Jersey City, New Jersey, is the guest for the summer of Mr. and Mrs. M. Marlen, of Coddington street.

Misses Mollie McNally and Mary Coligan of this city are on the committee which will entertain the visiting school teachers at the Roger Wolcott school, Dorchester.

Among the Americans in Rome on the Fourth of July were Miss Edith Randall, Miss Fottler, Miss Emily White and the Misses Prescott. The holiday was observed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Burgess of Whittey road and Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Gram of Wollaston returned Sunday from a four weeks' rest at Camp Comfort, Lakeport, N. H.

Miss Martha C. Kincaide of Franklin street was one of the guides in the Museum of Fine Arts during the Educational convention which has just closed in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Stetson are enjoying their summer home at West Harwich. They entertained a number of friends from Alston and Brookline and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bargin of Quincy on the Fourth of July.

Sturgis, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hunt of Bigelow street, was severely cut in the head on Tuesday by a stone thrown by another boy. Several stitches were required by Dr. Welch.

A number of the Swedish residents held a basket picnic the Fourth in the lower grove at Merrymount park. A band was in attendance and gave concerts throughout the day. There was also a series of sports and refreshments were served.

The confectionary table at the Garden Party Mrs. Luther Glover, chairman, retted the largest amount in cash, one hundred dollars. It had the advantage of offering a very popular commodity and being in the hands of some of our most popular young matrons.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth entertained all the clerks at the shirt-waist store July 4 by taking carriages to the morning at Cohasset, where they had a dip in the ocean and then went to Kimball's famous fish dinners; driving back to Quincy late in the afternoon.

The steamer Electra nearly "turned turtle" at the Electric Light Co. wharf on Monday. She came to the wharf to receive a new boiler but ran into the mud and the cab tide left her fast on the bank. As the tide receded she began to careen, and would have "turned turtle" but that the large Cultivator was floated near enough to hold her up.

It cost Carmelo Santio $2 to throw a banana at a fellow countryman on Saturday. Santio purchased a dozen bananas of George Pericalas. He ate part of them. Others he found bad and threw one of them at Pericalas, which struck him in the neck. Pericalas had Santio arrested for assault and the court imposed a fine of $2 to cover the costs.

A month's mind mass was celebrated at St. John's church on Monday, in memory of Rev. Fr. Francis A. Friguglietti, who died a month ago. Rev. J. P. Cuffe was celebrant. Rev. Julian E. Johnstone, deacon, Rev. John J. Casey, sub-deacon, and Rev. William J. Foley, master of ceremonies. Rev. Fr. McDonnell the new pastor of the Braintree Parish was inside the chancel.

Several well known in Quincy are prominent on the committees for the N. E. A. convention. Rev. Charles F. Adams, 24, is treasurer; Charles F. Harper on the Committee on Halls; Frederick A. Tupper on Committee on Accommodations; Charles F. Merrick on the Committee on Reception; George I. Aldrich on Committee on Advance Membership; Seth Sears on Committee on Excursions.

Mr. John G. Thomas of Wollaston brought to our office on Monday very handsome bunch of dahlias, the finest we have seen this summer. The season has been so cold and wet, that plants and flowers have been backward and poor, and only a few have been able to raise any blossoms on their dahlias stalks as early as this; but Mr. Thomas' good management produced abundance of these beautiful flowers.

The choir boys are in camp.

Mrs. Joseph F. Berry is at Natick.

Wm. H. Jeele from New York is at the Greenleaf.

The three hottest days of 1902 were June 3, July 9 and 14.

Miss Bessie Hollowell has gone to Mt. Vernon, Me., on a visit.

Miss Jennie C. Wright of Adams street has gone to Ogonia, Me.

Mr. H. N. Bishop and wife of Pitts-burgh, have apartments at The Greenleaf.

Nathan Weston's brother from Sioux City was in town this week for a brief visit.

V. E. Miller opened his new store Wednesday. It is commodious and attractive.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hearn have been entertaining Miss Jennie Crotty of Geneva, Ill.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools closed Thursday until the latter part of August.

Miss Libbie Love of Oseida, N. Y., is the guest of her brother, Mr. Fenton E. Love of Field street.

There were three successive days of 100 degree temperature in July, 1900, viz.: July 16, 17 and 18.

Mrs. Eleanor Fisher of Andover, N. H., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Prescott of Spear street.

Miss Isabell McLean, the guest of Miss Nellie Davis of Main street, has returned to her home in Brockton.

Mrs. Harry E. Russell gave a whist party Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. Frank Southworth of Syracuse, N. Y.

G. H. Bush of Ripon, Wisconsin, one of the N. E. A. delegates, was a guest at The Greenleaf during the week.

The many friends of Miss Annie Underwood will be sorry to learn that she is again confined to her bed by illness.

Hon. John Shaw is the possessor of the valuable oil painting by Miss Elizabeth H. Thayer, contributed to the City Nursery lawn party.

Miss Eva Marden, who has been studying music the past six months in New Jersey, has returned to her home on Coddington street.

Henry H. Faxon reports having paid his legislative agents, Johnson and Johnson, but $25 on liquor bills before the recent Legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morton and Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Patten have been at West Harwich this week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stetson.

George H. Pierce and Hans M. Hanson of this city are among the new investors this week, parties having been issued to them on Tuesday.

One of the popular trips these moonlight evenings is to Nantasket beach by the street cars. The ride home in the moonlight is beautiful.

Yacht Folly, flagship of the Quincy Yacht club, went into commission the Fourth of July, Commodore Sheppard entertaining a large party on board.

It is said that City Hall caused all the postal carriers from one to two hours extra work on the Fourth of July by mailing water bills and poll tax bills.

Miss Eliza Crane has returned this week after a pleasant visit at Dover Plains, New York, and can be found at her summer residence at North Weymouth.

Mrs. John T. Bradley (nee Brown) of Chestnut street has the sympathy of her many neighbors and friends, her bright little daughter being seriously ill at the hospital.

Mr. Winslow Hayden of Chicago, who left Quincy thirty-six years ago, visited friends and acquaintances last week, in this city, accompanied by his wife.

Mr. George W. Hewson of Newcomb place and J. Brooks Keyes of Allyn street sailed Friday on the steamer Albatross for a two weeks' trip to Jamaica.

Carl Christiansen, "Q. H. S." left Tuesday to spend a couple of weeks in Connecticut with his sister, Mrs. Bennett, who has been visiting her parents on Irving place.

Frank E. Parlin, superintendent of schools, and Frederic W. Plummer, Master of the Woodward Institute, left Friday morning for an automobile trip through Maine.

Miss May King of No. 27 Station street, accompanied by her sister, Anna A. Badger of Waltham, are spending their vacation at the Weirs, New Hampshire.

Capt. James, of the Steamship New England, which sailed Thursday for Europe, was the guest Wednesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert C. Clavin of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Keating entertained the employees of Guy's furniture house, on Wednesday evening, at their home 257 Whitwell street. Frappe ice cream and cake were served.

The committee on the lawn party recently given by the Day Nursery report that $723 was netted which together with money previously made equals a total of $803.71 to the credit of the Day Nursery.

Thomas B. Davenport is having his vacation. Tom usually passes his leisure cultivating his clam field at Peddocks. This year he has sold his clam digger and gone into the fish business on the yacht "Yum Yum."

The young ladies of City Hall who had the lemonade table at the Day Nursery Garden Party netted thirty-seven dollars. This argues that they must have served first class lemonade, or else were more than usually agreeable and charming if they were possible.

Quite a party of Quincy people started Tuesday on an excursion to Saratoga and Niagara Falls, including Mrs. A. B. Packard, Mrs. Mary Sleeper, Mrs. Ida Fenno, Lawrence Fenno, Mrs. Kittie Duffield and Miss Inez Dunbar.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Hayden announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Elmoro, to Mr. Benjamin Russell of New York, on Wednesday last. They will be at home after September 1st at No. 1126 Hancock street, John Hancock square.

The glorious Fourth was observed at the residence of George H. Wilson, 47 Revere road, with the usual illumination, decorations and the entertainment of the soldiers. Mrs. Wilson also gave an ice cream festival to the children in the neighborhood, to which all were invited to the number of about fifty.

The body of the man found Thursday in a field at the corner of Adams and Center streets, Dorchester, who was thought to have belonged to Quincy, has been identified as Thomas Slattery of Weymouth. The man's death is thought to have been caused by heat prostration and over indulgence in liquor.

An entertainment followed and knives and punch were served.

WOLLASTON.

Mrs. William H. Faxon of Buffalo, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. Schumacher of Beach street.

Mr. Edward Cummings of Highland avenue has returned from an eight weeks' trip to Nebraska.

Mr. Charles Crane, who has been for the past few weeks in the South, has returned home.

The funeral of Mr. Louis Zoeller took place from his residence on Standish avenue last Sunday at 2 o'clock. Rev. Carleton Mills attended the service and the interment was at Forest Hills cemetery.

Mr. Zoeller is survived by a widow and son.

Mrs. Rufus Poole of Prospect avenue is enjoying a short outing at Ouse.

Miss Marion Barker of Farrington street has gone to Arlington to spend her vacation.

Madame Hall of Davis street is visiting friends in North Easton.

John F. McLean and family have moved from Newport avenue to Arlington street.

The Melrose A. A. defeated the Wollastons at Melrose by a score of 5 to 4.

The Wollaston Park A. A. defeated the Y. M. C. A. ball team Saturday by the score of 24 to 6. The feature of the game was the battery work of Gram and Woodman.

G. C. Shunk and B. C. Robinson are at South Yarmouth on the Cape for two weeks.

Master Murray McLeod of Arlington street left Friday for Barrington, Me., where he will spend the summer with relatives.

Mrs. John Morrison (nee Georgia Miner) spent Tuesday with her mother Mrs. Edward Miller of Wollaston.

Out-door meetings were held by the Flints at Merrymount Park Sunday, by a score of 10 to 6.

A most exciting game of ball was played between the Victor A. A. of South Quincy, and the Walnut A. A. of Charlestown on the afternoon of the holiday, the Victor winning with one out in the last inning. The game was played with brilliant play, the errors made being excusable on account of the poor condition of the grounds.

The South Quincys defeated the Longwoods by a score of 26 to 5.

George P. Field of the government weather bureau is in town on a brief visit.

Mr. James S. Beyer, wife and daughter left Thursday for Trenton, New Jersey. They will be gone two weeks and will be the guests of their son and brother in that city.

Mrs. Albert Person of 90 Granite street has gone to St. Louis, Mo., for two weeks, visiting friends.

WEST QUINCY.

Jerry Collins, one of the clerks at E. H. Doble's store away on a two weeks' vacation.

Heads and Vincent Reardon of West Quincy have one to the White Mountains for the summer.

The Copeland club defeated the Edwards Associates of the Ward Four playgrounds, Saturday morning, in a one-sided affair 15 to 2.

In the presence of thousands of enthusiasts, the West Quincys nearly shut out Dorchester in a fine game at Dorchester on the Fourth, the score being 9 to 1 in favor of West Quincy.

Mrs. Agnes Dunta is confined to her home on Jackson by a sprained ankle.

SOUTH QUINCY.

This afternoon 2000 citizens will be here to play the "Victors" and a good crowd is expected. The game will be played at the West Quincys, and will be called 7 o'clock sharp.

Mr. Edmund Griffiths of Granite street has returned from a two weeks' vacation spent at Fair Haven and Rutland, Vt., and has resumed his duties at the Quincy Post office.

Mrs. Rose A. Rees of South Quincy has the sympathy of her friends in the loss of her father whose death occurred at Biddeford, Maine, last week.

Mrs. Sarah J. McDonald and family have moved from Bedford street, South Quincy, to Massachusetts avenue, Quincy Point.

Miss Edith L. Casner has returned from Lowell where she had been visiting relatives and friends.

Arthur J. Mitchell, Jr., of Washington, D. C., is seeking acquaintances in this city.

At South Quincy, Brighton A. A. defeated the West Quincys, on Saturday, by a score of 10 to 6.

A most exciting game of ball was played between the Victor A. A. of South Quincy, and the Walnut A. A. of Charlestown on the afternoon of the holiday, the Victor winning with one out in the last inning. The game was played with brilliant play, the errors made being excusable on account of the poor condition of the grounds.

The South Quincys defeated the Longwoods by a score of 26 to 5.

George P. Field of the government weather bureau is in town on a brief visit.

Mr. James S. Beyer, wife and daughter left Thursday for Trenton, New Jersey. They will be gone two weeks and will be the guests of their son and brother in that city.

Mrs. Albert Person of 90 Granite street has gone to St. Louis, Mo., for two weeks, visiting friends.

MILTON.

Mrs. William H. Forbes and Miss Emerson entertained about three hundred visiting teachers at the Forbes residence on Milton hill on Tuesday.

Rev. George W. Fuller of Milton on a brief trip. Later in the season he is going abroad.

Paul Carpenter has gone to Provincetown for the summer.

L. Bolton has been confined to his home this week by illness.

Rev. E. G. Fuller has gone to Concord, N. H.

Rev. Taylor E. Gale of Worcester will preach at the East Congregational church on Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson is on a visit to Abbot, Me.

Miss Rachel Badger is on a trip to the White Mountains.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Harrigan are preparing for a trip to Colorado.

The Fourth was unusually quiet in Milton. The night before the boys had been about and made considerable noise after midnight it was quiet up to that time. There was but one alarm of fire and that did not amount to anything.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jennie Graham, daughter of John Graham of Milton, to Edward T. Q. Hodges of Quincy.

SHIPPYARD NOTES.

The steel conning tower for the battleship New Jersey has arrived at the For River shipyard from Pennsylvania. It is a huge casting of elliptical shape, and weighs 91,500 pounds. The shield which protects it weighs 40,000 and one-half tons, and the top nearly another ton, while fifteen of the bolts that fasten it together come to 35 pounds more, making the total weight of the structure about 115,300 pounds.

Rapid progress has been made at the For River shipyard in the building of the new light freight steamer. The frames are all in place now so that next week the shell-platers will be set to work, and the raising of the interior bulkheads begun. Over 300,000 pounds of steel has been built in already and the work is going on very satisfactorily.

A large force of men is engaged at For River grading and setting the foundations for a new building, 49 x 73 feet on the ground to be used as a coppersmith's shop. This new development of the plant, which is on the point that ends in the yard's long pier, is being built on the concrete walls will begin at once. When completed the dock and the gantry crane tracks upon it will be 1200 feet long.

With her launching but a month away, the six-master William L. Dodge begins to show her true bulk, even side of the big battleships under the For River shiphouse. The hull plating is not completed, the frames still showing fore and aft but the upper or spar deck is laid and the forecastle and poop are closed in. Looking down through the fore hatch, the bottom shows 20 feet below, and in this cavernous space 5,700 tons of coal can be stored—almost twice as much as any of the three-masted men in commission can carry at one time.

Drowning Accidents.

A long distance swimmer, correcting past errors, stated that accidents to swimmers are seldom due to cramp, but to apoplexy resulting from sudden cooling. The sinking three times is a curious error, as some persons swallow water and struggle on first immersion, sinking but once, while others may sink and rise fifty times. The author has saved sixty-five lives, and has found that the drowning person cannot be stunned by a blow in the face, but that he can be handled by pressing the thumbs under his ears and ducking his head until manageable, this being done from behind.

Thomas Poole of Centre street, Weymouth, attempted suicide by shooting on Tuesday at his residence.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

Richard Kennett of Broadway, Quincy Point, was treated at the Relief Hospital, for an operation of the hand.

Miss Esther Beckford, of Washington street, is the guest this week of Miss Raymond at Plymouth.

The flagstaff for the new schoolhouse at the Point is ready to be put in position.

The Macdonough, the second of the torpedo boat destroyers, built by the Fore River Co., has been accepted by the government and is now at the Navy Yard at Charlestown.

Ellery W. Mason, an employee of the Fore River works, and a respected citizen of East Braintree, died at his home Tuesday of congestion of the lungs. He leaves a widow and a family of small children who are without any means of support.

Mrs. George Sidelinger and Miss Esther and Master Roy have gone to Bath, Maine, for a month's vacation.

Alfred W. Brown has gone to Small Point, Maine, for his vacation.

The Redding family have gone to their summer cottage at Plymouth and the Peter B. Mead family is going there next week.

ATLANTIC.

Mrs. L. A. Pratt is at Squantum. William Tobey and family are at the Squantum residence.

Mr. Alexander and family have arrived at Squantum.

Miss Lelia Mechin of Washington is visiting Miss Alice Coe of Billings street.

Mrs. Samuel Philbrook and son Woodbury of Webster street have gone to New Hampshire for the summer.

The Athletics defeated the Ashmonts at Atlantic by a score of 14 to 8.

The Atlantic boys who

Hair

my hair was I purchased a air Vigor, and coming out."
ver, Paris, Ill.

our mother but that is y you must with half-f you want air, feed it air Vigor, rich, dark,

all druggists.
must supply you.
and give the name Address
CO., Lowell, Mass.

Fidelity

Insurance Co.

D BUSINESS IN 1851
D, President.
FAY, Secretary.

1901,
$666,679.04
$422,451.85
$41,836.20
$62,168.79
$28,308.20
the past year,
21,831.50

PAID IN FULL
$32,152,599.00
$244,227.19

Exp. Expiring Policy;
100 per cent., on 3 years
ters.

Savings Bank,

City Building.

PERT F. CLAFIN
EDWIN W. MARSH
LARENCE BURGIN
RUFERT F. CLAFIN,
JOHN Q. A. FIELD, close on Saturdays at from 8.30 to 12 A. M., rest on the first Tuesday of October.
TELEPHONE. U

Fidelity

Insurance Co.

Mass.
ED 1855.
ANNUAL STATEMENT
1, 1903.

-	$32,381,246.00
-	448,477.70
-	120,868.08
-	86,803.12
-	788,469.04
-	100,018.02
-	10,212.21
-	61,487.14
-	8,155.32
-	74,850.46
-	1,049,236.00

In 1902 the following Div ided as follows:

-	60 per cent.
-	40 "
-	20 "

ed and paid.
President and Treasurer.
Secretary.

W. D. C. Carruth Mann, 26, Laban
Thomas F. Temple,
W. Hille,
et, Boston, Mass.

Fidelity

Insurance Co.

CONN.
Charter Perpetual
$98,612,532.42

1, 1903.

$4,000,000.00
(Fire) 4,127,843.18
(Marine) 517,135.42
251,859.02
6,042,603.36
14,919,920.98

Fidelity

Insurance Co.

Agents for Quincy.

ED 1825.

Fire Ins. Co.

MASS.

JANUARY 1, 1903.

$23,962,467.54
656,112.66
185,175.20
$24,803,755.40
361,608.25
978,280.90

paying on five-years
three-year policies, 59
five-year policies, 25 per

Pres. and Treas.
NOTES, Secretary.
Belcher, Randolph;
nam; Tyler Thayer, ott, William; Samuel
t, D. Weld, Dedham;
anto; Dedham;
erick H. Key, Ded-
am; Samuel (an-
Paince, Boston.
Agent for Quincy

ED 1837.

Fire Ins. Co.

MASS.

JANUARY 1, 1903:

$6,548,351.41
162,975.47
56,514.94
$6,767,841.82
$106,481.53
102,463.40
265,459.77

pay on five-year
three-year policies, 50
year policies, 25 per

President.
RN, Treasurer.
NOTES, Secretary
Colburn, Dedham;
t, J. White Belcher;
t, Dedham; P. H.
erick H. Key, Ded-
am; Samuel (an-
Paince, Boston.
Agent for Quincy

IN ONE DAY

TWO DAYS

FIVE

LINE

NATURE
PEAR
THE GENUINE

Quincy Patriot

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, JULY 18, 1903.

VOL. 67, NO. 29.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 124 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
The ONLY DAILY in the QUINCY CITY in Norfolk County, Established in 1837.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of 5¢ will be made when paid year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Brain-Teaser Observer
A Weekly Established in 1875.

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer

SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, QUINCY.
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire Street.
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUNN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Rooms 5 and 6, Dunn & Merrill's Block,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf Street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5; 7 to 9.
Also, MONDAY and FRIDAY Evenings, 7 to 9.
Telephone number, 146-2.
Aug. 16.

QUINCY DENTAL PARLORS.
FIRST CLASS DENTISTRY.
At Lowest Prices. Gas and Ether Administered.
Responsible—Reasonable—Reliable.
Office Hours, 9 to 5. Open Monday and Friday Evenings. City Square, Quincy, Mass.
FREE EXAMINATIONS.
Feb. 11.

DR. G. R. ENGLAND,
DENTIST.
21 Chestnut Street.
Telephone 126-5.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable rates. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
AKINGTON STREET, WOLLASTON.
Nov. 9.

A. W. PARKER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Cor. Putnam and Merrimont Roads, Quincy.
HOUSES FOR SALE AND TO LET.
Plans Furnished.
Jobbing Promptly Attended to.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

Granite Firms.
BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Quarry for sale. West Quincy.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams Station. No. Quincy.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1884.

FULLER, POLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works at West Quincy Depot.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and Manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Corbels and Headstones. Willard Street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Monumental Work from American and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs. Superior workman ship. Works, South Quincy. (near, South Quincy, Mass.)

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. W. 1st Street, Quincy Adams Depot. Quincy, Mass. Branch Office, West Main St., North Adams.

Hot Weather Stoves.

What's the sense of sweating over a hot kitchen range—heating your house and being uncomfortable when at almost no cost and no labor you can do your cooking—keep cool—and save by using a Blue Flame Oil Stove.

$3.75 to $9.00.

HENRY L KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,
Hancock Street, Quincy.

We Close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock during July and August.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

EXAMINERS FOR AND MAKERS OF EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
ORIGINATORS OF THE
FOUNDED 1882. "SANBORN" METHOD OF EXAMINATION. INCORPORATED 1902

JOHN W. SANBORN CO.,
OPTICIANS.
No. 3 Winter Street, BOSTON, MASS.
BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres. and Manager.

TELEPHONE. ELEVATOR. ONE FLIGHT
Jan. 17.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Rooms 5 and 6, Dunn & Merrill's Block,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf Street.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5; 7 to 9.
Also, MONDAY and FRIDAY Evenings, 7 to 9.
Telephone number, 146-2.
Aug. 16.

QUINCY DENTAL PARLORS.
FIRST CLASS DENTISTRY.
At Lowest Prices. Gas and Ether Administered.
Responsible—Reasonable—Reliable.
Office Hours, 9 to 5. Open Monday and Friday Evenings. City Square, Quincy, Mass.
FREE EXAMINATIONS.
Feb. 11.

DR. G. R. ENGLAND,
DENTIST.
21 Chestnut Street.
Telephone 126-5.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable rates. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
AKINGTON STREET, WOLLASTON.
Nov. 9.

A. W. PARKER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Cor. Putnam and Merrimont Roads, Quincy.
HOUSES FOR SALE AND TO LET.
Plans Furnished.
Jobbing Promptly Attended to.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, QUINCY, MASS.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

Granite Firms.
BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Quarry for sale. West Quincy.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams Station. No. Quincy.

McGRATH BROS.,
Large stock of Finished Monuments and Tablets constantly on hand. Works at Quincy Adams Station. Established 1884.

FULLER, POLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works at West Quincy Depot.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and Manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Corbels and Headstones. Willard Street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
Monumental Work from American and Foreign Granite and Marble. Latest designs. Superior workman ship. Works, South Quincy. (near, South Quincy, Mass.)

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. W. 1st Street, Quincy Adams Depot. Quincy, Mass. Branch Office, West Main St., North Adams.

Poetry.

A Ballad of Bygones.

EDWARD A. CHURCH.

Into what dim, unlettered night
Do our romantic days stray?
Whither has Trilby taken flight,
And where does Ben Hur's chariot sway?

The Little Minister is gray;
No more does Robert Elmer pose;
Where do the favorites loved to-day
Swarm, where is yester-morning's rose?

Forget it! 'tis the Maxima's might;
And what of Tessa do lookmen say?
The Prisoner of Zenda's plight
Is one with Fantasy's at play.

Melvaun, Oona, Where are they?
On Sherlock Holmes the shadows close;
Why do their memories decay?
Ah, where is yester-morning's rose?

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

They walked Romance's flowery meadow;
Now howell's they seek their dreamy day;
Made all of sweetness and of light,
For which Philistine loved to pay.

Now each his unremembered way
To liberal oblivion goes,
And on their tombs we trace a spray
Of yester-morning's faded rose.

Quincy Young Ladies Abroad.

A party of five Quincy young ladies sailed from Boston on the S. S. Vancouver, Saturday, June 6, for a three months' tour of Europe. The following letter from Miss M. Prescott, who was with them, is published, but will be found of interest, and will be followed by others:

On Board S. S. Vancouver, June 18, 1903.

Well, we are on the blue Mediterranean, but it is not blue. Don't blame the sea, though, for the sky has that white gray color. It is lovely sailing these last two days; ever since Sunday in fact. I am dressed thinner than a day before, and those who have cotton waists have brought them forth. We are sitting here on deck without hat or coat or rug.

We lost time in leaving the Azores, so the next question stirring people all up was "would we get to Gibraltar in time to see it before dark?" It is the harbor of the Atlantic, and the stories that start and float around the ship. They say, and they say, until one believes all, one worries all the time.

You know I do not cross bridges, etc., and this one would have been a bad one, for we had the best luck imaginable. We began to see land Tuesday morning at breakfast time, and it was Cape St. Vincent, the first point of Portugal. This we followed along during the forenoon, and then went out of sight of land again as we steamed toward Gibraltar.

We did not see land again until about five o'clock. I am becoming very expert in discovering land as it first appears as a dim cloud. As we got near enough to see, there were held cliffs and reddish sandy looking, reminding me of Mexico. Some points could be seen on the other side and that was Africa's barren shore. But that did not come up wonderfully bright.

We all got up in the forenoon, and there was a chance of getting a glimpse of "Gibbie." But now we know for sure we could not see it before dark. There were sixteen passengers to land there. Passports and red of red tape being people going there to stay, and it turned out no landing could be made after a certain hour in the evening. We did not know this and were afraid passengers would be landed and we go on and see nothing.

Well, we just had a treat. We came into the harbor at nine in the evening. There was this great black shadow up in front of us, and hundreds of twinkling lights along the shore, extending half way up its slope. There were dots of light on the water and these were English men-of-war.

As we slowed down, rockets were thrown from the steamer to announce our coming, and soon an answering flash came from the very top of the height where the signal station is. We had then a light on the shore and a boat dashed toward us. Our papers were examined, and we, not knowing what is going on, are on the anxious seat.

Word comes that we can land at six in the morning, and stay until eight. Whooops of joy! We all trooped to the dining saloon and eat, instead of going to bed as we should, in view of the fact that we were to get up at five o'clock. And everybody seemed to talk after they went to bed.

The starboard side of the ship was full of us in the morning because we found us up when she came to call. This is a side of steamer life I did not know about; trotting around to get everybody up. Of course, though, everyone stays in bed if they want to, and have their breakfast brought to them.

Well, we gulped coffee and ate crackers, and rushed for the small boat. It was a gorgeous morning, and if we were not in luck to see Gibraltar lighted at night, and then to see it by day too.

It is the quaintest town, and the market place—my little donkeys with baskets hanging on both sides, and fruit piled up. Green leaves all around the edge of the baskets. The little donkeys amble through the streets. Some of the baskets hold fish, some long loaves of bread. Women come from the house to buy as the donkeys bring up to the door. Such delicious strawberries; very large, piled up in open shape in oval shaped baskets with green leaves fringing the edge.

My next letter will tell of Naples. E. M. P.

She Saw Him.
The street-car conductor was having a dispute with a passenger over the latter's fare. The man had changed seats, and he swung back three seats to prove it to a man who sat beside him. The conductor still had his doubts, so a woman behind leaned forward and said: "I saw that man pay his fare." The conductor asked where she got on, and tried to argue, but the woman was firm. "I saw him pay it," was her answer to all questions. The car rolled on. Block after block slipped by, but the woman still kept telling how she saw the man pay his fare, with the light of triumph in her eyes. Long after the man in question had forgotten that his fare had ever been challenged, the woman kept reiterating the fact that she had seen him pay his fare. A middle-aged, bald-headed man finally remarked, "I have heard of a companion, and said, 'It is as good as done.' I will willingly be one of the events of her life."—Chicago Record.

A Clever Idea.
A New York woman who secured in Italy a nurse for her child found that this native baby tender carried her charge always on a little pillow, slipping him in the case in such a way that he was kept snug and cozy, but not restricted. The nurse was quite amazed to learn that young infants in America were carried about supported only by the hands and marvelled that any American child could grow up with a straight back under this treatment.

Get a five sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets at all druggists. They are easy to take and more pleasant in effect than pills. Then their use is not followed by constipation as is often the case with pills. Regular size, 25¢ per box.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of
J. C. Hooper
In Use For Over Thirty Years

Q. H. S. Graduates Successful.

The fact that so many of the graduates of the High school are successfully passing the examinations for entrance to colleges and other higher schools speaks volumes for the efficiency of the school and its corps of teachers. The Patriot has already mentioned several who have passed entrance examinations. In addition to those the following might be mentioned:

George Bailey, of the class of '03, has successfully passed the examinations for Harvard, securing 28 points. Margaret Melcher, '03, has passed the examinations without conditions for entrance to Radcliffe.

George Brown, '04, has passed the preliminary examinations for Harvard. Clara Jones, '04, has passed the preliminary examinations for the Framingham Normal.

Mary Kapples, '04, has passed the preliminary examinations for the Bridgewater Normal.

Elizabeth Ross, '04, has passed the preliminary examination for Bridgewater Normal.

Robert H. Sibley, '04, has passed the preliminary examination for Harvard. Wallace Bennett of Quincy High, '04, has been successful in passing his preliminary examinations for Harvard.

Lawrence H. Allen and Herbert A. Chase, '04, preliminary for M. T. Raymond W. Parlin, '05, final and admitted to M. T.

Henry Prairie, Sarah Ward, Anna Woodward, Jessie Roberts, '04, preliminary for Bridgewater Normal.

Houghton H. Schumacher preliminary for Harvard.

The following pupils of '03, have been admitted to colleges upon certificates from the High school:

Eliel Thomas to Wellesley. Lizzie B. Linnell to Mt. Holyoke. Bessie Halliwell, Hannah O. Litchfield, Anna G. Beardon, Rachel G. Warshaw to Boston University.

Contract Awarded.

The Norfolk County Commissioners at their meeting on Tuesday awarded the contract for the new Registry building for the county to McNeill Bros. of Boston, at $250,000, to be completed in sixteen months from date.

The commissioners, especially Marshall P. Wright of Quincy, were anxious that the building should be of granite, and expected that this would be possible within the limit of the appropriation.

It was raised to $250,000 by the Legislature, but the increase in materials and wages have been more rapid, and it was impossible. It was necessary to cut out the granite and also much of the marble inside.

The foundation will be of Quincy granite, with Deer Island stock for the outer walls. The superstructure will be Indiana buff limestone.

It will be a building that will be a credit to Norfolk county when completed.

In June of this year the county paid off $15,000 of its debt leaving only $15,000 to pay besides the $250,000. It will be in $20,000 installments beginning in 1905. The county is in no excellent financial condition, and no money is squandered under the present county commissioners.

Visiting Granite Men.

Word has been received from the Barre Granite Manufacturers Association that they will be in Quincy as guests of the Quincy Association on Friday and Saturday July 24 and 25.

The committee of the Quincy Association held a meeting Wednesday evening, at which plans for the entertainment of the visitors were discussed.

All of the details of the plans are not completed, but from the outline, if the visitors do not have a good time, it will be their own fault. As now planned Friday will be spent in visiting the quarries and the Fore River Ship Company plant.

Friday evening there will be a joint meeting of the two associations at Malin's hall, where subjects of interest to the trade will be discussed.

On Saturday the party will go to Crescent Park, R. I., where a shore dinner will be served and various sports indulged in.

The Barre men will probably leave for home Sunday afternoon.

W. Y. C. Ladies' Day.

The program of the Wollaston Yacht club for Ladies' Day this afternoon includes a review and sail in the afternoon, and refreshments and a dance in the evening.

Starting from the club float at 3 o'clock, the boats will sail in review of Commodore Wiley, and then a sail will be enjoyed until 6 o'clock. At the latter hour refreshments will be served at the clubhouse to members and guests.

The hops of the Wollaston club are always popular, but it is expected that the dance in the evening will prove a little more enjoyable, if possible.

Capt. A. T. Nichols is the fleet captain this year, and the House committee is composed of Commodore Wiley, J. A. Fenno and Charles A. McFarland. The entertainment committee includes F. P. Taylor, William M. Chase and Herman Metcalf.

Prince Ferdinand Doomed.

The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions has received startling news. It concerns nothing less serious than a plot to assassinate Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria. The advice comes through missionaries who are absolutely certain of their facts. The threatened prince knows of the plot, but is powerless to do much, so widespread is the conspiracy.

The affairs in Bulgaria are rapidly approaching a crisis. It is said the Turks are spilling for war with Bulgaria, as the only means of extricating themselves from the Macedonian difficulty. If war breaks out the interests of Russia and Austria are vitally concerned.

—We learn from the Randolph Register that Hon. J. White Belcher has so far recovered from his illness as to resume his insurance duties at Dedham, being president of the Norfolk Mutual and Dedham Mutual Fire Insurance Companies.

—Gov. Bates and a few friends passed through the tunnel built between East Boston and Boston, one day this week. It was the first time any one has passed clear through, and the Governor and his party had a novel experience.

—The State Department at Washington has received a reply from Russia, stating that it neither would receive nor consider the matter of the Jewish petition on the subject of the Kishinev incident.

CITY BRIEFS.

Next Wednesday will be Grocers' day. Dog days will begin Saturday, July 25.

Letter Carrier F. P. Loud is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Officers Lyon, Reddington and Barry and having their vacations.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Norton have gone to Sharon to visit their daughter.

Miss Carrie L. Bliss entertained friends from Pawtucket, R. I., last week.

Miss Annie Conners of Maple place, is enjoying a much needed rest of two weeks.

Mrs. Evert W. Adams of Colorado Springs is the guest of Mrs. W. W. Adams.

Miss Fannie F. French went this week to Kalamazoo, Mich., for the summer.

Mrs. George O. Langley returned Saturday from a three weeks' visit at Durham, N. H.

A. B. Taber and family of Baxter street are now at their summer cottage at Houghs Neck.

George S. Bass has accepted a position in the mailing department, at the Boston post office.

Master Harold Richardson of Dorchester was the guest of his uncle N. B. Farnall last night.

Miss Grace E. Watson of Upland road is entertaining Miss Grace Alwayne of Washington, D. C.

Judge Avery of the district court is away on a vacation. Judge Cook was on the bench this week.

Chief Williams will be one of the judges at the firemen's muster at the Weymouth fair, Sept. 17.

Ex-Commodore E. E. Davis and party have returned from a ten days' cruise in the sloop yacht Carida.

The Wollaston Methodist church will hold its Sunday school picnic at Randolph grove, Saturday, July 18.

Miss M. Jennie Davis of Granite street has gone to Fair Haven and Rutland, Vt., for a two weeks' rest.

Adolph Sandberg is to open a jewelry store in the building now occupied by Chase, the baker, in City Square.

Mrs. George Williams of Hancock street left Sunday night for a two weeks' trip to Charlestown P. E. I.

C. W. Carey and family have returned from a two weeks' visit pleasantly spent at Bangor and Bar Harbor.

Walter Pollock of New York city was a guest of his mother, Mrs. Mary Pollock of Bigelow street, on Sunday.

Miss Audrey Rhines of Bigelow street returned Saturday from a two weeks' visit with friends at Gloucester.

Mrs. W. M. Marden of Coddington street is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Cunningham at Hull for two weeks.

Mr. Elihu T. Spear announces the engagement of his daughter, Myra Harlow Spear, to Joseph Copeland Morse, Jr.

Mrs. William H. Young of Foster street left last week for a two weeks' visit with her relatives and friends at Augusta, Maine.

Miss Mary Grant of Washington street left July 10 for the Adirondacks, where she will spend the rest of the summer months.

Mr. Edson Lord, wife and daughter, who have been spending their vacation in this city returned Sunday to their home at Patterson, N. J.

Mr. W. A. Brandau, arrived on Monday from New York and will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud for the next two weeks.

The freight of the steamship Vancouver, Capt. McDonald, which arrived from Naples on Monday, included 485 slabs of granite and 300 cases of statuary.

Joseph F. Costello of Havana, formerly the Boston Globe correspondent of this city, is visiting friends and relatives here and at Braintree for a few weeks.

Miss Lilla Perkins, accompanied by her mother, has gone to her home in Cleveland, Ohio, having spent a delightful two weeks with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Tappendin.

Miss Grace Perry of Franklin street who has resigned her position as teacher at the Cranich school, goes to Newton this fall, at a much higher salary. May success attend her new field.

Arthur A. Lincoln aided by Charles F. Harper, master of the Quincy High school, organized the usher force so highly complimented for good service in connection with the N. E. A. convention.

Mrs. Benjamin J. Weeks and two children of Tacoma, Wash., were in town Wednesday. They have been East about two weeks, making their headquarters at Lynn. They are now at Exeter, N. H.

W. R. Loggren has staked out for the new cellar of the Bass house which will be moved from the government lot close to the house at the corner of Temple street. Work excavating for the cellar has commenced.

Edward F., the ten-year old son of William C. Ward of Adams street, died at the City Hospital on Sunday, of lockjaw, caused by a wound made in his hand on the night before the Fourth with a toy pistol.

The arrival of the International Mercantile Marine Company's Dominion liner Commonwealth at Liverpool July 10 from Boston indicates the safe landing in England of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Howland and Mrs. Edward Russell of Quincy.

The Quincy Quarry Co. has received the contract to furnish the granite for the new Congregational church to be erected at Newton Centre. They are also getting out for New York parties twelve turned columns, twenty feet long and 3 feet 6 inches in diameter.

Mrs. Richard L. Tappendin of Merry-mount road, entertained a few neighbors and friends, Friday July 10, to meet her sister, Miss Lilla Perkins, from Cleveland, Ohio. Many new games were enjoyed, suitable prizes being given. Refreshments were served, after which dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Quite a society event at Magnolia last week, says the Herald, was the opening of Mr. W. B. Closson's new studio on the afternoon of July 10. Finished in an artistic shade of green, the walls form a most effective background for the charming pastel portraits—in which line of work Mr. Closson has made for himself a reputation in Boston and other cities. Among the new portraits were those of Mr. Dexter E. Wadsworth of Quincy and Mrs. Kennell of Boston. Many delightful reproductions of the beauties of the shore also added much to the exhibition.

WOLLASTON.

Commissioner Knowlton is resurfacing Bridge street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Harper are at Walpole, for a few days.

The sun sets five minutes earlier than it did the first of the month.

A regular club race of the Quincy Yacht club will be sailed today.

It is recorded that on July 10, 1806, the mercury reached 100 degrees.

Miss Constance Barker of Greenleaf street is at Gloucester for a week.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler are spending a week at York Harbor, Maine.

The Quinys will have the Roxbury Nine as rivals this afternoon at Quincy Point.

Clarence Bargain and family left Friday for Hotel Belmont, West Harwich, Mass.

Miss Pearl Weiss of Roxbury is the guest of Miss Helen Rhines of Bigelow street.

The plasterers are at work in the new block of the Quincy Real Estate Trust in City Square.

There was a great rush Tuesday to pay poll taxes and $29 contributed $2 each to the city.

Mr. William Faxon of Buffalo, is the guest for a few days of Mrs. Franklin Faxon of Quincy.

The present house of worship of Bethany Congregational church was dedicated July 19, 1871.

A large class of boys and girls received first communion at St. John's church Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Osborn Rogers and children, have returned from a three weeks' visit, at Kittery Point, Maine.

Miss Leila Belle Smith of Granite street is the guest of Miss Minnie R. Hardwick at Kennerly.

Miss Clara May and Ellen DeCoste of Granite street are visiting relatives in Plymouth and Bridgewater.

The Board of Health are after Henry H. Faxon again ordering more of his houses connected with the public sewer.

Work is well under way on the foundation for the new business block on the corner of Hancock and Granite streets.

Mrs. Marshall P. Wright of Adams street has returned from Ogunquit, leaving Miss Josephine there with her sister.

Corinne Picard, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Picard has gone to Providence and Centerville, R. I., to her aunts.

Misses Mildred and Olive Huston of High school avenue, have gone to Topsham, Maine, for the remainder of their vacation.

Mr. George G. Saville and family of Seattle avenue, have taken the Hall cottage, Annisquam, for the months of July and August.

The attention of owners of dogs is called to the notice that a warrant to kill unlicensed dogs has been issued to the Chief of Police.

Miss Ruth Gardner, daughter of Mr. Arthur Gardner of Field street, left Thursday for Nantucket, where she will spend the summer.

Capt. Tom Crane, Edgar W. Emery, Bert Emery and Bert Morton leave Sunday night for a week's cruise along the north shore in schooner Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Farnall, who have been in New Hampshire, have returned to Quincy and will reopen their old home on Edwards street.

All desiring to take summer lessons in sketching, pen drawing, etc., by one teacher in the American Academy, Holland, will please notice ad. in this issue.

Miss Eva Maxim of the Tax Collector's office, accompanied by her father, James E. Maxim, and Miss Florence Maxim, left Tuesday for Kent's hill, Wintrop, Me.

Mrs. John Remick of Marlboro street, Boston, has been the guest of her sister Mrs. Lucius Lawton of Presidents Hill the past fortnight. She has just left for her summer home on the North Shore.

Miss Lizzella Walsh for several years one of the operators at the Quincy telephone exchange has been transferred from the Quincy to the South Boston exchange, the transfer being in the nature of a promotion.

Charles H. Smith of Dedham, treasurer of the Cranich school, was on Wednesday elected president of the Massachusetts County Treasurers' Association. The annual meeting was held at Salem, where a fish dinner was enjoyed and places of interest visited.

The shrill whistle of a locomotive about 10 o'clock Friday morning sent a crowd hurrying down the tracks toward the Granite street bridge, as it was thought some one had been run over. It was found, however, that the whistle was to call attention to a fire in the railroad tool house in the rear of the cemetery. The fire was extinguished with buckets of water.

The Wilton, N. H., Journal says a pleasant event took place Tuesday evening, July 7, at Maplehurst, West Wilton, the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Vinton Pierce, formerly of Quincy. The spacious lawns were thronged with guests from Wilton and neighboring towns, there being over 100 present. The trees and shrubbery were beautified by the hanging of hundreds of Japanese lanterns, and scattered around the grounds were swings, hammocks and rustic seats. The West End band discoursed music from 8 till 9, and dancing from 9 till 12 in the newly remodeled pavilion, some 30 couples participating. The Wilton orchestra furnished music. Frappe was served in the hall and ice cream and cake were served from the lawn. The large house was thrown wide open.

Prisoner Escapes.

John Madigan, a well known character about Randolph, is missing and the police of that town hope that he will stay missing.

Madigan was arrested for drunkenness by Officer Heaney who brought him to Quincy Thursday morning and locked him in the cage in the court room.

The officer then left the court room and went to the street, where he engaged in conversation with other officers. While thus engaged Madigan climbed to the top of the cage and crossed the spikes at the top was soon at liberty.

One officer heard and says if Madigan only stays away from Randolph he will be satisfied.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

Mrs. Charles F. Wisley of Thompson street entertained Mrs. Benj. J. West and sister Eliza, of Tacoma, Washington, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Samuel Oxford of River street is entertaining her daughter Mrs. George Bates and children of Waltham.

Thomas Bell Watson, the 20-year old son of President Thomas A. Watson of the Fore River Works, died Monday, after a short illness.

Lester, the nine-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sprague, corner of Washington and River street, had the misfortune to fall from a tree, breaking one of his arms at the elbow and wrist.

The Columbia Yacht club of South Boston cruised to North Weymouth on Sunday and had dinner.

The case of Wade and John Shorter, for assault with a dangerous weapon on H. Johnson and John McAndrews at the Fore River Works last Thursday, was heard in District Court Monday.

McAndrews and his brother Charles, who were two of the most important witnesses to the affair, did not appear, and a default was entered against them. The evidence submitted showed that the men acted in self defense while it was self evident that knife was used, the evidence did not show who used it. The court therefore dismissed the complaints.

Carl Sherburne has severed his connection with Miss Freeman's store and has gone to Nova Scotia for a brief rest.

Charles N. Bosworth, the popular clerk of H. N. Brown, and his sister, Miss Carrie Bosworth have gone to Concord, New Hampshire for two weeks' vacation.

The funeral of Thomas Bell Watson, son of Thomas A. Watson, was held Wednesday from the residence of his father, H. T. Bell Watson, R. H. H. Cochran of the Union Congregational church officiated and the burial was in the Old North cemetery. Among the floral tributes was a piece from the office force at the Fore River Works.

The Railroad Commissioners and Directors of the N. E. & W. R. R. visited the Fore River shipyard on Thursday on a tour of inspection of the railroad and the new freight branch. The directors car was derailed near the ice house and was unable to reach the yard, but the party of twelve or fifteen proceeded on a car with boxes for boxes and rails and enjoyed it. For about an hour they toured the plant and were much impressed by the industry. The new freight branch has been more extensively used than anticipated and is bound to increase, and the New Haven road is pleased at the prospects.

HOUGHS NECK.

Mr. Esgridge, one of the superintendents of the Metropolitan sewer work at Houghs Neck, entertained a party of young ladies and gentlemen from Quincy on Sunday at his cottage, and latter for a sail.

Miss Polly Hewett of Canton is visiting friends at Houghs Neck.

Mr. Fred West and daughter of Milton, were the guests of Camp Elizabeth, Houghs Neck, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinsley Dunbar and family of Canton have arrived at their cottage at Houghs Neck for the summer.

MILTON.

The engagement is announced of Miss Blanche Gage of Quincy, to Mr. H. J. and Josiah Babcock, Jr., of East Milton, Mass.

The Sunday school of the Episcopal Mission will hold its annual picnic at Nantasket, Thursday, August 6.

The Rev. Mr. H. J. laying his plans through Milton and East Milton, George Clements, driver of House 2, leaves Monday for two weeks.

Miss Hattie Briggs is at home on a two weeks' vacation.

The contract for the carpenter work on the new church of the Episcopal mission has been awarded to Crow of Dorchester.

Reward Offered.

The depredations along the waterfront by a gang of pirates are becoming bold and numerous. From Quincy Point to Squantum the cry goes up for protection from the raiders. Nothing is spared, everything is booty to them from Cape casts, down a long list to oars and paddles.

But a short time ago the Houghs Neck felt suffered, even a mainmast was stripped from a big cat as in the case of the "Marion." Other boats suffered the loss of anchors, line, pumps and other chandlery.

Then the scene of action was changed to Rufe's Hummock. A pair of paddles were stolen from under the Whiting camp.

Then there was a lull when late Saturday night or early Sunday morning the 23 foot Cape cat "Phyllis," owned by E. O. Cockayne, was stolen from her moorings. At the same time oars, awnings, etc., were taken from the Grant cat boat which is moored near by.

On Monday night a row-boat owned by Mr. Henderson was taken. Mr. Henderson after diligent search found the boat at Hangman's Island. The man who had it said that he picked it up a drift.

The Mayor and Police have been appealed to take unusual measures for the apprehension of this gang of pirates and Mayor Bryant has offered a reward.

Busy Day.

Sunday was one of the busiest days that the street railway has had this year. It seems as though after a week of hot weather everybody turned out for a car ride or a trip to the beaches.

Every car of the company both open and closed was in use, and it was hard work even then to accommodate the rush.

On the Squantum line it was necessary to run two and three cars on every trip. On the West Quincy line two of the largest cars were run on every trip, and the same was true on the Nantasket, Brockton, and Weymouth Landing lines. On the Houghs Neck line three and four cars were run on every trip, and fifteen minute time was maintained nearly all day.

Seldom has there been a larger crowd at Houghs Neck, outside of illumination days than Sunday. Hundreds came from West Quincy and East Quincy, and a five cent fare probably being an inducement. People with large families and small incomes find it possible to take the whole family for an outing at Houghs Neck for a small sum. This was doubtless the cause of Sunday's rush on all lines.

Although there were thousands of people about City Square all day it was a most orderly crowd, and there were no disturbances.

The only thing of an exciting nature was the race for a ticket who had grabbed a woman's pocketbook. This episode is mentioned elsewhere.

The street railway men had a hard day, yet they kept cool heads and handled the crowds without friction. As far as known there were no accidents of any kind.

WEST QUINCY.

The Granite Railway Co. shipped a $7000 building job to New York this week.

The annual picnic of the Sunday school of the West Quincy Methodist church will be held Wednesday, July 22, at New Downer Landing.

Miss Mildred Cavanagh of Larry place gave a spinsters party at her home Tuesday afternoon. Tea of course was a feature of the party. Ices and cake were also served.

Master Leslie McCormick of Willard street celebrated his fifth birthday anniversary Tuesday afternoon by entertaining a number of his little friends. Ice cream and cake were served and the afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by the little folks.

Returns from the shipment of granite from Quincy by the three railroad terminals during the month of June show a total of 10,229,374 pounds or a little less than the previous month but about the same as the last June. June is usually one of the quietest months of the year, so that it can be seen that the business is holding its own. The amount shipped from each terminal in June was as follows: West Quincy, 4,103,070 pounds; South Quincy, 4,067,624 pounds; Quarry railroad, 1,058,680 pounds.

Mrs. Annells and son Fred have gone to Maine.

Mrs. John Evans of Copeland street returns next week from Washington, D. C., where she has been the guest of her daughter seven weeks.

ATLANTIC.

Mrs. Edmund Wade of Atlantic street gave a party Wednesday evening for her niece, Miss Kelley of Sioux City. Refreshments were served at individual tables, and time was made to pass pleasantly in many ways.

Miss Kelley will remain for a few weeks as the guest of her aunt.

Miss Lillian Hammond of Billings street has gone to Connecticut for a visit.

Mrs. Etta Williams Kent of Chicago was the guest of Mrs. Everett Pope of Billings street this week.

Mrs. Charles Newcomb and children of Webster street have gone to New Hampshire for the month of August.

Lucius A. Bassett of Walker street is taking a short vacation.

Miss Gertrude Hall of Newbury avenue has gone to California.

Miss Alice Coe of Billings street is visiting friends at Cushing Island.

Elijah G. Hall of Newbury avenue is quite ill.

John F. Kerrigan and William Noble of Atlantic visiting friends in Newport on Thursday.

William Richardson of Boston has accepted a position as baggage master at the Atlantic station.

Mr. F. C. Clark of Everett street, who has been confined to his bed with rheumatic fever, is beginning to improve slowly.

DOUGLAS AND PARK.

Miss Elvira Ewell of Hampton circle, Norfolk Downs, has severed her connections with the Quincy department store. She will be greatly missed by her many friends and customers.

Miss Jennie Dean of Hudson is the guest of Mrs. J. S. Alley of Bromfield street.

Miss Mildred Hirtle of Bromfield street has returned from a month's stay in Nova Scotia.

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

STRAMATTINGS FOR SUMMER HOUSES

Our new importation includes all grades from China and Japan, many patterns of which are exclusive. Always cool, clean, and sanitary.

RUGS
Royal Wilton, Saxony Axminster, Seamsless, and other Axminster and Brussels rugs, in sizes 9x12, 8x10, 6x9, 5x7, 4x6, 3x5, 2x3, 1x2, 1x1, 1x1/2, 1x1/4, 1x1/8, 1x1/16, 1x1/32, 1x1/64, 1x1/128, 1x1/256, 1x1/512, 1x1/1024, 1x1/2048, 1x1/4096, 1x1/8192, 1x1/16384, 1x1/32768, 1x1/65536, 1x1/131072, 1x1/262144, 1x1/524288, 1x1/1048576, 1x1/2097152, 1x1/4194304, 1x1/8388608, 1x1/16777216, 1x1/33554432, 1x1/67108864, 1x1/134217728, 1x1/268435456, 1x1/536870912, 1x1/1073741824, 1x1/2147483648, 1x1/4294967296, 1x1/8589934592, 1x1/17179869184, 1x1/34359738368, 1x1/68719476736, 1x1/137438953472, 1x1/274877906944, 1x1/549755813888, 1x1/1099511627776, 1x1/2199023255552, 1x1/4398046511104, 1x1/8796093022208, 1x1/17592186044416, 1x1/35184372088832, 1x1/70368744177664, 1x1/140737488355328, 1x1/281474976710656, 1x1/562949953421312, 1x1/1125899906842624, 1x1/2251799813685248, 1x1/4503599627370496, 1x1/9007199254740992, 1x1/18014398509481984, 1x1/36028797018963968, 1x1/72057594037927936, 1x1/144115188075855872, 1x1/288230376151711744, 1x1/576460752303423488, 1x1/1152921504606846976, 1x1/23058430092136939539, 1x1/46116860184273879078, 1x1/92233720368547758156, 1x1/184467440737095516312, 1x1/368934881474191032624, 1x1/737869762948382065248, 1x1/1475739525896764130496, 1x1/2951479051793528260992, 1x1/5902958103587056521984, 1x1/11805916207174113043968, 1x1/23611832414348226087936, 1x1/47223664828696452175872, 1x1/94447329657392904351744, 1x1/1888946593147858087035872, 1x1/3777893186295716174071744, 1x1/755578637259143234814351744, 1x1/1511157274518286469628671744, 1x1/302231454903657293857734351744, 1x1/60446290980731458771567470351744, 1x1/120892581961463517553112914071744, 1x1/24178516392292703510662582814071744, 1x1/4835703278458540702132565616071744, 1x1/9671406556917081404426731232112914071744, 1x1/19342813113834162088525464642256256112914071744, 1x1/3868562622766832417625092928451251256256112914071744, 1x1/773712524553366483525018585690250251256256112914071744, 1x1/15474250491067329665003711718040050050251256256112914071744, 1x1/309485009821346593300074234360010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/618970019642693186600148468720020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/123794003928538637320029693744040040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/247588007857177274640059387488080080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/495176015714354548801187754976160160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/990352031428709097637551511955320320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/198070406285737819517510311910640640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/3961408125715563310350222021212128012801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/79228162514111266607004440424242560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1584563252822253320140888084848451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/316912650564450664028177616969696969696951251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/63382530112890132805635533533533533533534251251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/12676506022578026561127071066706670667066851251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/2535301204515605312341413413413413413413696251251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/507060240903121062068282682682682682682739251251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1014120481806242124136456565656565656565758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/20282409636124844827291128911289112891128969696251251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/4056481927224968965458225822582258225822758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/811296385444993793091656451656451656451656758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1622592710889875980181131270327032703270369696251251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/32451854217797519603622625406254062540625758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/6490370843559503920724528105105105105105758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/12980741687110078041450562101010101010105758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/25961483374220156169011011202020202020205758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/5192296674844031220181802204040404040405758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1038459349768806243636363636363636363635758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/2076918699537612727272727272727272727275758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/415383739907522545454545454545454545455758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/830767479815045090909090909090909090905758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/166153495830009181818181818181818181815758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/332306991660018363636363636363636363635758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/664613983320036727272727272727272727275758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1329227966640073445454545454545454545455758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/265845593328014688909090909090909090905758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/53169118665602937778181818181818181815758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1063382333112587555636363636363636363635758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/212676466622557511136727272727272727275758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/425352933245115022263454545454545454555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/850705866490230044527272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/170141173298046008904545454545454545555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/34028234659609201780909090909090909055758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/68056469319218403561818181818181818155758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1361129386384368071363636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/2722258772768736142727272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/544451754553747228545454545454545454555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/10889035091074944570909090909090909055758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/21778070182149889141818181818181818155758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/4355614036429977828363636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/871122807285995565727272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/174225615171199113145454545454545454555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/3484512303423982262909090909090909055758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/6969024606847964525818181818181818155758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/13938049213735929051363636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/278760984274718581027272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/557521968549437162045454545454545454555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/11150439370887743240909090909090909055758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/22300878741775486481818181818181818155758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/446017574835509736363636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/892035149671019472727272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/178407029342383894545454545454545454555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/3568140586847677890909090909090909055758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/7136281173695355781818181818181818155758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/14272563571391071156363636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/285451271428214221127272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/57090254285642844225454545454545454555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1141805095712856856857272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/2283610191431713713713636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/45672203828634274274272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/91344407657268548545454545454545454555758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/18268881531457137090909090909090909055758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/36537763062914274181818181818181818155758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/7307552612582854836363636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/1461510522565713672727272727272727272755758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/29230210451314274136363636363636363636355758451251251252560256025612801280640640320320160160080080040040020020010010050251256256112914071744, 1x1/5846042090262854827

HOW IS YOUR LIVER?

USE

BEECHAM'S PILLS

For Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Flashes and Swelling after meals, Dizziness and Browsiness, Cold Chills, Flatulency of Heart, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Blotches on the Skin, Stomachic Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, etc. The effect is to cleanse the system, and to give the blood a healthy color. It is a safe and reliable remedy, and is the only one that will give relief in twenty minutes. This is no fiction. Every bottle of Beecham's Pills has the largest Sale of any Patent Medicine in the world. Full directions with each box.

Prepared only by THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helen, Eng., and 365 Canal St., New York.

Sold Everywhere, in Boxes, 10 cents and 25 cents.

Weak Stomach; Impaired Digestion; Disordered Liver

They act like magic—a few doses will work wonders upon the Vital Organs; Strengthening the muscular system; restoring the long-lost complexion; bringing back the keen edge of appetite, and arousing with the Blood the dormant energies of the system. The effect is to cleanse the system, and to give the blood a healthy color. It is a safe and reliable remedy, and is the only one that will give relief in twenty minutes. This is no fiction. Every bottle of Beecham's Pills has the largest Sale of any Patent Medicine in the world. Full directions with each box.

Prepared only by THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helen, Eng., and 365 Canal St., New York.

Sold Everywhere, in Boxes, 10 cents and 25 cents.

JAYNES' MALT

A summer tonic.
An ideal appetizer.
A food medicine.
It strengthens and nourishes.
The doctor says it rests tired mothers and cures sickly children.
It contains most malt and least alcohol.
It is not a temporary stimulant.
It is a permanent strength giver.
A happy combination of Pure Barley Malt and Fresh Hops.
We brew it in our own malt-plant and bottle it in our own laboratory.
We sell it for 17c. per bottle.
We sell three bottles for 50c.
We sell a dozen bottles for $1.84.
And we allow you three cents each for empty bottles.
Wouldn't you like to see a little of the glow of health in your wife's pale cheeks?
Don't the little ones need something to coax an appetite to give them strength to get through the summer?
Perhaps you need Jaynes' Malt yourself.
What's the matter with investing 17 cents, and then if you're not satisfied with the trial, bring back the bottle and we will give you the 17 cents that you paid for it.
Now is the time.

JAYNES & CO.

3 STORES
Washington St., cor. Hanover
Summer St., cor. South
277 Washington St., opp. Oak
BOSTON, MASS.

BOSTON PRICES!

COAL

DELIVERED IN QUINCY.

GEO. E. FROST.

Telephone 128-3 Dorchester. P. O. Address Neponset.

STEARNS' INTERIOR FINISH.

Everything in Wood or Woodwork, Any Kind of Wood.

Some Cypress is no better than Hemlock, but Our Florida Cypress is well known to be more reliable than any other wood.

Our Natural Hard Cypress is sometimes preferred, for Interior Finish, to our better known Light Cypress, although the wood itself in either color may be relied upon in every particular. The darker wood, however, produces a richer effect at a lower cost than the so-called expensive hardwoods. See residences, churches, libraries and other buildings already finished.

ur Light Cypress is equally desirable for either Interior or Exterior Work. Finishes handsomely in natural color. Will take paint better than other woods and paint will not peel. There is no available wood so desirable for Shingles, Clapboarding, Piazzas and other outside work.

Our Florida Ash is of light and uniform color, some of it being not unlike White Mahogany. It is well adapted for fine interior finish and is not expensive.

We Believe that Our Building Specialists are much superior to any similar material in America, and we simply want an opportunity to tell you why it is so before you have your choice—before it is too late.

If Interested write us fully regarding the results desired. We can write you more intelligently than you can then.

Form Your Own Opinion.

SEE OUR SPECIAL DEPARTMENT CATALOGUES.

THE A. T. STEARNS LUMBER COMPANY.

(ESTABLISHED 1849).

Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Neponset.
Branch Office and Exhibit, 160 Devonshire Street, and 10 Federal Street, Haymarket Square, Salem, 1 Salisbury Street, corner Merrimack Street.

THE MOTHERS KNOW

A growing, active boy puts clothing to its supreme test. It is the mother of such a boy who understands, as nobody else does, whether materials hold their color, are properly put together, and stand wear as they should.

Hundreds of mothers have told us how absolute is the satisfaction which

Our Clothing

gives to them, in all respects, as worn by their sons.

We cannot conceive of a higher endorsement—can you?

Macallur Parker Company

400 Washington Street
BOSTON

ADVERTISE IN THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

IN THE

Signature of Chas. H. Stearns

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Seventh Year.

SATURDAY, JULY 18, 1903.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT

The Patriot Office,
Hartwell's Periodical Store,
11, T. Kitteridge,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. F. Carlson,
Miss E. M. Freeman,
Sprague & Hobart,
Shank's Periodical Store,
Thomas Gurney,
Bransfield & Martens,
W. E. Nightingale,
Peter L. Litchfield,
W. E. Doble & Co.,
Henry Coram,
Mrs. Lark's Store,
William Clark,
South Terminal Station,
Fred J. Mullane,
N. H. Procter,
H. H. Weymouth,
Arthur Dunham.

Quincy,
City Square, 38 Hancock St., near Quincy Depot,
Quincy Point,
Wollaston,
Atlantic,
Norfolk County,
Quincy Adams,
South Quincy,
West Quincy,
West Wollaston,
East Milton,
Boston,
Neponset,
Braintree,
East Weymouth, Houghton Neck.

Poetry.

One's Will.

HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD.

One day a little wave—indeed, he wasn't naughty,
Though the other tried to hush and keep him still—
Said: "You mustn't think, my comrades,
That I'm quarrelsome or haughty.
But I want to be a rainbow, and I will!"

So the sun came shining gladly and the wind came blowing madly,
And the little wave leaped up to catch the light,
And for a glorious minute, with only sunshine in it,
He flashed in seven colors on the sight.

So when behind your task the harder ones come trooping,
While the senses only peace and pleasure
And o'er the humdrum work your heavy head is drooping—
Just think of you that rainbow and that wave.

Notes and Comments.

—The millionaire sports ought to be considering plans for an air-ship race over the Atlantic.—Mansfield News.

—A New York policeman has just retired from the force as poor as when he entered it some years ago. A policeman in that city who has a record, deserves a monument.—Old Colony Memorial.

—A life prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, who has served twenty-three years in confinement, was given permission to the warden on Saturday to pass beyond the walls that he might see for the first time an electric car. Those of us who are in the enjoyment of freedom will find it a hard matter to realize the emotions which must have filled the prisoner's breast as he was confronted by this evidence of the world's advancement within the last quarter of a century. We little imagine how easily we may be left behind in these progressive times.—Milford Journal.

—Mr. Alden Wheeler has just completed the installation of police signal boxes in the Blue Hills Reservation. About 6000 acres, extending from the Great Blue Hill to Quincy, have been covered. These have been installed chiefly as an effective means of getting help in case of forest fires.

—There is a man in Somerville, says the Journal, sixty nine years old, who has lived here for thirty years, and has never yet ridden in an automobile. That's nothing. We have a gentleman in Quincy ninety years old who has never been up in a balloon.

—The statistics of library gifts during the year ending sixth month 1st, in America, shows that the money thus disposed of amounted to $10,306,407, of which Andrew Carnegie's donations were $6,079,000. These figures include books and buildings.

—Protestants as well as Catholics must admire the Pope's vitality and vigor, and acknowledge his intense spirituality, his purity of soul, and his zeal in behalf of all that is uplifting, true, and good. He is a wonderful man, and his pontificate will always be illustrious. His successor cannot hope to win higher esteem than that which Leo XIII. has long enjoyed.—Somerville Journal.

—"Let a man behave himself and he will be lynched," observes the Rev. Peter MacQueen. There is sound common sense in what he says. There is altogether too much maudlin sympathy in this country of ours for those who committed revolting crimes and murders. Some years ago a most revolting murder was committed at West Dedham (now Westwood). To-day we find respectable men of that section and this town signing petitions asking the pardoning of Langer. Gov. Bates and his counsel should refuse to grant the same.—Dedham Transcript.

—One of the most valuable carpets in the country was burned the other day. When it was put down, in the adjacent room, at the San Francisco hotel, six years ago, it cost $200. When it was burned it yielded $8000 in gold dust. In the adjacent room the blankets from which gold pieces are made, are filed to exactly the required size. The filaments are carefully swept up every night, but the finer particles sink into the carpet, which is turned at intervals to recover the gold it contains.

—The receipts of cash at Boston continue light, and people who have not forgotten their last winter's experience are already getting nervous. Whatever may be the real situation and prospects, as known to the heads of the coal trade, certain it is that very little information of a satisfactory character can be secured from the smaller dealers. They appear to regard themselves as very weak instruments in the hands of a power that is entirely above and beyond their control. It is difficult to find a dealer who has any idea when his stock for supplying customers is to come to hand. It will be well to begin the agitation in favor of a plentiful supply early in the season, and not when cold weather has settled down.—Dedham Transcript.

—The U. S. Steel trust evidently does not appreciate the value of Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland, when it tries to dictate to him. The trust threatens to move its $5,000,000 steel works away from the city if a certain street railway line is not completed. The chances are the steel company will move before Mayor Johnson will be scared.—Boston Transcript.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

—Now that the convention of the National Educational association is over, the officials of the organization are talking about its unprecedented success. William M. Anderson, the treasurer, says that $70,000 will be turned over to the association by the railroad companies as dues collected by the different roads. The railroads charged $2 more than the fare one way for the round trip to and from Boston, the extra $2 being collected for the association as dues from the delegates. Last year at Minneapolis the revenue received by the association from this source was only $12,000, so the great success of the Boston convention from this standpoint is easily seen.—Boston Globe.

—The immigration statistics at the port of Boston last year beat all records. In all, 65,500 aliens arrived at the port of Boston in the year previous year. Only about 2,700 of the immigrants, however, have settled in Massachusetts.

—The city of Newburyport has already paid Attorney Pillsbury $17,500 for his legal services in the prosecution of the aqueduct plant, and now has a request for $15,000 more "on account," with no intimation as to how much more is expected. Taking water works is expensive business for cities and towns.

—In a little town in Ontario where street cars have just been introduced, the railroad company has posted pictures showing the right and wrong way to get off open cars, and illustrating the disastrous results of alighting from the cars turned toward the rear. Women, especially, have a lot of trouble in getting off open cars, chiefly because they seem not to use their reasoning faculties.

—The Sunday papers are from a newspaper point of view about the poorest papers of the week, and yet poor humanity will continue to take delight in looking at the pictures and reading the bargain sale ads. Perhaps the moral of it all is that poor humanity is very tired on the first day of the week and likes anything that is restful. And after all, it is the Monday morning paper which really breaks the Sabbath.—Norwood Advertiser.

—The new special delivery stamp has at it a picture of a boy riding a bicycle, in order to indicate the expedition with which delivery letters ought to be delivered.

—The Hibernian total abstinence association, of Boston, rightly protest against the decorating of saloons with the Irish flag on the occasions of public festivity, like the Seventeenth of June and the Fourth of July. The members feel that such a custom tends to lower the dignity of the flag and to lessen the respect of the people at large for the race and faith it usually symbolizes. The flag is still alive and well, and there is no need of saving above a saloon." It might well be added that it is a disgrace to any flag to be used over a saloon, and the organization of flag defenders, which has done so much in other directions, should see that the American flag, in particular, is no longer decorated in this way.—Somerville Journal.

—John Jacob Astor is said to have been the first American millionaire, in 1820. New York today is credited with having 1200 million and multi-millionaires.

—A despatch from Burlington, Vermont, states that during a recent thunder storm, the lightning stripped the feathers from the back of a setting hen. The hen is still alive and setting. Either that hen shows remarkably close attention to business, or Burlington is developing some exceedingly imaginative story tellers.—Milford Gazette.

—The results of the Fourth of July battle, according to the Quincy Tribune, were fifty-two killed, 3,065 wounded.

—Twenty-five thousand pairs of shoes, the largest shipment ever made in Rockland in one day, were sent out Monday by Rice & Hutchins. Three cars were required, and they were covered with pictorial posters advertising the goods. One car went to a firm in Cincinnati, another to Chicago, and the third to St. Louis.—Stoughton Sentinel.

—The Mexican Postal Department has taken a new and novel means of informing the public of the weather bulletins given out by the Weather Bureau. Every letter which passes through the office is now stamped with indications for the next 24 hours. This stamping is done at the same time that the postage stamps on the letters are cancelled and the receiving stamp affixed.

—Steerable balloons are beginning to do the skies of France more numerous. By the use of the new balloons, the French are still able to crowning their efforts. It may not be so very long till the impulsive Frenchmen are all quite carried away with this newest means of travel. In the mean while, what are the automobile makers going to do about it?—Boston Herald.

—The English made an attempt to get Booker Washington to go to South Africa, to help them solve their negro problem, but the wise colored brother sees in America more work before him than he can ever complete, though he has certainly started the great and good race. The white American nation would feel the loss of Booker T. Washington.—Havana Post.

—The list of new corporations with a capitalization of over a million dollars, registered during the month of June, is notable for the marked decrease, being less than one-half the list of the month of May and the smallest for the current year. Only three of the entire list had a capitalization of over ten millions, and of the entire list but few were of important interest. These facts are signs of the times indicating that the trust race is about over.

—Leaving aside the vast valuations added to it by consolidation, the accumulations of property on Manhattan island alone have been amazing. Once sold in bulk for $24, island now has a saleable value of $1,000,000 for a lot 25 by 100. But excessive as this figure may seem, property on the island is continually appreciating, and it is probable that what seems to-day to be dear will be looked back to in the future as reasonable and cheap.

—Man may come and man may go, but really good ice cream continues to be appreciated, and the grave of the man or woman who invented it ought to be covered with flowers at least in every twenty-four hours.—Norwood Advertiser.

From the Hull Beacon.

Nantasket of Today.

I spent the evening at Nantasket coming from Quincy square in a large eight-wheel car, as large and fine a car as any I ever saw. Young girls without hats or wraps got in the car all along the line. They seemed to be in pairs. Their familiarity with the conductor and motorman was astonishing. Such giggling and screaming I never witnessed before. I have often been told of such actions, but never saw it. Where are the fathers and mothers of these young women going out for a night at Nantasket?

The large bathing pavilion is well patronized. All are anxious for the long plank walk and hope to see it there by another year. The new attraction at Nantasket this year is the stepladder, which consists in a slide for all and the speed one attains before the end is reached is simply frightful. The slide is a very pleasant house floors that are filling and are called earthquake floors. These seemed to afford great amusement. The funny stairway is an endless chain affair. You step on to a stair and you are carried up one flight. Here you meet many entertaining things. The house of illusion is a very pleasant corner. You sit down in seats and slowly move around in front of mirrors. Some make you tall, some make you short, some round, and strange indeed are others. You would scarcely know yourself. All along are printed peculiar sayings. You want to go around at least three times to comprehend all you see. It is a very restful pleasure because you are sitting and being entertained. If one went to the Buffalo exposition they would be familiar with these entertainments as they are just like them. There are winding, dark ways, up and down, with no end in sight, when you come across the devil's den, which is a coffin rudely made with a figure in red laid therein and another devil standing over with a pitchfork, red light burns during the time.

The stepladder is open. An arrangement very like a roller coaster is there where you mount a large wooden horse and go around the course. All these different ways lead to a summer garden, which is covered with tan bark pleasant to step upon. The broad partitions are painted with bright colors, and are attractive to the eye. Here are seen and can be seen themselves and may be served with light drinks and ice cream. Leading from this garden is the maze. After seeing all these innocent amusements you come out to a large open dance hall with a fine floor on either side, with tables where you can eat and rest and drink altogether. For a small amount of money one can be amused for an evening. Mr. Wallace, who has charge of the stepladder, is a gentleman and a very excellent business man.

Next door in a separate building is the Old Mill. It has a very attractive front and a large wheel turning around in water. A space of time is made built and you embark in a little boat paying ten cents and the force of the water rushing around carries the boat through space. Some places are dark, others light with pretty scenery. This is a very pleasant trip, cool and comfortable.

All this makes a pleasant place for one to spend their dimes in innocent pleasure. All should go and see for themselves. Floretta Vining.

Shipbuilding and Trust.

What effect will the financial difficulties of the so-called shipbuilding trust have on the business of shipbuilding in New England?

With a view to answering this question, brought to the fore by the appointment of a receiver for the $70,000,000 combine that controls two of New England's largest shipbuilding concerns, the Globe has made careful inquiry into the condition of the trade involved.

The result, is of a character to sustain a spirit of optimism among the thousands in New England who look to the business of shipbuilding for a livelihood. From the standpoint of the headmaster of the trust for continued prosperity in iron shipbuilding—the branch of the trade affected by the control of the trust—was never better. Plenty of work is under way at the larger yards, and large contracts for future work are at hand. Wages are good among all grades of artisans in the shipbuilding trade.

It appears that the troubles of the combine, so far as New England is concerned, do not extend to the industrial foundation on which the great merger was based. That is still solid, in spite of the policy followed by the trust's promoters in attempting to float their enterprise by means of copiously watered stock.

In the largest independent yard, that of the Fore River company at Quincy business is rushing, and where four years ago but a few men were on the payroll, hundreds are now employed. The business is not only profitable on hand and is highly prosperous.

The Globe prints interviews with ship firms at Quincy, Bath, Bangor, Rockland, Essex, Providence, Gloucester and elsewhere.

From a lengthy interview, President Watson of the Fore River Co. says: "I know of no reason why New England should not maintain the same supremacy in shipbuilding that it has in other mechanical vocations. In my judgment New England is the national home of shipbuilding."

Anecdotes.

Here, little boy, what are you doing in my strawberry patch?
Aw, looking for diamonds, of course.

"Really, Mr. Graduate," said the Broker to his new clerk, a this-year graduate of Yale, "I am very sorry, but after Saturday I shall have to discontinue your services. I of course admire your enthusiasm, but I really can't stand having you giving your college yell every time the market rises a few points.

Mrs. Dash—Why do men want to hold all these conventions in summer?
Mrs. Rash—Oh, it never gets too hot for a man to tie on a red shawl and parade.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Mrs. Marmaduke—"See those young livers sitting so close together on that bench, Tom. How beautifully the future opens before them! How happy they are! To them everything is possible."

Mrs. Marmaduke—"And nothing probable."

Small Girl—"What do you think about men and boys wearing girls' shirts-waists, anyway?"
Small Boy (in his sister's bloomers and shirtwaist, savagely)—I don't like it! It was bad enough when we boys had to wear out our big brothers' old clothes, but I kick at having to wear out my sister's old things, too!

The Quinys scored ten runs in their game with the Neponset at Quincy Point on Saturday, before the visitors woke up. After the fifth innings, however, with Mullane pitching for the home team, the runs were equally divided, the Quinys winning 15 to 5.

The score by innings was:

Quincy	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Neponset	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

ONE HUNDRED AND ONE FACTS ABOUT QUINCY, MASSACHUSETTS.

Settled in 1625.
Concrete sidewalks.
Free postal delivery.
Seashore attractions.
Schoolhouses of brick.
Seven railroad stations.
Population over 30,000.
Excellent railroad service.
Mileage of water mains, 91.
Number of street lights 734.
Number of fire hydrants 607.
The city has 14,240 taxpayers.
Daily and weekly newspapers.
Mileage of accepted streets, 475.
Number of houses in 1902, 4,725.
Two city parks of over 100 acres.
Incorporated as Braintree in 1640.
Adams Academy for boys, endowed.
Tax rate of 1902, $17.40, a decrease.
Fifth Norfolk Representative district.
Large Granite Manufacturers' Association.

Municipal water plant with over 5,000 tanks.
Cast, 4,124 votes at last State election.
Cast, 4,263 votes at City election of 1902.
The Quincy Patriot established Jan. 1, 1857.
Bunker Hill monument of Quincy granite.
Tablet to John Hancock on Adams Academy.
No. 23 in population in State at census of 1900.
Variation of needle, 11 to 12 degrees west of north.
Twenty-seven churches and other religious organizations.

Quincy named for Col. John Quincy, grandfather of Abigail Adams.
Quincy has moved up from 21 to 23 in valuation in State since 1875.
The only daily newspaper in Norfolk county, the Quincy Daily Ledger.
Birthplace of President John Adams and President John Quincy Adams.
The city owns real estate, fire apparatus, etc., to the value of $846,725.00.
City never voted for licenses for sale of intoxicating liquors; laws well enforced.

Library societies own property valued at $91,375.00, which is exempt from taxation.
Expenditures of the city, aside from temporary loan in anticipation of taxes, over $800,000.00 in 1902.
The Tubular River & Stud Co. located here, employing several hundred men and women; steady work.
Highest tax rate ever assessed, $19.20, and over $18.00 but three times in the 112 years of our history as town and city.

Public schools supplemented by Adams Academy, free for boys; Woodward Institute free for girls; Thayer academy, free for boys and girls; Quincy Manual school, a boarding school for young ladies; Greenleaf street private school; Quincy Home-stead private school; and summer kindergarten school. The city also maintains free evening schools and free drawing schools.

Base Ball.

The West Quinys won in the tenth innings in their game of Saturday at Lynn. The Lynns took the lead in the third, and it was tied in the fourth, fifth and sixth. The visitors added one in the seventh which looked like the winning run but the home side made a tie score in the ninth. In the tenth, however, the West Quinys again scored, and the Lynns boys were unable to, and West Quincy won.

Long of the Lawrence team pitched for West Quincy, but struck out only four. Lynn led at the bat, while West Quincy fielded.

The full score:

WEST QUINCY.
R.	B.	H.	E.	P.	A.	E.
O'Neil, c.f.	0	0	2	1	0	0
Kiley, 2b.	0	0	2	2	4	0
Bate, ss.	1	0	0	2	2	1
Linn, 1b.	0	0	0	0	0	0
McNulty, 3b.	1	2	2	3	3	0
McDewitt, 3b.	1	1	1	3	1	1
Forbes, c.	1	1	2	8	1	0
Donovan, p.	0	0	0	2	0	0
Long, 1b.	0	0	1	0	4	0
Totals	4	7	8	30	12	3

LYNN.

R.	B.	H.	E.	P.	A.	E.
Burke, 1b.	0	2	12	1	0	0
Clarkson, 3b.	1	1	2	1	0	1
Pagum, ss.	0	0	0	2	0	1
Hickey, c.	0	1	1	0	0	0
Gorman, 1b.	0	0	0	0	0	0
McNulty, 2b.	0	0	0	2	2	0
Goodwin, c.	0	1	1	12	1	0
Brown, rf.	0	0	0	0	0	0
Dyer, cf.	0	0	0	0	0	0
Neivick, p.	1	1	1	2	1	0
Totals	3	8	12	30	15	6

Two base hits—Forbes, Clarkson, Gorman. Three-base hit—Neivick. Stolen bases—Goodwin, McNulty, Gorman. 2. Base on balls—O'Neil, Long, Struck out—by Neivick 19, by Long 4. Sacrifice hits—McNulty, Goodwin, c. 1. Error—Baker. Hit by pitched ball—O'Neil, Birnie. Umpire—Sullivan. Time, 1:40.

At Merrymount park, Saturday afternoon the Merrymounts easily defeated the Boston & Maine R. Y. M. C. A. team. Kolson pitched a good game and was well supported by his team. The fielding of the visiting team was loose. The full score:

MERRYMOUNT.
R.	B.	H.	E.	P.	A.	E.
Kolson, p.	5	1	2	1	5	0
Baker, 1b.	0	2	2	1	0	0
Taylor, 1b.	8	2	3	1	0	0
Moore, 2b.	5	1	3	1	1	0
Chadbourne, c.	5	0	1	7	2	0
Chapman, rf.	5	2	0	0	0	0
McNulty, 3b.	5	0	1	0	0	0
Saunders, 1b.	5	0	1	2	3	1
Bennett, ss.	4	0	1	2	1	0
Totals	44	10	12	27	14	1

B. & M. Y. M. C. A.
R.	B.	H.	E.	P.	A.	E.
Fowler, 1b.	4	1	0	3	0	0
Mason, 2b.	4	1	0	3	0	0
Cratt,	4	0	1	0	1	0
Lyden, cf.	3	0	1	0	0	0
Rodden, c.	1	0	0	0	0	0
Lynch, 3b.	3	0	1	1	1	0

SATURDAY, JULY 25, 1903.

Street Railways.

Many people have an idea that street railways in this state are a bonanza to their owners. In the large cities, this is true, as shown by the reports of the roads operating in Boston, Lowell, Lynn, Worcester, Fall River, Springfield, Holyoke and Pittsfield. But many of the so-called "grape-vine" roads, all over the state, have great difficulty in meeting their interest charges, while no less than thirteen were not able last year to do even this, to say nothing about dividends on their stock.

Still there are many citizens in every town and city who object to granting a street railway any privileges. Yet there are very few corporations that help build up a town or a city more than street railways, or give more comfort or pleasure for a few cents than they do; which the citizens of Quincy have had a chance to see and know.

A Disgrace to Quincy.

Weymouth is trying to find a way to have the wreck of an old building removed from the side of one of her principal thoroughfares. It seems it has been an eyesore and annoyance for a considerable time and finally public opinion has become roused to a point where it can be endured no longer.

We have an eyesore in the center of Quincy. The old Nightingale house on Temple street. It has not received any paint probably for one hundred years and for the last half century it has been dropping to pieces. A disgrace to the city and to heirs who own it.

The glass house on lot recently bought for the new post office is raised and soon will be moved to a cellar being built close to the old house. When that takes place it is hoped the old shell that once housed a prominent family, Mr. and Mrs. George Nightingale and their children, will be torn down.

Pope Leo XIII.

For several days this week from sunrise to sunset thousands have passed before the body of Leo XIII, lying in state in the basilica of St. Peter.

The will of the pope consists of 36 pages in the handwriting of Leo XIII, and leaves all the property of which he died possessed to his successor, for the use of the church.

To each member of his family he leaves a present to be chosen from the valuable objects in his apartment. Similar presents are bequeathed to his physicians. The total amount of the property which he left is not yet known.

Democratic Gathering.

An enthusiastic gathering of Democrats was held at the Hotel Belmont on Thursday. A shore dinner was enjoyed and eloquent addresses by prominent leaders of the party were listened to.

The meeting is considered the formal opening of the campaign to be waged this fall in this state, and the speakers should the keynote of what will be the democratic position.

Gov. Bates was charged with deserting his friends. Congressman McNary said Judge Emmons has made himself ridiculous and the laughing stock of many, while acting as a buffoon. Col. Gaston discussed the State debt and gave Massachusetts the largest debt of any state in the Union.

Mr. Faxon Must Pay.

The hearing on the suit of Charles L. Prescott against Henry H. Faxon, to recover the sum of $21.15 alleged to be due for cleaning cesspools and vaults was continued yesterday morning.

After hearing the arguments the court found for the plaintiff in the sum of $10.20. The judgment also carries the costs of the case which must be paid by Mr. Faxon. The costs will amount to at least $20.

Mr. Faxon expressed himself as satisfied with the verdict. The original amount of the bill in question was $21.15, and in making the finding the court disallowed $10.95 which is the amount that would be charged for cleaning three cesspools. The cost of counsel and witnesses in fighting the case must have amounted to considerable, but as Mr. Faxon succeeded in getting a reduction in the bill he is satisfied.

Annual Convention.

The eleventh annual session of the United States League of local building and loan associations has been held in Boston this week. The session has been very largely attended by delegates and ladies, and a most glorious time they have enjoyed. Thursday was the closing day of the session, and on Friday the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank club entertained the league on a harbor excursion.

Albert Keating of the Quincy Co-operative Bank will entertain today, and show the historic places about Quincy to presidents, vice-presidents and delegates of the United States League of Co-operative Banks, also delegates from Ohio, and Pennsylvania. It will be doubly interesting to the president, as he has a daughter named Dorothy Quincy.

Found.

Miss Lucella Cossaboom, who suddenly disappeared from her home at 67 Idaho street, Mattapan, about a fortnight ago, was found on Tuesday last in the woods near her home.

Miss Cossaboom says she started for church Friday night (July 10), but did not go there. She walked down Morton street and sat down in a baseball field on the edge of the woods. She says she still there that night, Saturday and Sunday, walking around in the woods, and Sunday night she went back into the ball field.

She says she saw some of the party searching for her pass through the woods, but cannot explain why she did not speak to them. She claims she lived on berries all the time. She did not get very hungry at any time and found the woods a pleasant place.

Assault Alleged.

Eugene H. Sprague and Eugene F. DeNormandie were arraigned in the court Thursday for assault on Arthur H. Doble. The alleged assault took place July 12 and is said to have been the outcome of an argument as to ownership of the ice business of Eaton Bros.

John McAnaney, Esq., appeared for the government and Wallace Wilson, Esq., for the defendants. When the case was called, counsel for government asked for a continuance, as the complainant was unable to be present on account of illness due to asthma. The request for continuance was granted and the case went over until Tuesday, Aug. 4.

It was rumored that Mr. Doble has also entered suit against one or both of the defendants for $10,000.

CITY BRIEFS.

John Dackers is having a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Hubbard is offering some specialties this week.

James Moorehead is spending a fortnight's vacation at Peppercorn.

Henry L. Klineaid & Co. are giving extra trading stands this week.

Saville street between Hancock street and the depot is being resurfaced.

Less than nine weeks to the Republican caucuses for the State election.

Miss M. M. Joss was registered last week at the Bellevue, Intervale, N. H.

James DeForest has been appointed to a clerkship in the Quincy Post Office.

Sydney Hardwick of Waverly visited relatives and friends in this city Sunday.

Mr. George Lewis of Malden visited relatives and friends in this city last week.

Mr. Emma Baker is seriously ill at her home on Palmer street, Germantown.

Miss Maud McFarlane was at the Eagle Mountain House at Jackson, N. H., last week.

Rev. Arthur Bailey, formerly of Quincy, will preach at Bethany church Sunday morning, August 2.

Miss Clara Richards of Washington, sister of Lyander S. Richards, is visiting friends in this city.

J. E. Alger of Hancock street has for his guest his mother, Mrs. Alger of Newport, Rhode Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Kitson of Merrimont road have been at Farmington, N. S., this month.

The glass house on lot recently bought for the new post office is raised and soon will be moved to a cellar being built close to the old house. When that takes place it is hoped the old shell that once housed a prominent family, Mr. and Mrs. George Nightingale and their children, will be torn down.

Herbert Arnold and Ralph Winslow spent Sunday at Sun View, Marshfield, with B. F. Curtis, formerly of this city.

Master Frank Anderson of 69 Granite street is visiting relatives in New York and Philadelphia. He will return when school opens.

Mrs. R. Cady Loud and son of Wilder street have returned from a ten days' visit with relatives at South Weymouth.

Miss Grace Barry of East Milton is substituting at the Hancock market during the absence of the bookkeeper, Miss Garrity.

The fair recently held by Miss Beal, at her grounds on Adams street, netted $850 for the nurses home at the Quincy City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tirrell moved this week into their new house just erected for them, on Manet avenue, Houghs Neck.

Mrs. Florence Alden of Chestnut street has returned from her trip to the White Mountains with the Appalachian club.

Miss Florence Cairns of the Quincy City Hospital has been suddenly called to her home at Prince Edward Island owing to serious illness of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall of Revere road and Mr. and Mrs. James L. Edwards of School street left July 17 for a two weeks' rest at Center Harbor, N. H.

George W. Hewson of Newcomb place and J. Brooks Keyes of Alleyne terrace have returned from their trip to Jamaica on the steamer Admiral Sampson.

Miss Emma D. Conklin of Goddington street left Tuesday for a week's visit with relatives at Fall River and then goes to the White Mountains for two weeks.

Eddie Larkin of Pettengill's jewelry store is having his annual vacation. What Eddie likes best about the vacation is that he gets a chance to have a good long sleep.

Mrs. John Shaw with her daughter, Mrs. George E. Pfaffman, and Master Jack are registered at the Hotel Bangor, Bangor, Maine, enroute to the White Mountains.

Mr. Spear from Ohio, who is visiting friends in his native town, is now stopping at Anna Hayward's, at the late residence of Daniel Hayward in East Braintree for a few weeks.

The pipe and materials for the extension of the mains of the Citizen's Gas Co. on Butler road, Presidents hill, Washington and Goddard streets have arrived and work has been commenced.

The city has been reimbursed by the State for the $1700 expended on Adams street necessary by Metropolitan sewer construction. Adams street is now in good condition from John Hancock square to the Milton line.

Henry Maloney, the popular clerk of the Weeks-Hill pharmacy, narrowly escaped drowning Monday off the public bath house, Nantasket. While swimming from shore to raft he was overcome by a cramp but through the prompt efforts of Master Jack Halliwell and others he was landed safely in a short time.

Miriam Lee Miller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Miller of Bigelow street, celebrated her ninth birthday on Tuesday by entertaining about twenty-five little boys and girls. Games were played, and prizes were awarded some. Ice cream, cakes, etc., were served. Miriam received many gifts from her guests.

The many friends of Mrs. Jennie Hocking Hunt of Bigelow street will sympathize with her in the death of her mother, Mrs. William Hocking of South Weymouth, who died at the Quincy hospital Tuesday evening, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Hocking died a year or two ago. Mrs. Hocking and her two sisters also reside in Quincy.

Relatives and friends spent a delightful evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Adrian, on Whitwell street, Wednesday night, the occasion being their second wedding anniversary. Most of the evening was spent at whist. Miss Julia Thompson, of Zanesville, Ohio, and Mr. Dan Tinney, of Quincy, receiving the first prizes, and Miss Annette Coplin, of Zanesville, carrying off the consolation.

The six-masted steel schooner building at the Fore River shipyard is so nearly completed that her launching is only a few days away. The launching is now being planned. The planing is nearly finished, only a few alternate strakes at bow and stern remaining to be put on, the spar-deck is all laid, and the interior bulkheads and tanks are practically all up. The restraining timbers on which the frame rest have been removed, so that at last the hull's graceful lines appear. The masts are ready to be stepped as soon as the vessel is afloat.

Mrs. Perry of Bigelow street is entertaining her mother from Bath, Maine.

Are these St. Swithin showers that have visited us nearly every day since July 15?

Julius Johnson is building an eight-room house for William Laid at Bigelow Park.

Miss Annie M. Forsythe of Whitinsville, Mass., is spending her vacation with relatives in Quincy.

Mrs. Mary Willis Hatch has returned from a delightful visit of three weeks with Mrs. James H. Stetson.

The first church will be closed during August. Next Sunday the pastor, Rev. E. C. Butler will preach.

Open Air Gospel service on David Bill's lawn on North street near South street by Rev. W. B. Barr. Everybody invited.

The date when Rev. Arthur Bailey will occupy the pulpit of Bethany church is August 2. The preacher on Sunday will be Rev. W. F. White of Hinsdale, N. H.

Edgar H. Dufebaugh of Louisville, Ky., who publishes the granite trade journal known as "Rock Products" is in town and will join the granite men in their excursion on today.

The store of the Hardware Supply Co. on Hancock street was entered by burglars sometime during Thursday night. Entrance was made by forcing one of the windows in the rear of the store. As far as known from 75 to 100 pocket knives and 12 razors were taken. They were in one of the show cases.

Mr. James H. Stetson will spend the next few weeks at his cottage at West Harwich. Last week Mrs. Stetson entertained Rev. and Mrs. Fay of Milton; this week she had friends from Brookline, and next week friends from Maine will enjoy her hospitality. All have a jolly time.

SOUTH QUINCY.

A very enjoyable party was given Saturday afternoon by Miss Alice Parmenter at her parents' home on Gay street. Sixteen playmates will long remember it. Games of all kinds were enjoyed, and refreshments served.

Miss Maude Cameron started Sunday on the Prince George for Yarmouth, N. S., for a few weeks.

Mrs. John H. Gillis of Traford street is confined at her home, a great sufferer with rheumatism.

The Rev. J. N. Sproule of New Jersey, who is stopping at the Greenleaf hotel, was the preacher at the Water Street Presbyterian church Sunday and the preceding Sunday. Judging from the impression he made, there is a strong probability that he will receive a call to become pastor of the church. There are two other candidates to be heard before a choice is made, but the great majority of the congregation have set their minds on Mr. Sproule and would not care if there were no further candidates.

Mr. Sproule is 34 years of age and has been in the ministry about ten years. He is a Canadian by birth and a graduate of Princeton.

The Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church held its annual picnic on Saturday at Highland Park, Brockton, it took three special cars to convey the party.

Rev. W. Dornan of Holbrook, recently a Quincy pastor, will for Scotland the last of the month to visit his parents.

At probate court last week Mary E. Lawry was appointed administratrix of estate of John Lawry; bond $8,000.

Miss Jessie Bonnie of Center street is spending a few weeks with friends at Squantum.

The late mass at St. John's church at 10.30 A. M. on Sunday will be a solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of Leo and Pope Leo. The church will be in mourning for thirty days.

Mr. George O. Shirley and daughter Annie left Tuesday for a trip through Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Miss Christie Mavor, who has been visiting friends at the Adirondack Mountains has returned to her home on Bennington street South Quincy.

WEST QUINCY.

At St. Mary's church Sunday morning there will be a solemn high mass for the repose of Leo and Pope Leo. The church is being draped.

Miss Mabel O'Dowd is visiting with her grandama at East Weymouth and Nantasket.

Miss May Ring and her sister, Mrs. Badger have returned from their stay at Welts, N. H.

Mrs. Margaret McNeilly of Willard street, who underwent an operation at Carney Hospital four weeks ago, is rapidly improving, and expects to return home, in a short time.

Archie Rogers of West Quincy goes to Lawrence on Wednesday.

Miss Alice O'Brien of West Quincy has gone to Brooklyn, N. Y.

Today at Nightingale Field, Dorchester, Dorchester meets West Quincy for the second time this season. The first game resulted in a 9 to 1 victory for West Quincy.

The John Owens estate on Jackson was sold at private sale the day before the auction to John Sullivan, for more than the assessed value.

The Ladies' Social Union of the West Quincy Methodist church are arranging for a grand lawn party Aug. 3, on the grounds of Mrs. Gragg.

Miss Carrie Heald of Miller street goes to Solon, Me., this week.

The Copeland club hold a Ladies' night July 30 at Farnum's hall.

Jerry Collins of E. H. Doble & Co. has returned from a two weeks' vacation.

East Weymouth Day.

Monday will be East Weymouth day for the Old Home Week celebration in Weymouth. There will be base ball at P. M. between the South Weymouth and East Weymouth for a purse of $25.

A firemen's muster, open to all South Shore companies will follow, with prizes of $75 and $25. The Milo Burke band of Brockton will give a concert in the evening. All aboard for East Weymouth.

Glass Hone.

One of the best things on the market is Hall's Glass Razor hone. It is what every inexperienced man wants, who wants a nice sharp razor. Williams & Martin are agents for this city. Agents are wanted in every town. Write to William C. Hale Co., Atlantic.

The death of Mrs. Anthony Tracy at Weymouth on Monday was very sudden. She dropped dead of heart disease on Broad street. Though 70 years of age, she had up to the time of her death, been in the best of health. The deceased leaves a husband, four daughters and four sons, Mrs. Rogers of Rockland, Mrs. William Wall of Weymouth, Annie W., Kate N., John, William, Edward and James H., all of Weymouth.

ATLANTIC.

Miss Mabel L. Drew of Walker street started Monday for East Andover, N. H., where she will remain until September first.

Mrs. James Curtin and Miss Helen of Atlantic street are in Maine.

Mrs. William Tower, who has been visiting in Franklin, has returned to her home on Botolph street.

Mrs. Percy M. (Mrs. Lulu Nelson) has returned with her husband from Porto Rico and has taken up her residence in Atlantic.

Miss Mabel L. Drew of Walker street started Monday for East Andover, N. H., where she will remain until September first.

Mrs. James Curtin and Miss Helen of Atlantic street are in Maine.

Mrs. Edgar and Miss Ida Alger of Hancock street are spending a few weeks in Newport, Rhode Island.

Thomas Burch of Squantum street has just returned from a cruise along the coast of Maine.

W. G. Kendall of Atlantic street took prizes for raspberries at the Saturday exhibit of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

One of the large red automobiles stolen from the rear of a West Quincy electric car near the Catholic church, Atlantic Sunday evening about nine o'clock. The car was in charge of Motorman Abbott and Conductor Kane, and had stopped that the conductor might set the block. The conductor was just returning to his car and had a very heavy load of passengers.

Miss Bertha Whitmore of Cambridge has been visiting Miss Corinna Wilde of Billings street.

At the Sacred Heart church Sunday morning the late mass will be a high mass for Pope Leo.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koloth of Walker street are enjoying a vacation at their summer home in Halifax.

Miss Genevieve Wilson of Squantum street is spending her vacation at the Merion Point hotel, Westmont, Conn.

Walter Hill and family of Clive street have gone to Maine. Mr. Hill will make but a short stay, but his wife and son will remain until August.

Private parties in Atlantic have been money amounting in all to $15 or $20 and have hired Mr. Barry of Sagamore street to remove the eel-grass from the Atlantic beach.

Frank Curtin of Atlantic street is spending his vacation in Woburn.

Miss Susie Hall of Walker street has gone to Green, N. H., for two weeks.

Miss Nellie Shaw of New York is visiting her mother Mrs. Shaw of Myrtle street, Atlantic.

The Tammany club of Ward 16 of Boston will picnic at the Tripp farm at Squantum today.

Mrs. John A. Duggan and family left Friday for Cottage City where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

Master Michael Golden of Sagamore street has gone to Albany, N. Y., to visit his aunt.

Rev. Edward Norton's subject at the Memorial church on Sunday morning will be: "Life not in possession but love."

DOWNS AND PARK.

Miss Mildred Maxwell of Hampden circle is visiting relatives in Lowell.

Miss Bertha Given of Hamilton street is visiting friends in Somerset. Attention is called to the rewards offered in this paper by the commodore of the Wollaston and Squantum yacht clubs in addition to that offered by Mayor Bryant for the conviction of the person stealing yachts and yachting property.

Sunday's blow was a bad one for the yachts and several of the boats of the Wollaston and Squantum clubs went adrift. Among these was the new schooner of ex-Commodore Frank Burgess which bit up into the cove and had a narrow escape. The also broke her mooring chain and went ashore at Atlantic. The Wavenook also drifted.

Miss Ruth Page of Beach street is visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. D. Thompson at Revere.

Mrs. E. D. Atkins of Bromfield street, and Miss Florence Gaminis, Grade II, Mass. Fields school, have gone to Baltimore, where they will join Capt. E. D. Atkins and accompany him on a cruise.

Miss Mary E. Richards of Cumberland R. I., is the guest of Mrs. Herbert J. Polk of Beach street.

Mrs. Charles Powell and Miss Elvira Ewell of Hampden circle, Norfolk Downs, spent last week with friends at Duxbury and Kingston.

Mrs. J. E. Page has returned to her home on Beach street, after an absence of twelve weeks. During her absence Mrs. Page visited for five weeks at New York, enjoying a trip up the Hudson in B. F. Keith's yacht. From New York she visited in Philadelphia for seven weeks, returning by way of Providence, having a very enjoyable trip all around.

Ex-Commodore Burgess of the Wollaston has gone to Orono, for a few weeks to his new schooner the Romance.

Miss Mildred, the little daughter of Councilman Polk, is spending the month of July in Nashua, N. H.

Miss Clara Mansfield of Davis street is enjoying a visit with her aunt Mrs. Myers at Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berry and children who have been visiting in Everett for a few days have returned to their home on Davis street.

Old Rivals to Meet.

The two old rivals, West Quinys and Dorchester, cross bats for the second time this season at Dorchester this afternoon.

As West Quinys won the first game it is expected Dorchester will try hard for a victory this time and as they have added several new players since the last game a hot time is expected by the fans.

West Quinys have also strengthened their team, having secured, through friends of the management two of the strongest amateurs in New England for this occasion.

Below is the make-up of the team for today:

Forbes, catcher.

Pagum, pitcher.

Birnie, 1st base.

Kiley, 2d base.

Storey, 3d base.

Tide, short stop.

Duffy, left field.

Donaher, center field.

McCaule, right field.

During the absence of the family of W. O. Lock of Braintree on Thursday last the house was entered and a dress suit, cash, lady's watch, rings and jewelry stolen.

WOLLASTON.

Miss Elizabeth Hamilton Thayer of Willow street, who is elected supervisor of the schools of Rayham, Mass. She is a graduate of the Massachusetts Normal Art School.

Mrs. Frederick Bishop of Beale street has for her guests, Mrs. L. Campbell of Peoria, Illinois; Miss Margaret Edwards of Princeton, Illinois; Miss Bessie Coe and Mr. Walter L. Coe of New Bedford.

Mrs. Harriett Turner is spending a few weeks in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waterhouse, Miss Gertrude Waterhouse, Miss Katherine Sibley and Mr. and Mrs. Louis have gone to a summer trip in the woods of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Morehouse of Winthrop avenue, have returned to their home, after enjoying a delightful trip through the White Mountains.

Mrs. Litch and her daughter Sally have just returned from a summer trip to the White Mountains.

Miss Ethel Roberts and Miss Mary A. Sayward have returned from a three weeks' visit to Castine, Me.

Mrs. Charles G. Farrell and her two daughters are at Shirley, N. H., for the summer.

Mrs. Frank Page and her two sons are at Kennebunk, Me.

Rev. R. B. Tobey, Mrs. Tobey and Alice Tobey are at Laurel Lake, N. H., for a few weeks.

Miss Gertrude Sayward is visiting Miss Mary Chase at Brant Rock.

That petition for a description paper that was being circulated to water the streets has been lost. The general complaint is that there has been too much water.

John W. Collins and family of Boston are in the Wabaco cottage on Centre road.

John Brown of Brookline is building an all-the-year round cottage near the Willows.

William Wilson and family of Quincy are in the Brown Bank cottage on Island avenue.

The tent over the merry-go-round blew down Sunday and will probably not be raised again. The flow of five cent pieces was not so great as was anticipated and the apparatus will be given a rest.

Joseph Donahue, of the Boston Pilot, is in the Quincy cottage on Great Hill.

Mrs. W. H. Mayforth and family of Springfield are in the Mayforth cottage.

Dr. Drummie of Roxbury is in his cottage on Manet avenue.

There will be a large number of yachts at the Quincy Yacht club next Wednesday on the occasion of the open race.

It is expected that the section of the Metropolitan sewer, between Mt. Wollaston cemetery and Great Hill, which has been under construction for three years, will

THE MOTHERS KNOW

A growing, active boy puts clothing to its supreme test. It is the mother of such a boy who understands, as nobody else does, whether materials hold their color, are properly put together, and stand wear as they should.

Hundreds of mothers have told us how absolute is the satisfaction which gives to them, in all respects, as worn by their sons.

We cannot conceive of a higher endorsement—can you?

Our Clothing

Macallan Parker Company

400 Washington Street
BOSTON

EXAMINERS FOR AND MAKERS OF EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

FOUNDED 1888. "SANBORN" METHOD OF EXAMINATION. INCORPORATED 1902

JOHN W. SANBORN CO.,

OPTICIANS.

No. 3 Winter Street, BOSTON, MASS.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres. and Manager.

TELEPHONE. ELEVATOR. ONE FLIGHT

Jan. 17

THE CENTURY COMPANY, 27 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of

Dr. J. C. Fitcher

and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy.

Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Dr. J. C. Fitcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTURY COMPANY, 27 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y.

EBEN SMITH.

1872.

MRS. EBEN SMITH.

1897.

PICTURE FRAMING.

FINE GOLD WORK.

147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.

Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.

Oct. 12.

Quincy Savings Bank,

New Savings Bank Building.

President, RUPERT F. CLAPLIN

Treasurer, EDWIN W. MARSH

Board of Investment—RUPERT F. CLAPLIN, EDWIN W. MARSH, JOHN Q. A. FIELD, ELIAS A. PERKINS.

BANK HOURS—From 9.30 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. Will close on Saturdays at 12 M.

Deposits placed on interest on the first Tuesday of January, April, July and October.

CONNECTED BY TELEPHONE.

Quincy Jan. 11, 1902.

THOS. W. LINCOLN,

Awning Maker,

764 Washington St., Quincy Point.

Italian Awnings.

All Kinds of Stairs.

Made in the Best Manner.

At Very Short Notice

—FOR—

STORES, HALLS, PRIVATE RESIDENCES.

Beach Houses.

Yacht Sails made to order and warranted to fit.

Second-hand canvas constantly on hand.

March 14.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS,

Carriage Builders

AND PAINTERS.

ALSO HORSE SHOEING AND JOBBING

BY FIRST-CLASS WORKMEN.

Harness Making and Repairing.

All orders promptly attended and faithfully executed.

Buy your Rubber Tires of us.

Factory Quincy Ave.,

QUINCY, MASS.

CURES A COLD IN ONE DAY

CURES GRIP IN TWO DAYS

LAXATIVE

BROMO

QUININE

THIS SIGNATURE

Dr. J. C. Fitcher

MUST APPEAR

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Dr. J. C. Fitcher

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Dr. J. C. Fitcher

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Seventh Year.

SATURDAY, JULY 26, 1903.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT

The Patriot Office, Quincy, Mass.

City Square, Quincy, Mass.

38 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

near Quincy Depot, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Seventh Year.

SATURDAY, JULY 26, 1903.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT

The Patriot Office, Quincy, Mass.

City Square, Quincy, Mass.

38 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

near Quincy Depot, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

Miss E. M. Freeman, Quincy Point, Quincy, Mass.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, AUGUST 8, 1903.

VOL. 67, NO. 32.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY: $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 142 HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Braintree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer

SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1840 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimated given.
JOBBING PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

A. W. PARKER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Cor. Putnam and Merrymount Roads, Quincy.
HOUSES FOR SALE AND TO LET.
PLANS FURNISHED.
Jobbing Promptly Attended to.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINEL BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, - 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Also, MONDAY and FRIDAY Evenings,
7 to 9.
Telephone number, 146-2.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Rooms 5 and 6, - Durgin & Merrill's Block,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 9 to 12, 2 to 5.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, * Contractor
-AND-
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and
estimated given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2.

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUGAN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

C. L. PRESCOTT,
CONTRACTOR.
HAVING BEEN appointed City Scavenger, I respectfully solicit the patronage of the citizens, pledging myself to give particular attention to all work entrusted to me, and to do it by the Edison's "Electric Excavating System."
Orders may be left at:
POINT - At Miss Freeman's store.
CITY HALL, - Board of Health office.
AT MY RESIDENCE,
Baxter Avenue, Quincy Point.
March 21.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER and BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.
Granite Firms.

FULLER, POLEY & CO.,
Granite Manufacturers and Dealers. Works opposite West Quincy Depot.

MILNE & CHALMERS,
Monumental and Cemetery Work of every description. W. C. as near Quincy Adams Depot.
24 Address, Quincy, Mass. Branch Office, 24 West Main St., North Adams.

MERRY MOUNT GRANITE CO.
Incorporated 1881. Manufacturers and Dealers in Monumental and Cemetery Work. Works near Quincy Adams station, Quincy.

CAREY BROTHERS,
Dealers and manufacturers of Polished and Hammered Monuments, Curbing and Head-stones. Willard street, West Quincy.

LONG & SAUNDERS,
For Monumental Work from American and English Granite and Marble. Latest designs.
-superior workman ship. Works, South Quincy, Wentworth, South Quincy, Mass.

BADGER BROTHERS,
Granite Dealers and Machinists. Monumental Work of all Descriptions. Celebrated Ashland Emery for sale. West Quincy.

ARCHITECTS, BUILDERS, REAL ESTATE OWNERS AND AGENTS
PLASTIC-SLATE ROOFING
35 years in use. Guarantee up to 15 years. Cheaper than cheapest tin. No expense for paint or repairs. A superior roof for every class of NEW BUILDINGS, or OLD BUILDINGS, laid over worn out tin, gravel shingle or slate without removing old roofing. All plainly described in Circular. Samples at office. Full particulars sent on request.
IMPROVED PLASTIC-SLATE ROOFING CO., 26 SCHOOL ST., BOSTON, MASS.

STEARN'S CYPRESS
IN THE EARLY STAGES of building do not fail to use
STEARN'S FLORIDA
GULF CYPRESS (I cheap grade will answer)
for Sills and Frames or Planks. This precaution will save much money by and by

wood, which you cannot overlook if you examine it. It will take paint and hold it better than any other wood.
Our CYPRESS COLUMNS, all sizes up to
14 inches, are sawed from the quarter of the log
(a big log that), and contain no heart centre.
They are bored lengthwise through the centre.
We turn them, flute them, furnish capitals of wood, hand-carved or paper-moulded.

Then we supply CYPRESS PLAZZA FLOORING, RAILS, BALUSTERS, UNDS, FINALS and so on through the list of all the exterior work, for there is no available wood as desirable as CYPRESS for exterior woodwork.
For INTERIOR FINISH the range of desirable woods is very great-measured, in fact, only by personal fancy and the pocketbook; but it is possible to obtain superior cost. Let us explain this. Don't be half-finished. Send for our book, "Cypress Lumber and its Uses."

THE A. T. STEARN'S LUMBER COMPANY.
Established 1849.
Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Neponset,
Branch Office and Exhibit, 166 Devonshire Street and 19 Federal Street, BOSTON. 130 South Street, corner Merriam Street, BOSTON.

PICTURE FRAMING.
FINE GOLD WORK.
147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.
Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.

CASTORIA
The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy.
Allow no one to deceive you in this.
All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but trifles, which will surely and speedily endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA
Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant.
It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Charles H. Fletcher
The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 219 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

JOHN W. SANBORN CO.,
OPTICIANS.
No. 3 Winter Street, BOSTON, MASS.
BRIGGS S. PALMER, -Pres. and Manager.
TELEPHONE. ELEVATOR. ONE FLIGHT
Jan. 17.

THE MOTHERS KNOW
A growing, active boy puts clothing to its supreme test. It is the mother of such a boy who understands, as nobody else does, whether materials hold their color, are properly put together, and stand wear
as they should.
Hundreds of mothers have told us how absolute is the satisfaction which gives to them, in all respects, as worn by their sons.
We cannot conceive of a higher endorsement—can you?
Macular Parker Company
400 Washington Street
BOSTON

Poetry.
The Unreturning.
ALBERT BIGLOW PAINE.
A long gray sea, and a long brown sand,
And misty meadows and trailing rain;
A whispered word and a waving hand,
And a ship that sails from a lonely strand,
Over the sea to Spain.
A flow of seasons—a tide of years—
A vision of waiting paid in vain;
A watching at last through a blur of tears
For the vanished vessel that never appears
Over the sea to Spain.
Oh, drifting seasons of bloom and snow!
Oh, ships that never return again!
The tide swings late and the tide swings low
As I watch the white-winged vessels go Over the sea to Spain.

Miscellaneous.
A SUMMER MISSION.
"We must 'sow beside all waters,'" said Madge, as she sat on the porch, and packed a bundle of left-over Sunday school papers in her trunk. "A little missionary work need not interfere with our vacation."
"Oh, for mercy's sake, don't mention that word 'work,' and don't, above all, speak of a mission," protested the tired little singing-teacher. "I've always longed to spend one blissful summer in the mountains, doing nothing, and now I must do it."
"All right, dear," said Madge, sweetly, "I'll leave the 'mission' to the missionaries. But the crisp folds of a dozen freshly laundered shirt-waists—
"You always say you will not 'go into the vineyard and work, and you always go,—like the good servant in the Bible;
so I shall count on you to sing to the little untamed heathen in the backwoods, at least."
Mabel shook her beautiful golden hair down over her face.
"No," she said, behind the shining veil, as she piled her brush, "I shan't even sing."
The next afternoon the two city girls stood on the little wooden platform of a tiny depot, where the express had left them, waiting for an accommodation train made up of empty flat-cars, to get ready to start for the lumber camps at the terminus of the "branch."
The engine hustled backward down the track and slammed the loose-jointed chain of cars into final order, and the conductor shouted "All aboard."
The "all" to get aboard the caboose, beside Madge and Mabel, were three women and seven children, bound for the Hotel de Redwood, and a young man of twenty-eight or thirty, smart-faced and handsome, who had come all the way from the Oakland pier with them, and had only lifted his eyes from a big city paper to pin them to a volu-tuous, amazing interest in him.
"A drummer," thought Mabel, judging him by the well-fitting clothes he wore.
He took the seat directly in front of them, to get as far away as possible from the seven children, three of whom were crying, and four eating candy and peanuts.
An hour later the long rattling train, having gathered considerable momentum during its seven-mile run, steamed up to San Lorraine's little box of a depot, where three women and seven children rolled comfortably away in a carriage to the Hotel de Redwood, and the young man, evidently at home in the wilderness, turned back, after starting off with a swinging stride to walk to the town not yet in evidence to the two young ladies.
"I beg your pardon—are you not hotel guests?" he asked them, lifting his hat.
"No—and where in the world is San Lorraine?" said Madge. "We are going to board with a Mrs. Merriam." San Lorraine is on the other side of the slope,—the railroad did not take the trouble to go around that way. I know the Merriams well. You are most fortunate."
"Is it a nice place?" Madge asked, anxiously doing all the talking.
"Charming. If you will allow me, I will direct you that way."
They walked along the border of the dusty road, Madge talking a little, Mabel with sealed lips.
"There," exclaimed the young man presently, "the Merriams are coming to meet you on their wheels!"
Madge and Mabel looked up the gently sloping road. "Wheels! In Arcadia!" commented Madge.
The two bicyclists whirled down upon them, and dismounted gracefully.
"Miss Irving and Miss Upton?" asked the younger of two very pretty girls.
"Yes," said Madge, "big 'I' and little 'U'."
Both the Merriams girls laughed and shook hands.
"We are Ruth and Lillian Merriam," said the ready-spoken younger sister.
"You have met Mr. Miller?"
"Only as our guide to your home, by his own courtesy," said Madge, as the young man smilingly lifted his hat.
"Mr. Miller is our minister," said Lillian, with evident familiarity in her manner toward clerical dignitaries.
"The Chautauqua ladies were afraid you wouldn't get home for your lecture this evening, Mr. Miller; they are up at the house now, 'cramping' on 'Chaucer to Tennyson.'"
Mr. Miller laughed.
"I am afraid they will know more about the subject than I do myself, though I have pored over the book all the way home."
Lillian turned to the two astonished young ladies:
"You won't mind mamma's Chautauqua Circle, I hope. We will go up to the house and slip in at the side door and let them finish before we disturb mamma. She hardly expects you today, but your room is ready. We saw you with the field glass get off the train, and came to meet you."
Mabel set her small "telescope" basket on a huge stump. A look into negative!" he asked, smiling down at her luminous gray eyes. "I thought so, but I shall not think you inconsistent, even if you go tonight."

He stooped to pick up the hat that fell from her fingers, but did not return it to her.
"Come, he said, the pink petals at his lips, as he breathed their fragrance.
"That tired conscience is on a vacation —never mind about inconsistency."
"But I do not want you to think that I have faced about, point blank, just because you are an attraction, instead of the 'cause,' as Madge calls it, and her golden head was thrown back, her lips parted in a frank, fearless smile. He gave a quick, startled laugh.
"I should love to think that," he declared, "but I won't, if it will interfere with the resting of such a particular conscience. I have that this gramme; but just say it isn't work—not even a homopathic dose. Call it play. Come, please, get your hat," and with a little fluttering gesture Mabel obeyed him.
He preached a more logical sermon this morning, Madge said to her, as they walked home. "Tonight he seemed to rise into the poetical. It may have been due to that pink rosebud in his buttonhole."
Mabel blushed in the kindly darkness, as she remembered the words he had spoken into the heart of that bud:
"Call it play."
They "called it play" for five weeks, and then one morning, Ruth, with a pale, troubled face and tear-stained eyelids, took the train for the beautiful sea-coast town fifteen miles distant, where lived an aunt who had helped educate both girls.
"Oh, Lillian! I can't bear the thought of giving him up," Mabel overheard her sobbing, as she kissed her sister good-by. "But don't let anybody guess that I am going away—keep my secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"Mabel! I am going away—keep my
secret—I may get him back yet from."
Just then Mabel thrust her fingers
in her ears. The dull pain in her heart
summed every sweet recollection of those
five happy weeks. From the veranda,
with the glass, she saw Ruth and her
father met by Mr. Miller, who took Ruth
aside and talked with her until the train
was ready to start.
"There's something gone wrong, Mabel—
I'm afraid you've come between them,"
said Madge, soberly.
"M

JAYNES' MALT

A summer tonic.
An ideal appetizer.
A food medicine.
It strengthens and nourishes.
The doctor says it rests tired mothers and cures sickly children.
It contains most malt and least alcohol.
It is not a temporary stimulant.
It is a permanent strength giver.
A happy combination of Pure Barley Malt and Fresh Hops.

We brew it in our own malt-plant and bottle it in our own laboratory.

We sell it for 17c. per bottle.

We sell three bottles for 50c.

We sell a dozen bottles for $1.84.

And we allow you three cents each for empty bottles.

Wouldn't you like to see a little of the glow of health in your wife's pale cheeks?

Don't the little ones need something to coax an appetite to give them strength to get through the summer?

Perhaps you need Jaynes' Malt yourself.

What's the matter with investing 17 cents, and then if you're not satisfied with the trial, bring back the bottle and we will give you the 17 cents that you paid for it.

Now is the time.

JAYNES & CO.
3 STORES
Washington St., cor. Hanover
Summer St., cor. South
677 Washington St., opp. Oak
BOSTON, MASS.

BOSTON PRICES!

COAL

DELIVERED IN QUINCY.

GEO. E. FROST.

Telephone 128-3 Dorchester. P. O. Address Neponset.

Grass Mattings and Furniture.

If you would like to own a floor covering that will outwear any straw matting or carpet, we recommend the new Prairie Grass Matting. It is suitable for any room in your house—it is very attractive, easy to care for, and costs only 38 cents per yard. Nature's green is the prominent color.

We have also the Grass Art Squares, Grass Rugs and a large assortment of Grass Rockers, Chairs, Divans, Tables, etc.

You can be up-to-date in your house furnishings if you trade at the low priced store.

HENRY L. KINCAID & CO.

New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store.

Hancock Street, Quincy.

Stores close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock during July and August.

We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!

OF ALL KINDS.

DRY AND GREEN

At Lowest Possible Prices.

THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,

Yard off Miller and West Streets, WEST QUINCY.

Quincy, Jan. 10.

1867. 1903.

ELLA L. STETSON,

DEALER IN

BOOTS, SHOES

AND

RUBBERS.

66 Washington Street, Quincy, Mass.

Jan. 24.

CURES A COLD IN ONE DAY

CURES GRIP IN TWO DAYS

LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE

THIS SIGNATURE

ON EVERY BOX OF THE GENUINE

WANTED—SEVERAL PERSONS OF CHARACTER and good reputation in each state (one in this county required), to represent and advertise our established business house of solid financial standing. Salary $21.00 weekly with expense additional, all payable in cash direct each Wednesday from head office. Due of more value than it is anywhere else. Come East, young man, and secure a bargain.—Boston Herald.

The Quincy Patriot.

Sixty-Seventh Year.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 8, 1903.

SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS.

FOR SALE AT

The Patriot Office,
Hartwell's Periodical Store,
H. P. Kirtland,
J. P. O'Brien,
C. F. O'Brien,
Mrs. E. M. Freeman,
Sprague & Hobart,
Shuman's Periodical Store,
Thomas Gurney,
Bransford & Martens,
Bransford & Martens,
Peter L. Littlefield,
W. H. Littlefield,
E. H. Littlefield & Co.,
Henry Oram,
Mrs. L. A. Store,
William Clark,
South Terminal Station,
Fred J. Mallard,
W. B. Foster,
J. H. Hunt,
Arthur Dunham.

Poetry.

A Summer Shower.

MRS. S. E. H. GILES.

Gently it fell, that summer rain,
On stream and on field and flower,
Just sparkling the sweet, new-mown hay,
'Twas only a summer shower.

Faster it fell, harder it beat,
On tree and on grass and clover,
Rain-vells adown, silent we watched,
We knew it would soon be over.

See! there is a wisp of blue sky!
The wind gusts are sweeping their power;
The rain drops gliding in sunlight,
We knew 'twas a summer shower!

Our hearts all fear and grow heavy,
And fairer and sweeter the flowers,
Just because of the gray windy clouds,
And because of the summer showers.

There's many a needless worry,
To many a fancy we cover,
While patience bids, "Be calm, dear heart,
'Twill be but a summer shower!"

The well-worn sun in autumn days,
Tells of mist and wind and dower;
You cannot have the rainbow fair,
'Till you've had the summer shower!

Notes and Comments.

—It is said that the new Springfield army rifle can kill at the distance of five miles—which is considerably farther than any man can see to shoot.

—A Berlin physician states that out of 1000 girls who played the piano before the age of 12 years he found 600 cases of nervous diseases, whereas out of the same number of children who did not play the instrument he found but 100 cases. The author of these experiments states that the piano should never be used by a child before the age of 10 years, and only two hours a day at the maximum.

—Before Cornelius Vanderbilt died

he left this testimony in a conversation with a friend: "I don't see what good it does me—all this money that you say is mine. I can't eat it; I can't spend it; in fact, I never saw it. I dress no better than the poorest of my countrymen, and cannot eat as much as my coachman.

I live in a big servants' boarding-house, am bothered to death by beggars, have hypochondria, cannot drink champagne, and most of my money is in the hands of others, who use it mainly for their benefit.

—I discovered years ago that no text book was equal to the newspaper as a means for taking a knowledge of the actual practical and up-to-date world into the schoolroom. History, geography, civil government, algebra, chemistry and the entire academic curriculum teach only a theory of the world and its problems. The real drama of life, in its various forms of commercial, political and social relations, must be seen and learned through the mirror of the newspaper. I am too poor to do without the papers. I take them to bed, follow them everywhere, and take them to the papers and take them to the papers. I take them to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

to the papers. I take them to the papers.

The City Council.

There was not much of an explosion

over the meeting of the City Council

Monday evening. The Council, however,

did refuse Harold L. Bond & Co. a license to keep and sell dynamite.

An effort to get light on the plans for the High School enlargement failed,

and a vacation was voted.

Councilmen Diack, Cleverly, Hadlock

and Nickerson were the absentees.

The Mayor announced the appointment of Thomas Robertson as a public

weigher. Confirmed.

The Mayor in a communication called attention to Chapter 143 of the Revised

Laws, which provides for regulating

the speed of cars and the use of tracks

in the city, and recommended action be taken. To Joint Committee of Streets

and Ordinances.

Several petitions were received for minor licenses. Referred.

Petitions were received from the New

England Telephone Co. for permission to lay underground conduits on the

State Highway on Washington street,

and from the end of the State Highway

to the Point bridge. Laid on the table

until later, when an order was offered.

The New England Telephone Co. petitioned to change its wires on William street. Laid on the table.

The Committee on Finance reported

favorable on order refunding a tax title

of $18 to John H. Dinegan. Rules suspended and order passed.

The joint Committee on Finance and

Public Buildings reported favorable on the order for $1500 for additional rooms

at the Willard school. Rules suspended and order passed.

The Committee on Finance reported

favorable on the order for $200 for building a portion of Independence avenue to its full width. Order referred back to the Finance Committee as no way was provided for raising the money.

Later the reference was withdrawn

and Councilman Piper offered an amendment relative to borrowing money.

Councilman Whiton did not know the order had been before the Finance Committee. He thought there would be trouble selling a $300 bond.

President Alden said, ordinarily this would be charged to unexpended balances, but there were none. It was not uncommon to borrow $200.

Councilman Bass felt it would be a disgrace to the city to borrow $200.

He felt that $200 could be raised out of the Highway appropriations of $25,000.

Commissioner Knowlton said the Highway appropriation was for maintenance and repair. This work should be outside that. All the money in that appropriation is absolutely needed for repair.

Councilman Nichols—it is a permanent improvement. If the City

Treasurer finds he has any unexpended balance he will not borrow.

The amendment was adopted and the order passed. Councilmen Bass and Whiton voted no.

The Committee on Finance reported

an amendment to the order refunding

Harlow Rogers $75 tax title, making the amount $78. Rules suspended and order passed.

The Finance Committee reported ought not to pass on order refunding

$74.80 tax title to Harlow H. Rogers.

Accepted.

The Committee on Licenses reported leave to withdraw on the petition of

The City Council.

There was not much of an explosion

over the meeting of the City Council

Monday evening. The Council, however,

did refuse Harold L. Bond & Co. a license to keep and sell dynamite.

An effort to get light on the plans

for the High School enlargement failed,

and a vacation was voted.

Councilmen Diack, Cleverly, Hadlock

and Nickerson were the absentees.

The Mayor announced the appointment of Thomas Robertson as a public

weigher. Confirmed.

The Mayor in a communication called attention to Chapter 143 of the Revised

Laws, which provides for regulating

the speed of cars and the use of tracks

in the city, and recommended action be taken. To Joint Committee of Streets

and Ordinances.

Several petitions were received for

minor licenses. Referred.

Petitions were received from the New

England Telephone Co. for permission

to lay underground conduits on the

State Highway on Washington street,

and from the end of the State Highway

to the Point bridge. Laid on the table

until later, when an order was offered.

The New England Telephone Co. petitioned to change its wires on William

street. Laid on the table.

The Committee on Finance reported

favorable on order refunding a tax title

of $18 to John H. Dinegan. Rules suspended and order passed.

The joint Committee on Finance and

Public Buildings reported favorable on

the order for $1500 for additional rooms

at the Willard school. Rules suspended

and order passed.

The Committee on Finance reported

favorable on the order for $200 for

building a portion of Independence avenue to its full width. Order referred back to the Finance Committee as no way was provided for raising the money.

Later the reference was withdrawn

and Councilman Piper offered an amendment relative to borrowing money.

Councilman Whiton did not know the

order had been before the Finance Committee. He thought there would be trouble selling a $300 bond.

President Alden said, ordinarily this

would be charged to unexpended balances, but there were none. It was not uncommon to borrow $200.

Councilman Bass felt it would be a disgrace to the city to borrow $200.

He felt that $200 could be raised out of

the Highway appropriations of $25,000.

Commissioner Knowlton said the

Highway appropriation was for maintenance and repair. This work should be outside that. All the money in that appropriation is absolutely needed for repair.

Councilman Nichols—it is a perma-

Thomas Crane Centennial.

The centennial anniversary of the birth of the late Thomas Crane should not pass unobserved. The date is October 15, this year. Thomas Crane was one of Quincy's greatest benefactors, and one of the pioneers to present to his native town a public library building. Through his foresight, generosity and love of the town of his birth, Quincy of today is not beholden to Carnegie or any outsider for its beautiful public library building. The grounds for the same were purchased by the city, but the family of Mr. Crane are continually improving the same, and have recently made a substantial addition which make them extensive and beautiful.

The centennial celebration should appeal to the granite manufacturers and the granite cutters of the city, for Thomas Crane learned the art of cutting stone cut in Quincy, and then went to New York city. Later he became one of the captains of industry. Literally he built his house upon a rock. Granite, not speculation, was at the foundation of his fortune. He used considerable Quincy granite in building up New York, especially after the crisis of 1857.

Thomas Crane was also a member of Rural lodge of Masons, which organization laid the corner stone of Crane Memorial Hall on Washington's Birthday in 1881, and conducted the dedication ceremonies on Memorial Day in 1882. The Masons would probably assist at a centennial celebration of Thomas Crane's Birthday.

Charles Francis Adams in his address at the dedication of Crane Memorial Hall, on Memorial day, 1882, said in part: "Here in Quincy his monument stands and will stand, and here it is fit and proper it should stand; here it could have been consulted, he would most have wished to have it stand. It stands close by the familiar way over which, with brothers and sisters, he walked as a boy to the village school close by, the way which a young man, he trod as he went to that church in the city where he heard God's words as he needed it, the way which, later, when he returned to his birthplace in the full tide of mature and successful life, carried him back to those places he loved so well, in which his youth had been passed.

"Quincy was to him always a haven of rest and refreshment. It was Quincy that he liked to go back from the noise and bustle and dust of the great city; it was in Quincy that he would most have wished to be remembered. And he will be remembered here. His name, written as it was in water where he lived and did his work, will now long be in Quincy a household word.

"And it is right also that it should be so; for, take him for an old man, Thomas Crane stands easily first in all among the many children Quincy has contributed to the great New England migration. He was the most shining example of those qualities of intelligence, energy, persistence, honesty, temperance and God-fearing morality which made that New England migration the force it was and the yet greater force it is destined to be.

"As the most shining example that this town produced, it is therefore fit and proper that his monument, reared by pious hands, should stand here by the roadside, a perpetual and conspicuous memorial for coming generations.

"As I said when I began, I repeat now, it is more, far more, than a monument to an individual. There is a sermon to the young in its every stone. It stands as a reminder of those sterling, homely virtues (qualities) which all possess, and yet so few know how to utilize) which made him—whose name the building bears and whose edifying, carved by the hand of genius, looks down from its walls—the man he was.

"It is the monument of human greatness, of conquests and brilliant deeds. For the man of those who shall enter its doors it is better, much better than that. Not all men can be great; and the ways of greatness are not the ways of happiness. We can, however, all be temperate; we can be industrious; we can be patient and persevering; we can cleave to that which is true and honest and of good repute.

"All this Thomas Crane did; and because he did it he achieved success and happiness in life, and his monument stands here today, the monument of a son of whom his birthplace may well be proud, and whose name, but children will long hold in close remembrance."

New Freight Yard.

A trip up Granite street will give a general idea of what the new freight yard of the New York and New Haven railroad will be when complete. The filling that had to be made is nearly completed. It has been leveled off and is now ready to have the tracks laid.

The grade of the yard is a little below the main line tracks, but nearly on a level with Granite street. The old class house on the lot near the foot of Goffe street has been moved west to a point nearly opposite Whitwell street. It also sets nearer Granite street than formerly.

Just where the freight house will be located or just what the plans of the railroads are, have not been made known as yet.

The granite men at South Quincy prefer to do their loading at South Quincy as at present. It is possible however that as the railroad has an entrance to its new freight yard from South street that the freight offices at Quincy and Quincy Adams may be consolidated and located at the new yard.

It will not be far from the first of September before the new yard will be ready to use.

The Old Cedar.

The trunk of the old cedar tree which years ago crowned Merrymount, is still in existence. It was by the stable on the estate of Mrs. John Quincy Adams. Mr. W. G. Corthell, who saw it there recently, makes the suggestion that permission be obtained to set it up in front of the High School and adorned with running vines. It is an excellent suggestion and ought to be carried into effect immediately. The tree is historic. For years it was a striking object near the summit of the Mount, and is immortalized on the city seal. Let what remains of it be carefully preserved in the sight of the citizens.

The son lately born in France to Josiah Quincy is named Edmund. In this selection the parents have gone back to the first "immigrant" of the family, and the name under which it earliest came to fame.

The Home Savings bank, located at 75 Tremont Street, Boston, opposite the Tremont Temple, and upwards, deposits of Three Dollars and upwards, and their Deposits and Surplus are now above $5,000,000. See their advertisement in another column.

CITY BRIEFS.

Harry Bates spent Sunday at Camp Hayward.

The afternoons have decreased over half an hour.

Another patent has been issued to William H. Doble.

Miss Carrie L. Bliss has gone to New Hampshire for a four weeks' rest.

The public schools of the city will open three weeks from next Tuesday.

Mrs. Frye is on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. L. W. Glover of Elm street.

Miss Mabel McKenzie of Bigelow street has gone to the coast for two weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. Hunting are rusticating at North Scituate beach for two weeks.

Mrs. John C. Randall has taken up her residence at Colchester for a few weeks.

Another handicap race of the Quincy Yacht club this afternoon off Houghs Neck.

Miss Maud Macfarlane and Miss Mabel McKenzie are at Boothbay, Maine.

Lewis Round and family of Foster street have gone to Portland, Me., for two weeks.

Miss Abby Barnes of Upland road has gone to Hillsboro, N. H., for a two months' vacation.

Miss Ruth Winslow of Brockton has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Friend Crane the past week.

Driver James W. Connell of engine 1 of the Central fire station is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Nina Bates of this city is the guest of Sept. and Mrs. A. H. Walcott of Canton for a few weeks.

Miss Eva M. Brown will be a guest in Judge Gleason's family, Thetford, Vermont, for a few weeks.

The Rev. D. M. Wilson and family are at West Charleston, Vt., where they will remain for the summer.

Mrs. William E. Howe of Bigelow street has gone to Hartford, Conn., to visit her niece, Mrs. Mabel Hodges Hunt.

C. H. Moore of Upland road, book keeper for the Quincy Beef Company, left Friday last, for a week's visit in Maine.

John W. Hall and family of Hancock street left Saturday for their summer cottage at Houghs Neck, for a few weeks' sojourn.

Mrs. C. M. Osgood of Washington street, is entertaining two of her grand-children from Philadelphia during the month of August.

Miss Lottie Harris of Coddington street has returned from a two weeks' vacation pleasantly spent with her sister at Canton.

Miss Mae Langley of Washington street was entertained by Mrs. G. A. Bruff at their summer cottage at Houghs Neck last week.

Mrs. E. W. Sheppard and party of friends have been registered at the "Boylston," Marblehead Neck, during the Quincy Yacht club cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kerins of Adams street have returned from Revere beach where they spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. James R. Malcolm.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Williams and children of Washington street have gone to Provincetown, where they will remain during the rest of the school vacation.

The attractive new house of W. C. Hunt on Miller Stile road is nearly completed. It is a six room cottage with modern conveniences built by W. R. Loggren.

Capt. Henry L. Kincade, adjutant of the Fifth Regiment, M.V.M., has been in camp with the regiment at Duxbury this week. Mrs. Kincade was a visitor at camp on Sunday.

A new court of the Foresters of America was instituted at East Weymouth Tuesday evening. The degree work was performed by Court John Erickson of Quincy.

The launch of the six-masted schooner W. J. Douglas a week from next Tuesday will be another gala day for Quincy. Many will invite out-of-town friends to witness the launching.

Services in honor of the election of a new Pope were held Sunday at St. John's church. After the last mass there was the blessing of the sacrament followed by the singing of the Te Deum.

Frank P. Pierce and Harry J. McLaughlin of Camp 2, Legion of Spanish War Veterans, have been appointed assistant inspectors general on the staff of Commander-in-Chief Paul R. Hawkins.

Henry Tatof of the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Commission is back from a vacation spent at the Brookfields and other watering places among the Berkshire hills.

There was a pleasant party of 200 who went to Nantasket Point Tuesday evening, to enjoy the dance given by Elmer W. Baker. After a very pleasant time and a delightful sail the party arrived at Houghs Neck in season to take the late car for their homes.

Mrs. Glover, the mother of Luther W. Glover of Elm street, died suddenly on Tuesday at her home in Washington. Mr. Glover was on a cruise at the time with Messrs. Pfaffmann and Rice, but his friends were successful in communicating the sad news to him.

Secretary of State Olin is going to send a circular to the city and town clerks of Massachusetts inclosing a list of the dealers in coal and coke who have been licensed in that city or town, and calling attention to the law of 1897 providing that the license is to be issued upon the payment of such fee and under such conditions and terms as may be prescribed by the local authorities.

The will of the Rev. Francis A. Friguglietti of Quincy left in the Norfolk registry at Dedham for probate bequeaths all his estate, real, personal and mixed, and of whatever kind and nature to the Most Rev. John J. Williams of Boston. The bill was executed Jan. 3, 1894, and the Rev. Anthony Rossi of Brighton and Dr. Thomas F. Padula of Neponset as named, as its executors.

It was witnessed by Ambrose F. Roche, Francis A. Cunningham and John W. McAnaney.

Judge Avery gave his finding on Monday in the case of Eugene H. Sprague who was arraigned in court last week for assault on Arthur H. Doble. Judge Avery said that the paper in question had no value, and it was only a whim on the defendant's part to retain it. He therefore found that the defendant's own testimony the assault was unjustifiable. He therefore found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $10. Sprague appealed and furnished bonds in $200.

Master Carl Mansfield of Davis street, is visiting his uncle in Somerville.

Mr. George H. Stebbins of Bromfield street is spending his vacation in Foxboro.

WOLLASTON.

Edward Mullins has returned from Easton.

The City Council will not meet until Sept. 8.

Chief of Police Hayden has gone to Bangor, Me., on a vacation.

Will Quincy estouché over the centennial birthday of Thomas Crane.

The league games today will be at Quincy Point and South Quincy.

Miss May Chapman of Shelburne Falls is the guest of Miss Beatrice Walker.

Almost three weeks without a bell alarm for fire, in a city of 30,000 population.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dewson left Wednesday night for a short trip to Boothbay, Maine.

Messrs J. E. Hayward and Henry Chubbuck have gone to Orono for a little rest and recreation.

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Hallwell left Friday for a week's trip to New Hampshire, driving over the road.

The engagement was announced Thursday evening of Miss Mabel Silva to Mr. Herbert Wilbur Cook of Campbell.

The Childs boy who was hurt in the runaway accident at Houghs Neck was able to leave the Hospital on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bradford, who have been enjoying their wedding trip at Watch Hill, R. I., are expected home today.

Again on Thursday Judge Everett C. Bumpus sailed for Europe. He was a saloon passenger on the S.S. Mayflower for Liverpool.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stetson have as guests at West Harwich this week Mr. E. C. Tuttle and family from Rockland, Maine.

Miss Agnes Doyle and Miss Geneva Furish of Upland road are rusticating during the summer months at Bath, Me., and other Maine watering places.

Capt. Cully took the employees of Guy's coliseum for a sail down the harbor Wednesday afternoon. The party stopped at Hull where dinner was served.

Should the Merrymounts win today and the Wollastons, the first of the season, the Merrymounts will be at the head of the Quincy league and the Quincy at the foot. Who said they would?

Mrs. Sally Harris of this city, who will be ninety years old in November, went alone by electric to Brockton this week to visit her great niece, Mrs. F. L. Hartwell.

G. H. Joslin will leave on Monday for Winchendon, and will drive from there to Surry, N. H., where for the third year he will attend the Old Home Week celebration.

H. T. Stiff of the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Commission is back from a two weeks' vacation in parts unknown to his fellow engineers.

On Saturday N. B. Fernald, agent for the M. S. P. C. A., was called to North Weymouth where he killed a poor starved and abandoned horse which had been left in a field this side of Hingham bridge.

Joseph Hill attended on Wednesday the funeral of his father, Mr. Jacob Hill of East Bridgewater. He was a member of the Civil War and three officers of his company were present at the funeral.

George A. Brackett of Chestnut street attended the second annual reunion of the National association of the Brackett family held Thursday at Peaks Island, Portland harbor. Resolutions were adopted on the death of Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed.

The little kitten, that so playfully attempted to cross the track in front of a coming electric, Tuesday afternoon, in the rear of the Unitarian church, returned to the piazza from which it came, a few minutes later, much sadder and wiser and with experience of ages stamped upon it. The occupants of a waiting car breathed a sigh of relief at the happy result.

Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, with ladies, held their annual outing Wednesday evening at Nantasket Point. There were about one hundred in the party. They left Quincy in special cars at 6.40 and upon their arrival at Nantasket Point went to town to one of Dr. Wade's shore dinners.

After dinner there was dancing and other amusements, and all enjoyed a grand good time.

On the opening of Thursday morning's session of the District Court Judge Avery announced his decision on the question of Clerk Churchill's authority to issue writs, sustaining the clerk.

The question arose two weeks ago in the course of a mechanic lien on a building in Edison Park. The finding of the court was telegraphed to Mr. Churchill who is away on a vacation and anxious to know the limits of his powers in labor suits.

WEST QUINCY.

Charles W. Smith of Nelson street, sailed Tuesday via Plant Line steamer "Halifax" on a tour to principal points in Nova Scotia and also to visit his old home in Antigonish, N. S. He will be gone three or four weeks.

There was a jolly company of South and West Quincy and Milton people to the number of 65 on board a special car bound for Nantasket beach Tuesday evening. The outfit was got up by the popular and genial pilot dispenser, Mr. Fred Swain, of South Quincy. The car arrived at the beach at 8.40, returning at 11.00, giving over two hours for "this, that and the other."

A business meeting of the Ladies' Social Union of West Quincy, N. E. Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. Cheever Carley, Willard street, Tuesday evening. Business pertaining to the last lawn party was discussed and it was found that the sum of $110 had been realized. A good number were present. Ice and cake were served.

Dr. Dion is out with a new automobile. It is a Rambler.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

Charles Hall of Quincy Point captured two firsts at the horse racing in Wareham last week. Aquiline in the three-minute class, and Mill Stream in the 2.40 class were the horses to bring home the money.

T. F. Merrill and family have moved into their new residence, corner Washington and Pray streets, Quincy Point, which was recently completed. J. W. Pratt was the architect and Julius Johnson the builder and the result of their work does both gentlemen great credit.

The first of the series of meetings under the auspices of the Law and Order Committee of the Washington Street church, which are to be held until after the license question is settled next December, was held in the Quincy Point church Sunday evening.

There was a good attendance and marked interest shown in the address. The principal speaker was Rev. Mr. Henry W. Morse, pastor of the church of Boston, and he was followed by two of his assistants. Music was furnished by the church quartette.

The Law and Order Committee of Quincy Point are determined to leave no stone unturned that will help swell the majority for No-license in Quincy next December.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brown of Brooklyn, N. Y., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mueller.

Capt. Crowley is a daily visitor at Fore River plant, being interested in Mrs. six-masted schooner, W. L. Douglas.

The Misses Martha B. and Annie B. Wisley of Edinboro are enjoying an outing at Old Orchard beach.

A class from the Lawrence Scientific school at Harvard University, accompanied by Prof. W. F. Burke, spent most of Wednesday at the Fore River plant.

There was a small-sized riot on Pond street Tuesday morning. Timothy J. O'Connell is contractor for a section of the Quincy sewer, and O'Connell's foreman, James O'Brien, was roughly used. The arrival of the police and the arrest of Antonio Fresno and Michael Fabre, who were said to be the two men who started the trouble, brought peace.

SOUTH QUINCY.

Miss Alice Jones and her friend, Miss Eva G. Parrie, are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dell at Plum Cove cottage, Lanesville.

Mrs. George Gauthier of 46 Presidents avenue and Mrs. Robert Weir and family of Newton Center have gone to St. John, N. B.

Mr. John Robertson and family are to move from Water street to the corner of Penn street.

Mrs. Hugh Ross of Liberty street has gone to Old Town, Maine, for the month of August.

Mrs. John McLean of 128 Liberty street, is the guest of friends at Roxbury for two weeks.

The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wendell of Goddard street is seriously ill with pneumonia.

The Misses Alma and Bertha Reed of Liberty square, South Quincy, have gone to the beach for the balance of the school vacation.

Miss Emma E. Marneock and family are moving this week from Penn street, to their new house on Bennington street.

Mr. Edmund D. Henry of 138 Franklin street is spending the month of August at Little Compton, R. I.

Miss Katie Desmond of Revere road and Miss Hannah Faircloth of Mt. Pleasant have gone to New York and Buffalo for a few weeks.

Nines from the granite yards of Long & Stander and Andrew Milne will play ball this afternoon for half a cord of wood on the grounds of Centre street.

Dr. Fenimore S. Andrews left Thursday for a vacation, to be absent until September 1.

Letter Carrier John D. Williams and wife have gone to Portland for the Old Home Week festivities.

John W. Shaw who has been at Orleans for some months was in Quincy on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig of Independence avenue have gone on a visit to New Hampshire and Vermont for a few weeks.

The alarm from Box 37 at 12.45 A.M. Friday, was for a slight fire in Currie Bros. ice cream saloon on Water street. The fire started from some unknown cause under the counter. There was but little fire and the principal damage was by smoke and heat. The loss will not exceed $150.

The funeral of G. Simon Bennett, the victim of the assault case at Quincy Woods on Sunday, July 26, was held yesterday from St. John's church. Services were conducted by Rev. William J. Foley. They were attended by delegations from the Quincy branch of the Irish National League, and from the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association, both of which organizations sent flowers. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

HOUGHS NECK.

Miss May Doherty of Natick has been at Houghs Neck for a few weeks' rest.

Miss Blanch Warner of Church street, Marlboro, is spending her vacation with friends at Houghs Neck.

Michael F. McCormick and family of Stoughton have arrived at Houghs Neck for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Billings and their daughter Mrs. Adelaide D. Billings of Canton arrived Saturday at Houghs Neck for the balance of the season.

A hop for the benefit of St. Francis church by-the-sea was held in Fensboro hall Monday evening, and was largely attended. John T. Cavanaugh was floor director.

A Boston paper reports that Patrick Shea, 27 years old, of Houghs Neck, Quincy, was riding in one of the cars of the elevated at about 11.45 Saturday night in Roxbury. He sat down on a pile of glass and cut his left thigh very badly. He was taken to the City hospital in the ambulance of division 9.

Arthur Cavanaugh has launched his new 18-footer, May G., at Houghs Neck.

The Massachusetts State Temperance Reform Club held its 10th quarterly convention at Houghs Neck, Wednesday and made plans for an active temperance campaign this fall. A dinner and sports were enjoyed.

Mr. Bridgman of the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Commission gave a watermelon social, Wednesday afternoon, to a few friends, at the corner of Sea and Palmer streets. It was a watermelon-chill social for all. The entire engineering force turned out.

One of the features at the annual outing of the Emmet Club of Brockton, to be held at Pawsey's farm, Quincy, on August 30, says the Enterprise, will be a monster clam bake. The committee is arranging with a master of the art of preparing clams in the open air to take charge of the bake and it will be done in the style of the famous New England feature. It is expected that there will be 100 or more at the outing.

The indications are that there will be no general illumination at Houghs Neck this year as the two factions cannot agree. Each mistrusts the other, and neither keeps have not made much money this season and do not feel like contributing.

Ex-Representative John McManus of South Boston and family are in the Mabel cottage on Shennott street.

Mrs. J. Downey and family of Hyde Park occupy the Taber cottage on Bay View avenue.

The Master Builders' Association of Boston were at the beach on Thursday. The hole on Sea street near the residence of Mr. Tilley has been filled with gravel and the pond has disappeared.

Mrs. Beale who is in a cottage on Bay View avenue.

Mrs. F. A. Oliver and family of Arlington enjoy life at the Fox cottage on Winthrop street.

The flying horses have stopped. Someone who thought the proprietor was making more than he was in his store entered a complaint, and the police ordered him to stop as he had no license. Before he could get a license the City Council adjourned.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gazzett and family of Roxbury are at the Wanderers' Home cottage on Winthrop street.

The new eight nearly authorized by the City Council are being put in on Sea street.

J. M. Fitzgerald and family of Dorchester occupy the Littleton cottage on Weymouth street.

Miss Nellie Donovan of Whitman and Park streets, who is enjoying life at the Little George cottage on Weymouth street.

Miss C. Harrington of Dorchester is at the Hill cottage on Rock Island road.

Miss Annie Murphy of Brockton and party of friends occupy the Fleur-de-lis cottage.

D. J. Manning and family of Dorchester are in a cottage on Parkhurst street.

W. H. Bragg and family of Roxbury enjoy the sea breezes at the Madeline cottage on Darrow street.

J. Chamberlain and family of Braintree are in the Dewey cottage on Sea street.

—J. H. Prince of Dedham is in bankruptcy.

ATLANTIC.

Miss Stenzel of Botolph street is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shaw, Long Island, after which she will resume her duties as instructor of the modern languages in the Portsmouth, N. H., High school.

Miss Maud Gray of Botolph street is returning from Fertilizer, N. B.

Miss Ella Horton of Appleton street is spending her vacation in Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kolseth of Walker street started Wednesday on a trip through Maine and New Hampshire.

Miss Emma Curtin of Atlantic street returned from Fertilizer, N. B.

The Atlantic defeated the Franklin of Roxbury in a eleven innings game by a score of 13 to 12.

George Hinkley of Billings street is able to be out once more after his recent accident.

Miss Florence Wilson of Squantum street has gone to Phippsburg, Maine, for a few days.

Mrs. Charles Hadlock and children of Webster street have returned from a month's visit in New Hampshire.

Miss Beatrice and Miss Maud Briggs of Appleton street have gone to Hancock, N. H., until September first.

Miss Sadie and Miss May Melzard of Botolph street started Monday for Holderness, N. H., for three weeks.

There is rejoicing among the clans at Squantum, says the Globe, for George A. Schiller is soon to close his home in the place and sell his home to New York. Mr. Schiller has waged a continual war on the bivalves this summer, ever since last May in fact, and while his friends have made merry the clans have been obliged to "shell out."

Samuel Philbrook of Webster street injured his back on this week and has been under medical care.

A little after five Tuesday afternoon, smoke was seen coming from the doors and windows of William Hammond's house on Billings street. A still alarm was given and the Atlantic chemical house in the spot a short while after. The fire was started by an oil stove exploding. Mrs. Hammond had but recently had the stove, and this was her first attempt to light it. It exploded almost immediately.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1903.

Capizing of the Redskin.

Four well known Quincy gentlemen accepted an invitation of Capt. Sturtevant of the Redskin on Thursday for a sail from Boston out into the bay. In the party were Messrs. J. L. Sturtevant, Thomas L. Sturtevant, Joseph C. Morse, J. Henry Emery, Timothy Reed and Lucius W. Lawton, and there were three others aboard, the captain and a crew of two.

The Redskin is a handsome schooner, 65 feet over all, 38-8 water length, and 5-foot draught, and was built by Embree Bros. of Quincy in 1900. The yacht left Boston about 12 M., and for over two hours a delightful sail was enjoyed. Capt. Sturtevant was making for Hull when the squall at 2:30 came up, and it found them in the worst place in the bay, Hull gut. The report that what happened as follows, but has exaggerated the facts somewhat: Hull gut, so often in the past the scene of death and disaster, came near to adding another chapter to its tragic history Thursday afternoon, when the schooner Redskin, with nine men aboard, was struck by a squall and capsized in the very midst of the seething maelstrom.

For more than an hour the overturned schooner, with nine despairing men drifting about the ground, waited and drifted about among the eddies, until the government steamer Mayflower and the Hull life saving crew came to their rescue.

In the midst of the fearful storm that nearly tore a score or more of the smaller craft at anchor in the bay from their moorings, the crew and passengers of the Redskin, clinging in terror to the overturned boat, were swept wildly about, every instant expecting to be torn from their dangerous position by the waves in which they were almost continually engulfed.

At the same time a small-sized yacht, the name of which, as yet unknown, was capsized but a short distance from the big schooner and whirled on through the gut toward Peddock's Island.

Those on the Redskin could plainly hear the cries for help from the men on the smaller boat, but they were in no position to render aid. Fearing to lose their hold upon the schooner, they were compelled to see the two unfortunate drift away in the distance without being able to help them in any way.

Drenched by the waves which swept continually over their little craft, the two unfortunate finally ceased to call for aid. At last accounts the yacht, almost entirely under water, was seen drifting south of Peddock's and out to sea. Nothing was seen or heard of its two occupants, and it is feared that they perished.

The Redskin, a trim little pleasure schooner of some 30 tons, is one of the fastest and best known vessels of its kind in these waters. All along the coast, from Portland to Provincetown, its gleaming red side and cutter-like shape are known to yachtmen and sailors alike. So is its captain, W. W. Staples, who has been sailing her for several years past. The two other members of the crew are the captain's son, Melvin, and Calvin Stockbridge.

The schooner is owned by Messrs. J. L. and W. H. Sturtevant of Quincy, and yesterday, with a party of four well known business men of that town, including Mr. J. C. Morse and Mr. Emery, a leather dealer of the same place, they started at 12 o'clock from South Boston on a pleasure trip.

For two hours or more, according to Captain Staples, the schooner lay becalmed between Moon and Peddock's islands, and it was nearly 3 o'clock when the entrance to Hull gut was reached.

Suddenly the sky darkened and the crew and passengers realized that a storm was eminent. In the calm that always heralds the approach of the squall the steersman headed the boat directly for the entrance to Hull Bay and prepared to furl the sails.

The topsail had been taken in and the foresail partly furled when the squall caught the craft fairly, just as Mr. J. L. Sturtevant, by the captain's directions, had started to pull on the main sheet.

Struck by the full violence of the gale, the schooner careened and fell squarely on its side, the big sails striking the water with a slap that was heard hundreds of yards away.

Luckily, as the boat toppled over all hands, with the exception of J. L. Sturtevant, who happened to be on the main sheet, sprang to the other side, and clutched desperately at the gunwale. By a superhuman effort Sturtevant was finally able to get a grasp on the deck and was then pulled up beside the others.

In full view of hundreds along the shore, as well as on the Pemberton pier, who had witnessed the accident, the nine drenched and frightened occupants drifted in and out through the gut, while those at Hull were preparing to set about the work of rescue.

Word was at once sent to the Hull life-saving station, and the buoy-tender, which had been on duty at the time, was at once transferred to the capsized schooner.

By this time the Redskin, floating helplessly upon its side, had drifted almost two miles. The waves which ran exceedingly high for a while washed repeatedly over the side of the schooner, drenching the boat and its occupants, and several times the men were nearly torn by the grasp of the sea from their perilous position. Still, with the courage born of despair, they held grimly on until rescue finally reached them.

house tender probably reached them in fifteen minutes and took off Messrs. Emery, Lawton, Reed and Morse. That it then returned and secured the tender of the Redskin, and then the schooner was righted, and found to have been damaged but little.

Later, Capt. Sturtevant gave his guests a grand dinner at the Hull clubhouse, and in the early evening they were taken to Quincy in the launch of the club. For gentlemen of their age it was, however, quite an experience, and one probably they would not care to repeat. It was on the whole a fortunate escape.

CITY BRIEFS.

Evening tides. The last half of August. The sun sets before seven o'clock. Five Saturdays and five Sundays this month.

Louis Weston spent Sunday at Duxbury, Mass.

The steps at the entrance to the First church are being repointed.

Mrs. J. N. Blake of Cottage street is confined to her home by sickness.

Charles H. Penniman left Monday for his outing at Wintthrop, Me.

Henry Maloney of the Weeks & Hill pharmacy is having a brief vacation.

Mrs. Sarah A. Porter is confined to her home on Spring lane seriously ill.

Pea coal is one of the specialties of C. Patch & Son, and it is only $3.50.

Miss H. Frances Cannon of Orchard place is spending her vacation at Lake Champlain.

Mrs. John T. Conway and children have gone to Centerville, Me., for a few weeks' visit.

Miss Jennie Harris of Edwards street is taking a few weeks' rest from regular duties.

Miss Lizzie Newcomb of the Mt. Wollaston bank is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. M. E. Tisdale is having her house on Hancock street beautified by the painter's brush.

P. J. Murphy, of Hartwell's news agency, has gone to Vermont on a two weeks' vacation trip.

Mrs. W. W. Walsh, Harold and Ruth, are at Danvers, Maine, for the month of August.

Mr. Francis Barter of Washington street, owing to poor health, has taken a trip to St. Johns, N. B.

Miss Lottie B. Perry has returned from Sharon, Vermont, where she has been spending her vacation.

Oscar J. Olsen has filed a petition in bankruptcy, placing his liabilities at $3,344.29; assets, $3,945.00.

Mr. George Phillips of Union street, have gone with the G. A. R. veterans on their trip to California.

Russell Topper and Ralph Marden have gone to Post Island where they will camp out for two weeks.

John H. McDougall has returned to his regular duties at the Quincy post office after a ten days' vacation.

The tail-enders of the Quincy baseball league will meet this afternoon and tomorrow night. The two other members of the crew are the captain's son, Melvin, and Calvin Stockbridge.

Ernest W. Adams of Colorado Springs, formerly of Quincy, is the guest of his father, Warren W. Adams of Greenleaf street.

Miss Ada M. Nightingale and Miss Belle Nightingale are at the Mountain View house, North Woodstock, N. H. for two weeks.

Miss Bertha Newcomb of Newcomb street, accompanied by her two aunts, has gone to New Hampshire for a fortnight's rest.

Miss Florence Holton with a party of ten ladies have gone for a two weeks' sojourn at Rose Cliff where they have rented a cottage.

Reports from Barre, Vt., say that all the granite manufacturers are talking about its being their trip to Quincy and the good time they had.

Mrs. Arthur Merritt, son and daughter of Elm Place, have returned from a two weeks' rest pleasantly spent with relatives at Scituate.

Mrs. Ezekiel C. Sargent and two children are the guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Shepard of River street for two weeks.

SOUTH QUINCY.

The Maples of Roxbury defeated the Victors of Quincy on the Liberty street grounds Saturday by a score of 13 to 9. The features of the game were the play of Lawler and Flannigan of the Maples and Collins of the Victors.

Mrs. James Rideson of South Quincy is the guest of Mrs. T. G. Thrasher of the Avon.

Frank F. Crane sold at public auction on Saturday last several attractive house lots belonging to E. S. Costa, corner of Faxon Park road and Phipps street, Quincy, as follows: Two lots Mr. Knowland, one at four, and one at four-and-one-half cents per foot; and one to James O'Brien at five cents per foot.

Mrs. McDonald of Goddard street sailed on the Ivernia last week for Liverpool where she will remain with her husband, Charles McDonald, for a few months, as his headquarters will be at Liverpool instead of Boston. On his last trip from Boston, his ship the Vancouver, had on board Miss Edith Randall and party of this city.

The Salvation Army has erected a tent on Pleasant street and is holding nightly singing services.

Mrs. Florence Flowers has gone to New Hampshire to spend the remainder of her vacation.

The home of Misses Evelyn and Katherine McKenzie, Albertina street, was the scene of a merry surprise Aug. 13. The little girls were not only surprised when they saw their friends but were more so when they were presented with tokens of friendship. Katherine a ring and Evelyn a bracelet. Upon presenting these Miss Ethel McDonald read the presentation address. The evening was spent playing games and singing. Refreshments were served.

Miss Fannie M. Taylor was removed Wednesday to the City Hospital where she will be operated on for appendicitis.

Brookton is to have through cars to the Dudley street terminal in Boston. Will they go first via Quincy or Milton?

Officer J. P. Reddington against whom charges were preferred by Chief Hayden, has at the request of Mayor Bryant resigned.

Today's game in the Quincy baseball league will be at Merrymount park between the South Quincys and the Merrymounts.

This afternoon at 3:30 the West Quincys and Rosindale nine will meet on the American league grounds to fight it out.

The Quincy Base Ball League has decided to use the double umpire system in league games for the balance of the season.

The Montgomery class from the South Street Methodist church at Campello made a trip to Quincy Monday evening and took dinner.

Miss Ida M. Bradbury of this city and Miss Elizabeth Nichols of Dorchester are spending the week at the Brookline House, Cottage City.

Two of the chain gang will be missed for the next eight days, as they will be rustivating in the county building at Dedham and at the county's expense.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Whiton are enjoying a delightful trip of two weeks through Maine, Nova Scotia and the Provinces.

Miss Elizabeth Mouldie of this city and Miss Abbie Cushing of Weymouth are spending a two weeks' vacation at the Perkins cottage, Jackson, New Hampshire.

Mr. Charles P. Slade of Quincy, son of the late James H. Slade, goes to Naugatuck Conn., to assume the duties of High School Principal for the coming year.

Mr. J. R. Anderson of Wollaston will speak at Bethany Congregational church Sunday evening of the Floating Hospital of Boston, with which he is connected.

Alfred H. Johnson, the Holbrook cigar dealer, who sold Agent Davies of the Watch and Ward Agency a picture for seventy-five cents will have to pay a fine of $100.

Fred B. Rice, George E. Pfaffman, Paul R. Blackmer and Herman F. McIntire returned Monday from a week's cruise along the north and south shores in the yacht Yvelia.

Caterer Remick and wife took advantage of the trolley trip to Worcester Thursday and report having had a pleasant time. The scenery is beautiful at this time of the year.

Five "Reggie" coupons have already been published. Ten consecutive numbers and one from the Quincy Patriot are necessary to obtain this fascinating Quincy game of 64 cards. It is purely local and of historical value and worth $1.

Edward J. Morgan and Clara Blackbird, the former as "John Stone" and the latter as "Gloria Quale," head the big cast of "The Christian" at the Boston Theatre for one week commencing Aug. 24. Miss Blackbird is Miss Clara Dickey, formerly of Quincy.

Andrew J. Field died at his sister's, Mrs. Munroe Crane's, at Dover Plains, New York, on Tuesday evening. His remains were brought to this city on Thursday, and buried in the Mount Wollaston cemetery. He was a son of William Field who resided at South Quincy, and will be remembered by many Quincy boys who lived in this town fifty years ago.

It will not be so easy in the future for drunks to get a continuance of their cases, to enable them to pay their fine, as it has been in the past. Hereafter it almost invariably happens that when a fellow was fined in court for drunkenness he asked for time to raise his fine which was granted. Of late however it has been necessary to default some of the men as they did not come to time. The court does not like this and hereafter if a man is fined for drunkenness and he is shy, the chances are he will have an opportunity to work it out at Dedham.

There came near being a small riot at the Quincy depot on the arrival of the late train Saturday night, and if the crowd had attempted to carry out its threat there would have been trouble and broken heads. It, however, only emphasized again the necessity of adopting some method of controlling the Fore River gang that come out on the late train Saturday night. They are sober enough to pass the officers on duty at the South Terminal station, but drunk enough to make a nuisance of themselves when they arrive at Quincy.

The Democratic state committee will meet on Tuesday at the Revere House and decide on the date of the state convention and make arrangements.

CASTORIA. The kind you have always bought. Bears the Signature of Cast-A-Rita.

WOLLASTON.

Miss Marie Schlander of Marlboro street has returned from Foxboro, where she has been enjoying a month's vacation at Ashcroft farm.

Ellerton Williams and George Stebbins, of Wollaston Park are home again, after enjoying country life for two weeks at Foxboro, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Tobey and Charles Luard of Prospect avenue have gone to Nova Scotia to spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Tobey and Charles Luard of Prospect avenue have gone to Nova Scotia to spend several weeks.

Mrs. Charles M. Bryant went to New Bedford this week to visit her sister, Mrs. Smith.

Master Albert Maxwell of Concord, N. H., is visiting his grandfather, A. H. Maxwell of Hampton circle.

Master George L. York of York Beach, Me., is visiting her sister, Mrs. George R. Fraser of Beach street. Mr. and Mrs. Fraser will start on their long journey about Sept. 1st.

Mrs. Julia E. Page of Wollaston is visiting her daughter Mrs. Abbie Dickey at Wintthrop beach.

Miss Ruth started is enjoying a vacation with relatives in West Somerville.

Miss Rena Grant has returned from a two months' outing at Milton, N. H. Miss Susie M. Page is spending a part of her school vacation at Revere beach.

The Barbours of Grand View avenue are at Weymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Walker of Grand View avenue, returned Saturday, having been away for the past three months.

Linda Fowler is spending his vacation in Sussex, Nova Scotia.

Frank W. Knowlton, agent for the United Shoe Machinery Co., in Montreal, Canada, and formerly a resident of Wollaston, was in town last week on a flying visit.

W. W. Lane of Birch street, Wollaston has in his garden a hollyhock which stands 9 feet, 6 inches in height. Can anyone beat this?

ATLANTIC.

Miss Winifred Kendall of Walker street is spending a week at Tyngsboro, as the guest of Miss Grace Washburn.

Miss Fannie Hayes of Appleton street is taking a week's vacation at Wellfleet.

Ralph Hobbs of Atlantic is having a week's vacation.

Howard Tirrell of Norfolk Downs is visiting his sister in Worcester.

Miss Mary Dinnie has been visiting Miss Lillian Hammond of Billings street.

The Congregational church will meet with the Atlantic M. E. church in union services the last two Sundays of this month. To all the services we extend a cordial invitation to every one.

The evening services will be a continuation of the special study of the misunderstood books of the Bible. If the story of Solomon and the book of Jonah have troubled you come out and study them with us.

Miss Martina Fitz of Lynn who has been the guest of Miss Etta Gerry the past two weeks returned to her home on Saturday.

Misses Margaret, Nellie and Miss Alice Gerry of Atlantic, Miss Jennie McCarthy of Wollaston, Miss Mollie Hastings of Lynn, Misses Dolly and Margaret Fallon and Miss Julia Mara of Cambridge have returned from a fortnight's vacation at Center Harbor, N. H. They were registered at the Maple cottage.

Arthur J. Parker has succeeded W. S. Weaver as station agent at Atlantic.

Roger H. Wilde and family of Billings street have gone to Greene, Maine, for a week.

Miss Bessie Drew has returned from Hyannis where she has been attending Normal school.

Capt. Pillsbury Combs of Billings street was hurt by one of his horses last week. He was kicked in the leg with such force that he was thrown several feet. He struck a wheelbarrow, and injured his side severely. He is being attended by Dr. Littlefield.

Atlantic has never had such a number of bathers as have taken advantage of the salt water this summer. The beach has been improved by the removal of some of the old grass and sea-weed, and if the popularity of swimming continues, Atlantic will outlive the city which bears its name.

"Work has commenced on the improvement of the Ward Six playground. Walks are being laid out across it, and it is being brought to grade with loam.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole of Atlantic have returned from a very pleasant vacation of two weeks at Milford, N. H., with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong.

The alarm from Box 62 at 12:52 Tuesday was for a fire on the Quincy end of Neponset bridge. It was but a slight fire and was extinguished without any loss.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

Mrs. J. Peterson of Edison street with her daughters Marion and Doris, are rusticating in the Thousand Isles. Misses Helen and Catherine Hurley of Marlboro are also of the party.

Misses Helen and Catherine Hurley of Marlboro are also of the party. They make short stops in Montreal and Quebec, prior to arriving at the pleasure resort on the St. Lawrence river.

David Kidder has resigned his position with the Old Colony street railway to go to Boston.

W. E. Atkins, foreman of the machine shops of the Hanley Construction Co., at Quincy Point, has resigned his position to accept one as first assistant engineer on A. C. Burroughs' steam yacht, Aztec, which has recently returned from a cruise up the Mediterranean.

Washington street between Pond street and the state highway is being resurfaced.

With the delivery of Fore River of the steel castings for the sternpost and little remains to complete the framing of the hull of the Fall River line freight steamer. Already the shell-plating are being put on and the heavy castings of the sternpost and sternpost are being assembled in the machine shop. The ribbands are being placed in preparation for the erection of the frames of the passenger boat for the Fall River line and the keel has been made ready.

The Old Colony Street railway is laying its underground conduits on Washington and Chubbuck streets.

The rooms of four boarders at the Gilmore House at Quincy Point were entered Wednesday afternoon by a sneak thief, and two watches, a suit of clothes, a revolver and $14 in cash are among the articles missing.

In the distribution of the naval vessels for fall repairs the torpedo boat destroyer Lawrence will be sent to the Norfolk yard. The following will come to Boston: Nashville, Scorpion, Newport, Hiss and Arethusa.

Blue Hills Accessible.

The wilderness reservations of the metropolitan park system will not completely meet the purposes for which they were intended, says the Herald, until they have been made easily accessible by popular transit facilities.

A long step in this direction, it adds, has just been taken in the opening of the new line of the Blue Hills street railway that connects directly with the Boston Elevated system and carries passengers speedily to the chief objective point in the greatest of our public pleasure grounds.

The facilities thus provided are in pursuance of arrangements whereby a threatened trolley line invasion of the Blue Hills by a route across the reservation that might have marred some of its most treasured features, including the tranquility of Marigold valley, was abandoned in favor of the present excellent route to direct almost to make a bee line from the Dudley street terminal, and at the same time give excursionists the enjoyment of much charming scenery on the way.

In pursuance of the general policy of the Boston Elevated, which admits outside systems to immediate connection with its rapid transit service, the car of the new Blue Hills line come to the elevated terminal at Dudley street to deliver and receive their through passengers. Excursionists are thus taken out toward Franklin Park, so that a visit to that beautiful pleasure ground may thus be easily made a part of the programme for a day's outing.

From Franklin Park the route to Neponset river is by Blue Hill avenue. This fine thoroughfare has for some time been amplified to the boulevard type, with a turfed reserve space for electric cars—a scheme that it takes in its conjunction with Warren street at Grove Hall.

At Mattapan the Neponset river is crossed by the handsome new parkway bridge just completed. Thence, on the Milton side, the route for a short distance is over the Blue Hill parkway of the metropolitan system, whence it follows the shore of the Neponset river, an air line to the base of Great Blue Hill. Blue Hill avenue in Milton, in accordance with the wise policy of that town in permitting street railways only upon highways provided with turfed reserve spaces, has been given a boulevard type, and is somewhat greater than that of the Milton streets that lately were so adapted.

A ten-cent fare takes the excursionist from almost anywhere on the Boston Elevated system to the Blue Hills. The distance from Dudley street is covered in something like forty minutes. At the foot of Great Blue Hill connection is made with the cars to Canton, and also with a line of barges to Hooisic Wharf pond in the Blue Hills reservation.

The pond is a beautiful piece of water, surrounded by fine scenery. Here two metropolitan park commission has established a casino with opportunities for rest and refreshment, and there are also bathing and bathing facilities.

The climb to the summit of Great Blue Hill is easily made from the end of the car route. The Charles Elliot memorial path and bridge will be completed there in the near future.

"Complaint is made that the 'Star Spangled Banner' is not treated with due respect when played at places of amusement and in explaining that it is not popularly recognized as the national anthem, 'America' is decided, with the observation that 'since the air is borrowed, we cannot look upon it as our own.' The critics of 'America' do not seem to know that the 'Star Spangled Banner' is in the same case, since its tune is that of the eighteenth century English drinking song, 'Anacreon in Heaven.' Imaginative people have found in the music to which Francis Scott Key's verses were written the very genius of patriotism, battle, triumph and glory, but its splendid and stirring strains were not wrought by Fort McHenry in view—Springfield Republican.

Box 61 was pulled at 6:42 A.M. Thursday for a slight fire caused by a kerosene stove exploding in the house of Mr. Frazier on Morton street. The damage was slight.

Now it is said that the clubhouse of the South Quincy Yacht club will cost $7,000 to $8,000 as the foundation, etc., is not included in the contract for the building.

Mr. Charles Ewell, Jr., and wife of Norfolk Downs have had their family made larger by twin boys, all are doing well.

Mrs. A. Warren Dow of Salisbury is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clements of Freeman street.

Mrs. E. Mansfield of Davis street is visiting her sister at Newton.

William Brown of Elm avenue is at Belgrade Lake, Maine, for several weeks.

Miss Winnie Seaman of Hampton circle is spending her two weeks vacation at Collamore Cottage, North Scituate.

The Yacht Sheila, Capt. Lyman Hewitson, arrived in Marblehead Friday, Aug. 14, homeward bound from Casco Bay, Me. With Fred White, William Jones and 'Billy' Patterson he has been cruising since Aug. 2.

E. A. Seely of Hampton circle is taking his outing on his yacht cruising along the north shore.

The next event of the Wollaston Yacht club is the third championship race on Saturday next week.

Hardest Making and Repairing. All orders promptly attended and faithfully executed.

Buy your Rubber Tires of us. Factory Quincy Ave., QUINCY, MASS.

HOUGH'S NECK.

Inspector McKay with Officers Goodhue and Curtin visited the premises of Thomas Coffey at Houghs Neck at 2 A. M. Sunday and seized two gallons of whiskey.

Miss Mollie Cable of Jamaica Plain was the guest at Camp Elizabeth, Houghs Neck, last week.

About fifty of the patients of the Hospital for Incurable Cripples at Dorchester were given an outing at Houghs Neck on Tuesday, and everybody did their best to have these poor unfortunate have a good time, which they certainly did. It was pitiful to see some of the cripples. Apparently in the best of bodily health, but crippled in such a manner as to be almost helpless.

Smelts have begun to run and some good catches have been taken off Houghs Neck.

Rev. Mr. Cates has been joined by his wife and family at the Woodbine cottage.

Rev. A. A. Ellsworth preached very acceptably at the Houghs Neck chapel last Sunday.

The season at Houghs Neck is drawing to a close, next week the summer will begin to move homeward so that they may get settled in their winter homes before the schools reopen. In some ways the season has been a success, and in other ways it has not. There are undesirable people at the beach every year, but it seems as though there had been more this year than ever. It is no fault of the real estate agents who let the cottages. People who are apparently respectable rent cottages and then turn about and let them to crowds of young men who behave themselves during the day but make things hum after the police officer has gone home for the night.

H. D. Fisher and family of Winchester are in the Fleure de lis cottage on Charles street.

Merton H. Willis and family of Brookton are tenting on Charles street.

J. E. King and family of Somerville occupy a cottage on Parkhurst street.

A. Blomberg and family of Dorchester are enjoying the sea breezes at the Willow cottage on River road.

J. M. Sullivan and family of Dorchester are in the Madeleine cottage on Dorchester street.

H. M. Jones and family of Somerville occupy the Grand View cottage on Hay View avenue.

J. F. Heckman and family of Dorchester are in a cottage on River road.

C. M. Hickey and family of Brookton enjoy life in the Virginia cottage.

Will the flying houses fly or not, is the question now under discussion. Fifteen minute cars are run on the street railway afternoon and evenings.

H. D. Fitzgerald and family of Dorchester have rented the Rena cottage on Parkhurst street.

Frank Carroll and family of Hyde Park are in the Clara Finch cottage on Charles street.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1903.

VOL. 67, NO. 35.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 1424 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made
when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Braintrust Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer

SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

INSURANCE AGENCY.

ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1840 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

Electric Call Bell
Wired Complete $2.50. Guaranteed One Year Repairing Guaranteed.

A. RUSSELL JONES,
1362 Hancock Street, Quincy.
May 27.

JOHN W. MCANARNEY,
COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUBOIS & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER and BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6.

J. E. KENLEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6.

A. W. PARKER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Cor. Putnam and Merrymount Road, Quincy.
HOUSES FOR SALE and to LET.
Plans furnished.
Jobbing Promptly Attended to.

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates
given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, QUINCY, MASS.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLVD, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Also, MONDAY and FRIDAY Evenings,
7 to 9.
Telephone number, 146-2.
Aug. 16.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Rooms 5 and 6, Durgin & Merrill's Block,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 9 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
ABINGTON STREET, WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, & Contractor
AND
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates
given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
Telephone, 69-2
June 19.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!
OF ALL KINDS.
DRY AND GREEN
At Lowest Possible prices.
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
Yard off Miller and West Streets,
WEST QUINCY.
Quincy, Jan. 10.

PARLOR FURNITURE.

First Impressions last, therefore be careful of the first impression your visitors have of your home.

If the parlor is furnished in an attractive manner the impression is good.

We have just received from the makers the newest novelties and most attractive Parlor Furniture you have ever seen.

We can make your parlor a dream if you will accept our assistance, and the small cost will amaze you.

Parlors furnished from

$25.00 to $150.00.

It will please us to have you call and look over Parlor novelties.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store.
Hancock Street, Quincy.

Stores close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock during July and August.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

EBEN SMITH
1872

MRS. EBEN SMITH.
1897.

PICTURE FRAMING.

FINE GOLD WORK.

147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.

Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.

Oct. 12.

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

U

Poetry.

The Bush-Sparrow.

JOHN BURROUGHS

In the busy pastures
Ere April days are done,
Or along the forest border
Ere the cheviot has begun,
In the Spicula thicket
In notes that chiding run
Like warblers in the water
That go rippling in the sun.
He hides in weedy vineyards
When August days are here,
And taps the purple clusters
For a little social cheer;
The boys have caught him at it,
The poet is fairly clear;
Still I find him welcome,
The little bird that sings;
He pays me in his music,
And pays me every year.

Miscellany.

Deacon Goodyear's Wooings.

Miss Lucretia Potter sprang from her chair and hurried toward the window, lastly removing her near-to glasses, and bringing her "far-off" down from the top of her head, where - to save valuable time - they were kept; for the road made a sharp turn just below the house, and a passer-by, as Miss Lucretia herself said, "often took them unaware." Today no moving object was visible in the dusty road that stretched between her garden fence and the white church across the way, but Miss Lucretia stood peering cautiously out with little bird-like motions of the head.

North of the low brick house stretched the village cemetery, and over the picket fence, from the cemetery side, leaned a tall man with iron gray beard, in close conversation with a slender woman on the garden side, whose head and face were concealed by a huge sun-bonnet. His hands grasped a garden rake, the handle of which he had drawn absently along the pickets, making a clattering sound which grated on Miss Lucretia's nerves. The woman held a trowel, with which she seemed to punctuate her remarks by appropriate gestures. Presently they separated and she came slowly toward the house, pausing to straighten a stalk of sweet-william which leaned over the narrow path. When she entered the sitting-room Miss Lucretia was industriously piecing patchwork by her own especial window.

"That you, Maria?" she said, without looking up. Maria assented, and she removed her bonnet and her complexion clear. It was the common opinion in Pineville that Maria Potter held her age far better than Lucretia, who was two years her junior.
"There," she said, in a tone of relief, "I've made a good start on that backyard, and 'twas quite time. I want everything around the place in good shape by the time snow flies." It was now the last of August.
Miss Lucretia picked up some imaginary threads from the carpet, straightened a tidy and took out her knitting.
"I saw Deacon Goodyear out in the cemetery, Lucretia," she said presently.
"You don't say so," exclaimed Miss Lucretia.
"Yes. He come down to the fence to ask whether he'd plant snowballs or sprigs at the corners of his lot. Poor man! He don't seem to be getting over Carina's death a mite. He spoke real feelingly about his getting along alone and said he'd fust'n' round among her things."

"He's a good man with a great loss. Carina was his own woman, though, if I do say it, she always seemed kind of standoffish with us," said Miss Lucretia, thoughtfully.
"Well, maybe 'twas natural. Of course she couldn't help knowin' how much he used to be here."
Here Miss Lucretia blushed faintly, and Miss Maria looked conscious.
"Still," continued Miss Maria, "if Carina hadn't been over-sensitive, she'd of got over that in thirty years. But there, she's gone, poor soul, and far be it from me to say any hurt of her. Thirty years last June it is. I remember the day they appeared out. She had a green berce and a chip bonnet. They were a handsome couple. I can see them now."

Miss Lucretia was silent. But she remembered, too. A sick headache had kept her home from church, but she had risen and peeked out through the blinds as the bridal party came down the steps. She remembered how the green berce had caught on a burdock bush beside the path, and Carina had stopped to disentangle it, while the deacon had walked on without missing her.

"I always thought," went on Miss Maria, after a long pause, in which she had dropped the thumb of her mitten, "that he'd kept on coming here if he and father hadn't been on different sides in that church trouble. Of all things on earth to create bad feelings that can't be got over, give me a church quarrel. Of course, after that father never would hear of such a thing, even if you'd consented."

Deacon Goodyear's family lot in the cemetery had been carefully selected near the side of the yard, because, as the deacon said, "Carly always liked to be on the 'sides' of things." The middle had no attractions for her. In his desire to humor this phase of her character it never occurred to him that Carina might have preferred to rest a little further from the Potter household.

The deacon himself, as time went on, found the proximity quite pleasing. It was very convenient in his frequent visits to the cemetery to lean over the fence where Miss Maria was usually at work in the garden and seek advice on any point of household economics with which his masculine brain was inadequate to cope. And the conferences led to an occasional exchange of courtesies, such as a pumpkin pie on Miss Maria's part, or a kindly offer from the deacon to empty the soft-soap trough.

Autumn came on apace. The maples in the Potter yard fluttered their crimson leaves down upon Carina's grave. Miss Maria exchanged her sunbonnet for a hood and hurried preparations for a good and hurried preparation for the winter.
Invitations to sociables began to come in, for the Potter sisters were popular in Pineville; but to her sister's surprise Miss Maria announced her intention of having a sociable at home.
"We might invite Deacon Goodyear over," she said.
"Then I kind of thought that maybe your turn came next. But neither did you want me. Then, having fulfilled my duty to the best of my knowledge, there didn't seem to be any reason why I shouldn't follow my inclination and ask Lucretia. 'Twas her I wanted all the time.'"

He paused. Miss Maria poked the fire vigorously.
"Carina was a good wife to me," said the deacon, reflectively. She stood by me through thick and thin, and we have reversed the part of the deacon together. But I wanted Lucretia thirty years ago."

Miss Maria hung the poker back with a jerk.
"Well," she said, "Lucretia's of age and some considerable over. If she wants to marry she can." - Harriet A. Nash.

How to Use the Cool Bath.

An effective and useful bath for one person would be worse than a point to another. A certain college student at Yale who had imbibed the idea of the beneficial effects of the cool bath was found to be growing noticeably thin.

He ate fairly well, but he lost in weight every week. He applied for advice to a physician and during examination the fact was elicited that he took a very cold bath every morning, jumping into the bathtub with the water at a low temperature, under the mistaken idea that such a course would harden his constitution. The result was just the opposite. He lost weight and strength.

The cool bath improperly used works great mischief. With a very weak person a quick sponge with water at a temperature of eighty-five degrees will produce the necessary tonic effect. A healthy person, however, can use water at seventy degrees, a still stronger person at sixty-five and sixty.

The great majority of people in good health, after a little practice, can reduce the temperature to fifty degrees without harm, and, in fact, with positive benefit.

It is by no means necessary to plunge into a bathtub. In most cases a much better way is to sponge the body over quickly on rising, with the water at the proper temperature, wipe off quickly with a dry towel, rubbing the skin with a warm towel over the entire surface of the skin, the whole operation not necessarily taking more than five minutes. There is no better time to begin the use of the cool bath than in hot weather. Continuing regularly as the season grows cooler, there is no greater risk of catching cold as might be the case if one began in midwinter. - Healthy Home.

Curious Caprices.

An eminent authority on mental conditions calls attention to the peculiar fancies and fancies that seem to take hold upon the minds of many persons and to entirely dominate them, much to their disadvantage and often to the deterioration of their mental powers. One man who conceived a fancy for counting the numbers on freight cars, carried this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a certain railroad. Then it entered into his mind that he would count the longer the train. This he did, and found it, after several weeks' watching. Then he was filled with the idea of securing the numbers in succession, and giving his attention to picking them out whenever he went near railroads. He had a book for this purpose, and he completely did this, forgetting errands and neglected his business. He began by having his attention called to the figures on a car that surprised him as indicating a very large number of cars owned by a Launch Today.

The schooner William L. Douglas to be launched from the Fore River shipyard at Quincy at 4 o'clock today is the first six-masted steel schooner ever built, and is the second largest sailing vessel ever built in this country. She is named for W. L. Douglas, the famous shoe manufacturer of Brockton, Mass., who is one of the principal shareholders in the syndicate that owns her.

This vessel was started at Fore River on Dec. 9, 1902, when the keel was stretched, and since that time she has steadily grown till now her clean, graceful hull is a thing of beauty, and a worthy bearer of a worthy name.

She is built of 3-4 steel, jagged plating; is 330 feet 6 inches long over all, 300 feet on the water line, 48 beam, 20 feet 9 inches deep and when loaded will draw 24 feet.

The loaded displacement is 7700 tons, and a full cargo of coal will be 5700 tons, which can be stored on the two lower decks and the bottom. Two large tanks for either cargo or water ballast are built in the hold, amidships.

The six masts are each of steel, with topmasts of Oregon pine, the trucks of which will be 120 feet above the deck; on them will be spread 23 sails, with an area of 32,000 square feet, which, when set, will give the schooner a sailing speed of between eight and nine knots an hour.

On the schooner's deck will be four engines for raising the anchor, hoisting sails and cargo and for moving any of the heavy weights on the vessel; steam will be furnished by a boiler, which will also supply the energy for the dynamo engine that lights the whole vessel, as well as serving the pumps and the steam steering gear and heating the quarters of the officers and the crew.

Owing to the crowded condition of the water-front of the yard, it has been deemed advisable not to open the yard to the public. Persons desirous of witnessing the launching can do so from the Fore River bridge or from the opposite shore.

Mrs. Marion Douglas Russell, daughter of Hon. William L. Douglas of Brockton, will have the honor of christening the six-masted steel schooner to be launched this afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock.

Assassinated.

The news of the assassination of Wm. C. Magelsen, United States vice-consul at Beirut, Syria, which is a part of the dominion of the Sultan, gives this country a severe shock. We have been startled lately by the assassination of a Russian consul in Macedonia. This did not seem an altogether strange happening in view of the revolutionary disturbances there. But there is no political uprising in Syria, so far as we know; and if there were one, it could not be presumed that the United States government was in any manner responsible for it. Hence it is not reasonable to suppose that the motive was a political one. It may have been the work of a religious fanatic; it may have been done in revenge for the satisfaction of some private grudge. The dispatch announcing the fact does not give any particulars that serve to explain it.

President Roosevelt proposes to see that Turkey acts promptly in apprehending and punishing the assassin, and has issued orders that the European squadron, under command of Admiral Cotton, should proceed immediately to Beirut, Syria, and be in readiness to support any demand made by the United States on account of the assassination.

Returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Howland, who returned on Sunday from Europe, experienced a very rough passage, and most of the passengers were seasick. This was the tenth time during the past eleven years that Mr. Howland has visited London. Since his daughter was married and resides there he has made it the practice of crossing the "pond" each year. He has a pleasant time and it does him much good.

He says most everything in Europe is cheap except house rent. The people there do not have the nice summer vegetables found here in New England, and many other good things. American, he says, is really "God's Country."

Birthday Observed.

Mrs. Mercy Pratt of Quincy, observed her eighty-third birthday on Tuesday of this week. Quite a number called and extended congratulations. An original poem was contributed by Mrs. E. A. Fisher, of South Braintree. During the afternoon ice cream and cake were served.

A Fine Building.

The large brick building erected by George E. Thomas of Wollaston for the Quincy real estate trust, at the corner of Hancock and Washington streets, is nearly completed, and will soon be largely occupied by Mr. Shaw as a furniture store.

It is the largest and most costly building erected in Quincy centre for some years; and is a credit to the builder and the real estate trust.

A new clue to Wilbur Clark, the pretty little boy who suddenly disappeared from Chelaboo pond, on the north shore, where his parents were camping last summer, has been found. His father, Harry Clark, has gone to an Indian camp in Maine where the child is thought to be. Hope the clue may be real.

—Miss Ethel C. Clement, daughter of P. W. Clement, the millionaire railroad man of Rutland, Vt., who is to be married Sept. 8 to William H. Field, who was formerly manager of the Boston Journal, but who is now with Munsey's Magazine, has created a furor in Rutland society by refusing to have the words "and obey" pronounced in the marriage ceremony. The Rev. Joseph Reynolds of the Episcopal church of Rutland could not perform the marriage and leave the words out, and Rev. George W. Phillips, pastor of the Congregational church of Rutland will tie the knot.

J. S. Smith of Rockland, for more than 30 years editor of the Rockland Standard, and for nearly 20 years postmaster of Rockland, had one of his eyes removed Wednesday at a Boston hospital. A few days ago it was found that one of the eyes had a detached retina and it was deemed best to remove it in order to save the sight of the other. He is one of the best known men in Plymouth country, and was at the time of his retirement the dean of the newspaper editors in the county in Point of view.

CITY BRIEFS.

Long trolley trips are now popular.

Launch today between 3 and 4 P. M.

The city now has nearly 5,200 water tanks.

The public library hours will change next Tuesday.

Miss Fannie F. French has returned from Kalamazoo, Mich.

Charles Crane has gone to Monument beach for a ten days' sojourn.

Mrs. Arthur Pitts has returned from a visit with her parents in Maine.

Dr. H. C. Hollowell has returned from the city to visit New Hampshire.

George W. Jones has laid in a big stock of school shoes.

The walks of the High school are receiving a coat of stone dust.

The Quincy and Wollaston Yacht clubs will have races this afternoon.

The rumors of a strike at the Quincy shipyard have no foundation in fact.

W. C. Hunt has moved into his pretty new house on Miller Stile road.

Miss Annie S. Johnson and brother Fred are visiting friends at Worcester, Mass.

A special meeting of the City Council will be necessary next week to draw jurors.

Mrs. F. M. Gould is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Wilbur at Middleboro.

Miss Carrie L. Bliss has returned from three weeks' visit with friends in New Hampshire.

Miss Mary H. Kelliker, bookkeeper for Johnson Bros., is enjoying a few weeks' vacation.

Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Hunting were recently registered at Hotel Cotchett, Osterville, N. H.

Mrs. Mary Powers of Washington street has been confined to her home the past week by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brown are at the camp of the Algonquin club at Lake Winnepesaukee.

Miss Helen Donahue is the guest for a few weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donahue of Randolph.

Mrs. James Nichols of Coddington street has been confined to her bed by sickness the past week.

Miss Mary French of Athol, formerly of this city, is the guest of Mrs. Beare for a few weeks.

Miss Nellie and Emily Dolan and Miss Emma McDermott have returned from East Chester, N. H.

V. E. Miller, wife and children, of Russell Park, returned August 21 from a two weeks' visit in Maine.

Miss Edith Crane of Greenleaf street has returned from a two weeks' trip through the woods of Maine.

An article appeared in Friday's Transcript written by Mrs. W. T. Babcock, entitled "A Pedemobile Outing."

Miss Florence Cairns of the City Hospital has returned from a month's visit at home in Prince Edwards Island.

Patrolman James W. Murray left Saturday on his two weeks' vacation. His route will be covered by Patrolman Burrell.

Mrs. W. W. Penman of Elm place left last week for a month's visit with her son George at Horse Shoe beach, Plymouth.

Miss Maud Burkoff and aunt of Maine have been the guests of Mrs. Albert Wilcher of Beacon street the past week.

Mrs. Lucy Howard, who has been substituting at R. E. Foy & Co.'s, the past two weeks is now employed by Johnson Bros.

After two months' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud, Mrs. William Brandau has returned to her home in New York.

Mrs. Jesse F. Curtis and son Harold have returned from Kearsarge village, N. H., where they have been rusticating the past month.

Calvin Dyer is enjoying a week's vacation and has been spending a few days, accompanied by his wife, with friends at New Bedford.

Miss Safford, the pleasant and obliging milliner at Miss C. L. Bliss', leaves this week for her home in Maine for a few weeks' sojourn.

The Hustler of Quincy was second in the handicap class of the Cape Cod Bay Racing Association at Wellfleet on Monday, the Vim being first.

A tall flag pole arrived at the Woodward Institute grounds last week and will be raised on the lawn on the Hancock street side of the building.

Twice the Reliance has won in the Cup races, and finished miles ahead on Thursday, but just outside the time limit. Today's race should be decisive.

News from Bangor says C. P. Loring of Quincy, with three others, hold the best record in trout fishing at the Brown camps in the Katahdin region last week.

Miss K. F. Roche returned Saturday from a two weeks' vacation pleasantly spent at Lake Sunapee, N. H., and resumed her duties at the Quincy Savings Bank Monday.

Grace Batson of Upland road left Monday for Hillsboro, N. H., where she will spend a week with Miss Abbie Barnes, who is visiting relatives there for two months.

Mr. N. B. Fernald reached his seventy-fifth milestone in life's journey Monday, and celebrated, accompanied by his wife and friends, at Sharon Springs, New York.

Another daughter was born to ex-Congressman and Mrs. H. M. Faxon on Sunday. It said Graceland Faxon would have been better pleased had the new arrival been a boy.

Two games will be played in the Quincy base ball league this afternoon: South Quincys and Quincys on the Ward Three playground; Merrymounts and Wollastons at the park.

The Hustler of the Quincy Yacht club, owned by Whittemore and Robbins, entered the open race of the Cape Cod yacht club of Provincetown last week and was an easy winner in the sweepstakes.

Col. Edward Anderson has returned from Labrador, where he has roughed it for about two months. He has brought several souvenirs, some of which are on exhibition in the show window of D. E. Wadsworth & Co.

Word has been received by cable of the arrival at Liverpool of the steamship Mayflower of the Dominion line in the International Mercantile Marine Company, on August 22. Among the passengers was Judge Everett C. Bumpus of Quincy.

High tide this afternoon at 4.30.

Labor day a week from next Monday.

Rev. W. W. Dorman sailed for home on Tuesday.

Mrs. Kelley and daughter Josephine are at Brant Rock.

Mr. Wood of Bigelow street is entertaining his mother.

Paul Revere Post, G. A. R., has decided to hold no fair this year.

Mrs. Laura Tirrell has returned from Abbott farm, Kearsarge village, N. H.

A patent was this week issued to Miss Elizabeth W. Merrill of this city.

Rev. W. E. Gardner is at Lake Winnepeaukee, but will return before Sunday.

Miss Mary Barry bookkeeper at the Granite shoe store is enjoying her vacation.

Work has been commenced plastering the store of the new business block in City Square.

Mrs. Harry Winslow and son have gone to Maine for a few weeks' visit, with her parents.

Miss Sadie Sullivan of Quincy avenue returned this week after four weeks' visit in Lowell.

Several houses on Butler road have been connected with the gas main recently laid on that street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Adams are the guests of Mrs. Adams' mother, Mrs. Patrick Deo of Bridgewater.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Penman and daughters returned Tuesday evening from a visit at Wintthrop, Me.

The Misses Hunt, students at the Framingham Normal school, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt of Bigelow street.

Mrs. John Shaw of Goffe street, with her guest Mrs. Slade of Buffalo, is registered at Hotel Gifford, Provincetown.

Mrs. Mary Pollock is moving into the former residence of W. C. Hunt at the corner of Bigelow street and Miller Stile road.

William J. Parker, the well known newspaper correspondent, went to Philadelphia Wednesday for a two weeks' trip.

The family of George G. Saville of Saville avenue have returned from Annapolis where they have enjoyed the summer.

Nathan Ames is now the proprietor of the Hardware Supply Co., having purchased the interest of Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

The Misses Ella and Emma Peterson and Flora Crocker are at Lake Stile House, East Tilton, N. H., on a two weeks' outing.

Mrs. J. B. Foster, daughter of Mr. W. W. Osborne is seriously ill, at the Margaret Pillsbury Hospital, Concord, New Hampshire.

Mrs. Jerusha Hardwick, one of our well known ladies on Washington street, was 88 years old on Thursday. She is quite smart and bids fair to pass the century mark.

Rural lodge of Masons will have an elaborate supper of roast beef in the new Hancock block in Fountain square. They will be ready for occupancy about the first of October.

Ralph G. Merrill, formerly connected with the Boston Branch grocery in this city, was married recently to Miss Lena L. St. Clair of Rockland, Me. They will reside in St. Louis.

Luigi Pitta was arrested by the Quincy police Thursday night and held for Waterfront officers, who believe he was one of the men implicated in a stabbing affray in that town two weeks ago.

The body of Caroline W., wife of Charles A. Hadley of Brockton, was brought to Quincy on Wednesday for interment at Mt. Wollaston. She was the widow of Brough Faxon late of Quincy.

Mr. George H. Thurber's daughter, of 445 Washington street opened the red box containing $20 at the Granite shoe store Tuesday afternoon. A key was given to every purchaser. Her key was the 49th one tried.

The Saturday Evening Club was entertained very pleasantly Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Pratt at the Island Home cottage Houghs Neck. A very enjoyable day was passed and one to be remembered.

The Quincy Tennis Club will hold an open handicap tournament in singles on Labor Day, Sept. 7, at 10 o'clock. The preliminary rounds will be played on Saturday, Sept. 5, at 3 P. M. A suitable prize will be offered.

Lyman Stacy was arrested by Officer Burrell, Wednesday, upon a complaint charging him with the larceny of books, steel, lead pencils, etc., from the office of George S. Paterson on Canal street. It is alleged that Stacy hired the sheds in which to do some stone cutting, and that he took the articles mentioned from the office which he had no right to enter. The case was continued until Saturday.

The Socialist Convention.

The Socialist party has issued its call for the State convention, fixing the date for Monday, September 28, 1903, and the place, Paine Memorial hall, Appleton street, Boston.

The convention will nominate a state ticket to consist of candidates for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary, treasurer and receiver general, auditor, and attorney-general.

The Catholics of Boston are to celebrate Sept. 29 at Symphony hall, Boston, the centennial of the dedication of the first Catholic church in Boston.

A special meeting of the New England Catholic historical society was held Thursday evening in the vestry of St. Cecilia's church to make arrangements. About 25 members, fully half the number being prominent Catholic clergymen, attended. Very Rev. William Byrne presided.

—Bro. A. C. Dows, editor of the New England Grocer and ex-president of the Mass. Press Association, is a candidate for the Senate in the Fourth Middlesex district. He has represented Malden in the House for four years in a very creditable manner, with honor to himself and the State. Being a conscientious and faithful worker he is entitled to promotion, and it is a pity that more such men could not be elected to the General Court.

The two Norfolk county senatorial districts have been ably and well represented the past year at the State House and it is a pleasure to note that there will be no opposition to the re-nomination of Messrs. Brackett and Bemis.

Hyde Park Gazette.

—Cambridge real estate valuations have gone up nearly seven millions, and her tax rate has gone down $1.40 on each thousand. And there you are. You pay your money and take your choice.—Herald.

SOUTH QUINCY.

Miss Martha Kincaide has been a guest of Mrs. Albina Cram at Osterville, N. H.

Mrs. Frank Mitchell has returned to her duties as bookkeeper at R. E. Foy's, Water street, after a two weeks' rest.

Miss Margaret Moynihan and niece Lena were the guest last week of Miss Minnie Moynihan at Maynard.

Mrs. Florence Hilde and son of Water street returned last week from a three months' visit at her home in France.

Edward Marook of Bennington street left Saturday night for Portland, Me., where he will rest from duties for a week.

The annual meeting of the Joss Bros. Co., granite manufacturers, was held Saturday evening and these officers elected: President, John Joss; Treasurer and Manager, James Joss; Directors: John Joss, James Joss, Alexander Emalle, Robert R. Smith and John D. Dyer.

Thomas & Miller report their business greatly improving. They have made great improvements in their plant and are commencing still further additions. This has been the banner month for orders for several years and they will add two gangs of cutters within the next two days.

WEST QUINCY.

Miss Isabel G. Gilbert of West street and her sister, Mrs. Burton Halbert, and son Joe are spending part of their vacation at Foxboro, Mass., guests of Superintendent and Mrs. F. P. Monroe Perry.

Mrs. Walter H. Ripley and youngest daughter have gone to Barre, Vt., for a month's visit, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Shackley formerly of this city.

Pearl Russell has gone to Maine on a week's vacation to attend the State fair at Bangor.

It is estimated that fully 800 of the West Quincy sports will follow the team to Milford, Labor Day.

William Martell, a steamer of John Fallon & Sons, is at the Newton hospital with a fractured skull and arm the result of an accident in Boston on Monday evening.

The annual lawn party of St. Mary's church will be held this afternoon and evening, Aug. 29. A large number of interesting sports have been arranged to amuse the summer residents and report at the annual meeting on the erection of a club house.

Campbell McKay and his son Norman, of England, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan of Wollaston.

Mrs. Bertha M. McLeod, who has been seriously ill at her home on Arlington street, Wollaston, the past three weeks, is recovering slowly and was able to go out on Saturday.

Edward Mitchell, clerk at the Wollaston post office is enjoying his vacation.

Horace F. Bates of Wollaston has been elected principal of the Sullivan High school at Berwick, Me., at a good salary. Mr. Bates is a Harvard man and has taught in New Jersey and at Groton, Mass., being at the latter place in the spring.

Everett Simmons has taken a house on South Central avenue near Beale street, where he will occupy soon with his family.

Rev. Mr. Webster pastor of the Baptist church is convalescing after a severe operation. His vacation has been extended one month to enable him to recover his former vigorous health.

Fifteen birthday Tuesday afternoon at her home South Central avenue. Fifteen of her girl friends enjoyed themselves playing games on the lawn during the afternoon.

The great success of the Red Men of Massachusetts is William A. Flotow of Westfield, who was greeted at the annual session on Thursday. William A. Jordan of Wollaston was elected grand trustee for three years, and also appointed a special deputy of the great sachem.

DOWN AND PARK.

Mrs. Maria I. Sanborn, who has been visiting her son W. I. Sanborn of Billings street, returned to her home in New Hampshire the first of the week.

Rev. J. H. Whitaker sailed from Cherbourg, France, the 21st and will occupy his pulpit the first Sunday in September.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Quigley of New York City have been spending their vacation with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cahoon, of Marshall street.

Miss William H. Lillierap of Philadelphia is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. G. Dorr of North Duxbury, for a month. She was accompanied by Miss Sarah McArthur, Miss Helen P. Brunt, Miss Katherine Bugby, Miss Rosella Bugby and Miss Mabel Stewart, all of Philadelphia who have been sight-seeing at Nantasket, Concord, Lexington, Plymouth and other places. They returned to their homes today.

MILTON.

Fred and Ernest Choate are at Portland, Me.

The meetings of the Thursday Evening club, which resumed the first Thursday in September.

Mr. and Mrs. George Farmer are being congratulated on the birth of a son Monday.

Capt. C. Wilder Holmes is at Portland, Me., with the heavy artillery.

Capt. G. F. Fletcher has been attending the Grand Army encampment at San Francisco.

Mrs. E. L. Crossman, Miss Mary C. and Master Howard Crossman are at Asbury Grove.

Mrs. William P. Hall and Miss L. B. Hall of Milton have been at Miramonte, Sept. 11, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Quimby of East Milton have returned from a trip to the Provincias.

Mr. George Graham of Brooklyn, N. Y., formerly of East Milton, is visiting friends at East Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Horn have returned from their wedding trip and have taken a house on Mechanics street, East Milton.

The marriage of Miss Sadie F. Graham daughter of Mr. John Graham of Milton and Mr. George Arnold of Dedham was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, this week.

Lumber Schooner Launched.

The three-masted schooner Emma S. Lord was launched from the shipyard of Sawyer Bros. at Millbridge, Me., on Monday. The Lord is of 350 tons, and is owned by Henry Lord and others of Bangor. She will be commanded by Capt. George A. Erskine of Bucksport, and will be used largely as a lumber carrier.

Gov. Bates recently scored a bull's eye at the camp of the Cadets, and Thursday he batted a home run in a base ball game at Pittsfield. The Governor is a success wherever he is placed.

WOLLASTON.

Mrs. George R. Fraser of Beach street with her four sisters, Mrs. George T. Fraser of East Boston, Mrs. George McArthur of Beverly Beach, Mrs. George L. York of York Beach, Me., and little Miss Agnes, attended the Shirley Post party last week. Mrs. Very won the cake for ladies.

Rev. Frederick Kent and family of Northampton are visiting his parents on South Central avenue.

Among those who made the trip to Washington from Gorham, N. H., on Saturday, August 22, were the Misses Palfman and Miss Thayer of Wollaston. The day was fine and the views were exceptionally beautiful.

Miss M. Bailey of Wollaston is spending two weeks in New York.

Miss Silpha Coombs is spending a two weeks' vacation at Westminster, Mass.

The Misses Carrie and Ellen Herrmann have returned from Sugar Hill, N. H. where they spent a delightful vacation.

Miss Elsie Robertson of Lynn is visiting Miss Bessie Keller of Billings street.

Miss Nancy Lincoln, Miss Bessie Drew and Miss Kate Lincoln are at Castine, Me., for a few weeks.

Miss Elizabeth Jones of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., is visiting her brother, Mr. Charles E. Jones of Grand View avenue. Today Miss Jones leaves for Niagara and Oberlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Albee left Wollaston Friday for a ten days' visit to Castine, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Badger of Park street, Wollaston, with their daughter, Miss Muriel Badger are spending the remainder of the season at Shirley Hill House, Manchester, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. George Manning of Malden is spending a few days with friends at Wollaston.

Mrs. Jesse L. Litchfield and child of Brook street, Wollaston, are at Weymouth for a few weeks.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. Follett; Miss Virginia should be a good singer.

Miss Elizabeth Torrey of Wollaston is the guest of Miss Abbie Maynard of Weymouth for a few weeks.

Mrs. Kate A. Hayden has returned from Harrison Square after a three months' visit and is now located on Newport avenue, Wollaston.

J. Q. Littlefield of Wollaston is interested in yachting on Lake Winnepesaukee and is one of a committee of five to canvass the summer residents and report at the annual meeting on the erection of a club house.

Campbell McKay and his son Norman, of England, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan of Wollaston.

Mrs. Bertha M. McLeod, who has been seriously ill at her home on Arlington street, Wollaston, the past three weeks, is recovering slowly and was able to go out on Saturday.

Edward Mitchell, clerk at the Wollaston post office is enjoying his vacation.

Horace F. Bates of Wollaston has been elected principal of the Sullivan High school at Berwick, Me., at a good salary. Mr

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1903.

Whistling a Nuisance.

With the increasing freight whistling of the city, the locomotive whistling has become a considerable nuisance between the Adams Academy and the Brighton line. This is especially true in the still hours of the night and a petition was recently circulated in Quincy and South Quincy requesting that the whistling be discontinued. The petition was signed by 200 or more, and a thousand names could easily have been secured. People are not only awakened every night, but where there has been sickness the shock has been serious.

George H. Field headed the petition and he has received notice that the Railroad Commissioners will give a hearing to all persons interested on Thursday, Sept. 9.

In these days when electric signals can be so effectively and safely used, there seems to be considerable unnecessary whistling. Perhaps when Quincy has its new freight yards and adequate trackage there will not be the necessity of so much whistling, or better still it can be done during the day.

Short Crops.

Recently much comment has been caused by the high prices asked this season for fresh vegetables, and some people have been inclined to think it wasn't all caused by the poor growing weather of the summer.

A Boston Globe reporter has made inquiries among some of the best-known farmers and fruit dealers as to conditions in this respect. The answer is made that for the farmers within seven or eight miles of the city the present season from a financial standpoint has been one of the best they have had for many years, while for those further removed it has been an unusually poor one.

George Lovell, of Lovell Bros., of Watertown, who farms a tract of 100 acres in extent, said the weather this year had been awful from the farmers' standpoint. All vegetables of a vine class were particularly affected, as in the blossoming season the pollen was washed off the blooms to the earth by the heavy rains instead of being distributed among the other blooms. The result was fine, hardy-looking vines, but they failed to produce.

Cucumbers were perhaps the poorest crop about this section this season. Where ordinarily they sell for $1 a crate they now are bringing $3 a crate and are hard to obtain even at that. Tomatoes are poor and are said to run not more than one-third the usual crop. At wholesale they sell at $1.25 a bushel, whereas in past seasons they are usually disposed of at $1.25 a bushel.

There is not a half crop of corn, although what there is of a good quality and not for several years has been sweeter or of finer flavor. It sells at wholesale at $1.25 a box of five dozen while in ordinary years it brings only 40 to 50 cents a box. The celery crop does not seem to be affected by the weather of this summer, and it is claimed that it will be fully up to the usual standard in quantity and quality. The late cabbage is good, but the variety was almost a failure. It sold for from 7 to 15 cents a head, whereas ordinarily from 4 to 5 cents is all it brings.

The turnip crop does not seem to have been affected, and they are reported in the market district to be up to the usual quantity and condition. There was not a half crop of peas, and the onion crop is also very short. Late squash and pumpkins are short and poor.

Commenting on the poorness of the vegetable market this year, one of the farmers down at the Quincy market asked the Globe representative if he had noticed the unusual scarcity of produce wagons about the street there this summer. In past summers the side streets at the market have been filled with the wagons, and the line has overflowed away down into State street, but this year neither North Market nor South Market street has been crowded on any day. That, said one of the farmers, is a sure indication of how the crops are near Boston, and they are claimed to be much worse further away from the city.

According to the statements of some of the Boston fruit dealers, California is about dominating the eastern fruit market the present season. F. E. Fletcher, agent for the California fruit distributors, when asked about this phase of the situation said it was practically true, and is so because there are no Delaware nor Jersey peaches to amount to anything, very few Michigan peaches and the Connecticut crop is a practical failure.

Last year at this time, he says, all those places were sending peaches in large quantities to the Boston market and it was kept glutted all of the time. The heavy crops of last year, he claims, sapped the vitality of the trees, and the rainy and altogether unfavorable weather in the blossoming season this summer caused a very light crop in the eastern states.

This autumn, with the peach crop either light or a failure in this part of the country, California practically dominates the market. In years when the crops here are good, the California fruit men hold their goods for canning and drying and send only small lots into the city. This year, however, the market here is in such a shape that they are sending large quantities, and because the prices are running a little higher than in most other years. The California fruit is therefore more plentiful than in other years in the Boston market.

The "cling" variety of peaches are especially good for canning and the "muir" variety for drying. The market here has caused many of these varieties to be sent here fresh, and, as a result, the canned peaches have opened prices higher than usual, and the dried peaches will also be higher in price than in other years.

With regard to apples it may be said that prices are not very apt to rule high, for while the New England crops have been light, the crops in other apple-growing sections have been good and are expected to offset the shortage here.

California grapes have just reached the eastern market and the prices are reasonable, although the eastern production has been rather light. In both California and Florida the orange crops have been very large and there is no fear of high prices for that fruit.

The order of Scottish clans will hold a picnic with Scottish games at Caledonian grove, West Roxbury, on Labor day.

Louis Guertin of Weymouth made a running broad jump of 22 feet 8 inches on Saturday at the Charlestown gymnasium, and holds the world's record.

CITY BRIEFS.

Full moon on Sunday.

Fred Rumsels has returned from Maine after seven weeks' vacation.

Political parties are required to give seven days' notice of all caucuses.

Many souvenir postal cards are held up in the post offices because a stamp is not affixed to pay the postage.

Mr. W. E. Dewhurst of Maple place has been entertaining her mother and sister the past few days from Lowell.

Mrs. William W. Penman has returned from a pleasant visit with her son at White House beach, Plymouth.

Charles Crane of Greenleaf street has returned from his visit to Monument beach.

Mrs. Zenas Arnold of Coddington street, who has been seriously ill, has been removed to the hospital.

Mrs. George Ruxton of Whitwell street and Mrs. George Fader of Packard street left Saturday for Cape Breton.

Miss Belle Forsyth of Antrim, N. H., has been the guest of Mrs. W. W. Ewell of Foster street the past week.

Edward J. Lennon says no one is authorized to state whether Paul Revere Post will hold a fair this year or not.

Mrs. Caroline F. Newcomb of Washington street over eighty years of age, spent last week with friends in Natick.

Mrs. Lydia Conklin, after several weeks spent in this city with relatives, has returned to her home in Fall River.

Have you had your automobile registered and numbered? The new law requiring this went into effect Wednesday.

Samuel Curtis and family are to move from Revere road to Wilbur street in the house just remodelled by Mrs. Cain.

Miss Minnie Underwood returned Aug. 28, from a three months' visit with her mother and other relatives in California.

Mrs. Fred E. Drake of Upland road has returned from a three weeks' visit pleasantly spent at Gardner and Winthrop, Maine.

Mrs. Mary of Beverly has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Fernald, at their home on Edwards street, the past few days.

George F. Spooner and family who have been spending the past six weeks at Marion, have returned to their home on Revere road.

Estella, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Porter of Spring lane, is confined to her home with pneumonia and malaria.

The Adams Academy will open the same day as the public schools, next Tuesday. Entrance examination on Friday of this week.

Miss Kingman, typewriter at the rooms of the Master Builders' Association has returned to her duties after a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Emma A. Burrell has returned from her visit to Fall River but has gone to New York where she will remain for several weeks.

Jack Baldwin, W. E. Dewhurst, Dr. Clayton Martin and others who have been cruising the past week in a launch, returned Sunday.

George Tirrell and wife have been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tirrell at the "Christie" cottage, Mount avenue, Houghs Neck the past week.

Miss Ada M. Nightingale, clerk to the executive department of City Hall, has returned from a two weeks' vacation trip to New Hampshire.

Wm. Falvey and his oldest son, who have been renewing old acquaintances in this city the past few days, have returned to their home in Worcester.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Langley, who have been resting at Durham, N. H., for the past four months, have returned to their home on Washington street.

Rev. Edwin Noah Hardy has returned from Maplehurst, his summer home at Nelson, N. H. Mr. Hardy and his children will remain a few weeks longer.

Arthur L. Mitchell, Jr., of Washington, D. C., formerly of Quincy and William J. Parker of Upland road are registered at the Grand Atlantic, Atlantic City, N. J.

Commissioner of Public Works Charles F. Knowlton will attend the meeting of the New England Water Works Association at Montreal, Canada, Sept. 9, 10 and 11.

Mrs. Emma Baker, who underwent an operation in a Boston hospital a few weeks ago, is rapidly improving, and has been moved to her home on Palmer street, Germantown.

Bert Williams and William H. Smith arrested by Inspector Cronin in a Boston pawnshop last week, are thought to be the fellows who made the break at Mr. Plummer's on Greenleaf street, and other places in this vicinity.

The Victors defeated the Olympians at Weymouth Saturday by the score of 21 to 12. They also defeated the Patriots at East Weymouth by 21 to 4 on Aug. 22. Today the Victors will play the Saxons A. C. of Dorchester at Quincy.

Letter Carrier M. C. King left on Sunday for Syracuse, N. Y., where he will represent local branch No. 129 of the National Association of Letter Carriers at the fourteenth annual convention in that city from Aug. 31 to Sept. 5, inclusive.

The funeral of little Earl Beal, the victim of the car accident, was held Sunday afternoon from Bethany chapel, the Rev. E. N. Hardy officiating. A quartette from Hingham sang. There were many floral offerings, and a large attendance of friends.

Miss Ella Ames Horton, who has been spending the month of August with a party of friends at Crow's Nest cottage, on the shores of the Caspian Lake, Greenboro, Vt., has returned to her home. Miss Horton and friends made a tour of the White mountains during their absence.

Capt. McDonald who had charge of the S. S. Vancouver, on which vessel Miss Randall and party of this city sailed, has been presented by the steward and stewardesses of that ship with a handsome clock and a candlestick, as a token of their appreciation of his courteous treatment of all on board while in command. Capt. McDonald's headquarters is now at Liverpool instead of Boston, having severed his connections with the Vancouver.

Sunday was the coldest August day in Quincy for eighty years or more, and at the same time was most disagreeable day. The temperature was 58 degrees, and it ranged between 56 and 60 all day. In fact it was colder than any July day since 1805. It would be necessary to go back to June 24 this year to find as cool a day, and we did not have as cool a day last fall until Oct. 10, and there were nine in November that were warmer.

A holiday next Monday.

The salt grass is being cut this week. Some good catches of smelts are reported.

Labor day will be generally observed as a holiday.

The nights will get the best of the days this month.

A patent was issued this week to Albert Nelson of this city.

If you want to be up to date, you must own an automobile.

The Adams Academy was opened Sept. 4, 1872, thirty-one years ago.

Albert Darguin of Winchendon, formerly of Quincy, is in town on a visit.

Dr. Herbert S. Hayford, who has been away for several weeks, has returned.

The public schools and the Woodward Institute will open next Tuesday.

Roderick McNeil and family have moved from Summer street to Montello.

Mrs. Fred L. Thurston of Cherry avenue is enjoying a month's vacation at the annual summer outing of the Massachusetts Ice Dealers Association.

The new flagpole on the Woodward Institute grounds was raised Wednesday.

A number of Quincy Odd Fellows attended the session of the Grand lodge, Thursday.

Miss Nellie F. Cotter of Canton, is visiting friends in this city for a few weeks.

Miss Delia A. Burke is the guest of her friend, Maud G. Higginson at Milford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Barrows of Hartford, Conn., are visiting Mrs. H. O. Studley.

Probate court will meet in this city next Wednesday morning, after the August vacation.

James Parker, of the street railway claim department, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

The Socialists of Massachusetts are to hold a picnic at New Downer Landing on Labor day.

The Republican ward and city committee met Tuesday evening, at Room 20, Hancock house.

The Old Farmer's Almanac says "A cold spell; look out for night frost" from Sept. 13 to 17.

The Quincy Yacht club will hold its last scheduled race for the season on Labor day, at 9:30 A. M.

Mrs. Edwin McIntosh is visiting her uncle, Colonel Nathaniel Richardson, of Winchester for a week.

A. Frank Russell, formerly of Quincy, who is in business at South Boston, was burned out last week.

Dr. John A. Gordon left Thursday for his camp on Macaunac Lake, Canada, for the month of September.

August averaged over four degrees cooler than for 33 years. The rain fall was a little over three inches.

Mrs. Effie Rhines of Miller Stile road has returned from Washington, where she spent the month of August.

But a few more days of vacation remain; next week will see the large school army on the move again.

Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Swasey of Beverly have been the guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler during the past week.

"Upp-Holotring" in two lines as divided is the way a business man of Quincy placards his place of business.

Miss Alice Keith Prescott is the guest of Miss Edith H. Bradley who is giving a House Party at Long View cottage, Amesbury.

Swilth Bros. will have a mammoth sale of house lots on Cranich hill on Saturday and Labor day with band concerts, presents, etc.

Miss Mabel E. Lovejoy arrived home Tuesday after spending three delightful weeks with friends at Salem Willows and Beverly Farms.

Mrs. James B. Pollock, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Penman, has returned to her home in New York.

Charles H. Moore, bookkeeper of the Quincy Reef company, has returned from his vacation, which he spent at his former home, Maine.

Services will be resumed at the Universalist church on Sunday, with a preaching service at 2:30 P. M. and Sunday school at 3:45 P. M.

Upon their return from the Cape ex-Mayor Russell A. Sears will move to the fine estate of the late John C. Randall on Adams street.

Miss Mary D. Foster formerly of Chestnut street, Quincy, is visiting in the east, and is now the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Whiton of Washington street.

The alarm from Box 24 at 4:45 Wednesday afternoon was for a fire in the kitchen of the house of T. Walter Good on Cranich hill and was caused by an oil stove exploding. The loss was $75.

A. F. F. Haskell of the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Commission completes spending two weeks on trolley duty throughout the New England States.

A. L. Brigham of the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Commission has just returned from an extended trip to New York. While there he was a regular attendant at the yacht races, which kept him from visiting in Virginia and Schuon Lake in the Adirondacks.

G. L. Aldrich, superintendent of public schools in Brooklyn, and formerly of Quincy, returned Tuesday from a tour of several weeks through Great Britain and on the continent. Mr. Aldrich went abroad for the purpose of obtaining a complete change of surroundings, and visited but few of the noted educational institutions on the other side.

The report of the Day Nursery at Brookton shows that the largest day attendance during May, June and July was 21 and the smallest 9. The number of children in July was 383 from 24 families. The report adds: "The children are properly cleaned, supplied with a light lunch, and are given nursery care."

Two to three hundred attended the annual picnic on Wednesday of Bethany Sunday school at Houghton's pond, and had a very enjoyable time. Barges were used for the picnic, and a number of about 10 A. M., and returning after 6 P. M. There was a bountiful supply of peanuts and ice cream. Men and women indulged in base ball with the children, rowed on the pond and otherwise enjoyed themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Goodridge of Granite street held their first "at home" on Wednesday evening. Randolph and Brainfree friends mingled with residents of this city in extending congratulations to their recent marriage. The house was decorated with flowers.

Refreshments were served, and music was playing festive. There will be another "at home" next Wednesday evening.

The city election will come this year on the first day of December, and preliminary papers must be filed before 5 P. M. Nov. 18, ten weeks from today.

CASTORIA.
Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Fair and cooler Saturday.

A. W. Parker has returned from a two weeks' visit at Digby, N. S.

The school teachers are arriving back from their summer vacation.

William T. Isaac left Thursday night on a business trip to Richmond, Va.

The Quincy Coliseum is nearly twenty years old; it was built in 1884 for a skating rink.

Which ever club loses in the Quincy base ball league this afternoon will drop to third place.

Rev. E. N. Hardy, the pastor, will preach at both services at Bethany chapel on Sunday.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Packard of Chestnut street are enjoying the week at North Scituate beach.

At a meeting of Paul Revere Post, 88, G. A. R., Thursday evening, it was voted to hold a fair the week of Dec. 7-12.

Remarks eulogistic to the late William N. Eaton of this city were made Thursday at the annual summer outing of the Massachusetts Ice Dealers Association.

The new flagpole on the Woodward Institute grounds was raised Wednesday.

A number of Quincy Odd Fellows attended the session of the Grand lodge, Thursday.

Miss Nellie F. Cotter of Canton, is visiting friends in this city for a few weeks.

Miss Delia A. Burke is the guest of her friend, Maud G. Higginson at Milford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Barrows of Hartford, Conn., are visiting Mrs. H. O. Studley.

Probate court will meet in this city next Wednesday morning, after the August vacation.

James Parker, of the street railway claim department, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

The Socialists of Massachusetts are to hold a picnic at New Downer Landing on Labor day.

The Republican ward and city committee met Tuesday evening, at Room 20, Hancock house.

The Old Farmer's Almanac says "A cold spell; look out for night frost" from Sept. 13 to 17.

The Quincy Yacht club will hold its last scheduled race for the season on Labor day, at 9:30 A. M.

Mrs. Edwin McIntosh is visiting her uncle, Colonel Nathaniel Richardson, of Winchester for a week.

A. Frank Russell, formerly of Quincy, who is in business at South Boston, was burned out last week.

Dr. John A. Gordon left Thursday for his camp on Macaunac Lake, Canada, for the month of September.

August averaged over four degrees cooler than for 33 years. The rain fall was a little over three inches.

Mrs. Effie Rhines of Miller Stile road has returned from Washington, where she spent the month of August.

But a few more days of vacation remain; next week will see the large school army on the move again.

Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Swasey of Beverly have been the guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler during the past week.

"Upp-Holotring" in two lines as divided is the way a business man of Quincy placards his place of business.

Miss Alice Keith Prescott is the guest of Miss Edith H. Bradley who is giving a House Party at Long View cottage, Amesbury.

Swilth Bros. will have a mammoth sale of house lots on Cranich hill on Saturday and Labor day with band concerts, presents, etc.

Miss Mabel E. Lovejoy arrived home Tuesday after spending three delightful weeks with friends at Salem Willows and Beverly Farms.

Mrs. James B. Pollock, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Penman, has returned to her home in New York.

Charles H. Moore, bookkeeper of the Quincy Reef company, has returned from his vacation, which he spent at his former home, Maine.

Services will be resumed at the Universalist church on Sunday, with a preaching service at 2:30 P. M. and Sunday school at 3:45 P. M.

Upon their return from the Cape ex-Mayor Russell A. Sears will move to the fine estate of the late John C. Randall on Adams street.

Miss Mary D. Foster formerly of Chestnut street, Quincy, is visiting in the east, and is now the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Whiton of Washington street.

The alarm from Box 24 at 4:45 Wednesday afternoon was for a fire in the kitchen of the house of T. Walter Good on Cranich hill and was caused by an oil stove exploding. The loss was $75.

A. F. F. Haskell of the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Commission completes spending two weeks on trolley duty throughout the New England States.

A. L. Brigham of the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water and Sewerage Commission has just returned from an extended trip to New York. While there he was a regular attendant at the yacht races, which kept him from visiting in Virginia and Schuon Lake in the Adirondacks.

G. L. Aldrich, superintendent of public schools in Brooklyn, and formerly of Quincy, returned Tuesday from a tour of several weeks through Great Britain and on the continent. Mr. Aldrich went abroad for the purpose of obtaining a complete change of surroundings, and visited but few of the noted educational institutions on the other side.

The report of the Day Nursery at Brookton shows that the largest day attendance during May, June and July was 21 and the smallest 9. The number of children in July was 383 from 24 families. The report adds: "The children are properly cleaned, supplied with a light lunch, and are given nursery care."

Two to three hundred attended the annual picnic on Wednesday of Bethany Sunday school at Houghton's pond, and had a very enjoyable time. Barges were used for the picnic, and a number of about 10 A. M., and returning after 6 P. M. There was a bountiful supply of peanuts and ice cream. Men and women indulged in base ball with the children, rowed on the pond and otherwise enjoyed themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Goodridge of Granite street held their first "at home" on Wednesday evening. Randolph and Brainfree friends mingled with residents of this city in extending congratulations to their recent marriage. The house was decorated with flowers.

Refreshments were served, and music was playing festive. There will be another "at home" next Wednesday evening.

The city election will come this year on the first day of December, and preliminary papers must be filed before 5 P. M. Nov. 18, ten weeks from today.

CASTORIA.
Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

Be the first to get the new Castoria.
It's the best for all ailments.
See the sign in the window.

WOLLASTON.

Mr. L. F. Loring is visiting friends at Onset.

Mrs. S. F. Howard of 101 Brook street, Wollaston, and J. A. O'Connell are at Elmwood cottage, Newfound Lake, New Hampshire.

Miss Ethel Parker was the guest, last week of Miss Vera Long of the Gladstone, Dorchester, at the new Winthrop Hotel, Winthrop.

Mr. Charles Abbott and Miss Clara Shunk of Wollaston left Saturday for a two weeks' vacation at Mr. Abbott's home in Vermont.

Miss Lucy Shunk of Wollaston has returned after an enjoyable two weeks' vacation at Springfield, Mass.

Rev. R. B. Tobey of Wollaston has a strawberry plant in blossom, and this week he picked some berries.

The Wollaston Yacht club will start today on its annual cruise of three days to Marblehead.

QUINCY POINT AND NECK.

Mrs. James C. Dunn and her daughter, Miss Alice returned last week from New Mexico, where they visited a son of Mrs. Dunn, who is connected with the railroad there, and were very successful.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lelais of Bristol, R. I., formerly of Quincy are in town for a two weeks' visit. Mr. Lelais was formerly engaged in boat building on River street and is now with Herrschhoff.

Miss Constance of Weymouth, who has been visiting friends, has returned to her home on Edison street on Friday, Aug. 28. A hurdy-gurdy, games on the lawn, and a dainty lunch, made it all a very pleasant trip.

Work is being pushed on the 96-foot steam launch Naughton, that was launched at the works of the Hanley Construction Co. last week. She will have two 50-horsepower gasoline engines, which are now being installed and when completed she will be able to make an ocean voyage. She was built for Isaac G. Lombard a Chicago banker, and will be captained by George Lawson. Her engineer is Orrin C. Bourne. It is expected that she will be ready to sail by Sept. 15.

Brick walls are replacing the wooden ones on several of the large buildings at the Fore River plant. The power house has been almost rebuilt of brick and is a beautiful structure built to facilitate the unloading of coal.

Wollaston vs. Quincy at the Ward Two playgrounds this afternoon.

Pierce-M

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1903.

VOL. 67, NO. 38.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNING BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 1424 HANCOCK STREET.
Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
3rantree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
AND
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire Street
Hours, 12 to 2 P. M.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 28.

JOHN BATH,
CUSTOM TAILOR,
407 Neponset Avenue, Neponset, near Miss Street
Gentlemen's Clothes made to order, also clothes dyed, cleaned, altered to shape, repaired.
Ladies' Coats and Skirts altered, dyed, repaired.
Neponset, June 20. 3mo.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St., Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, - 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Also, MONDAY and FRIDAY Evenings,
7 to 9.
Telephone number, 146-2. 11

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Rooms 5 and 6, - Durgin & Merrill's Block,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 5.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

J. E. KENILEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Estimates guaranteed.
No. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
June 6. 11

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, * Contractor
AND
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
June 16. 11

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

A. W. PARKER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Cor. Putnam and Merrymount Road, Quincy.
HOUSES FOR SALE AND TO LET.
PLANS FURNISHED.
Jobbing Promptly Attended to.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!
OF ALL KINDS.
DRY AND GREEN
At Lowest Possible prices.
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
Yard off Miller and West Streets,
WEST QUINCY.
Quincy, Jan. 10. 11

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing,
ABINGTON STREET, - WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9.

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER,
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6. 11

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Stock and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water Street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

JOHN W. MCANAREY,
COUNCILLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DORRIS & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

Save Money On Furniture.

If we had to pay costly Boston Rents. If we had to pay small fortunes in newspaper advertisements. If we had to pay big taxes, etc., we wouldn't be selling furniture at the money saving prices we do.

But all this is for your benefit. You can buy at this store, worthy furniture, made to wear carpets, and all kinds of up-to-date house fittings at prices lower than in any other store in New England. This is not a dream but a reality. More for your money here than in any other store. Short credit accounts when desired.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.,
New England's Lowest Priced Furniture Store,
Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
We keep open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings.

EXAMINERS FOR AND MAKERS OF EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
ORIGINATORS OF THE
FOUNDED 1888. "SANBORN" METHOD OF EXAMINATION. INCORPORATED 1902

JOHN W. SANBORN CO.,
OPTICIANS.
No. 3 Winter Street, BOSTON, MASS.
BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres. and Manager.
TELEPHONE. ELEVATOR. ONE FLIGHT
Jan. 17

STEARNS' CYPRESS

Then of course you will use CYPRESS GUTTERS, as nearly everyone does, and if you are wise you will also use CYPRESS CONDUC-TORS, for they will last longer than anything else. They will not rust out like tin or galvanized iron, nor will they wear out like copper.

USE OUR CYPRESS SHINGLES by all means. You observe that we say OUR Cypress Shingles. Some brands are not much better than others. CYPRESS is the best. It is made of a thicker wood, it is dried, making it 5-8 thick. They will last three or four times as long as other woods and will not take fire so easily. This latter suggestion is important in some localities.

Having used CYPRESS so far in your building and having had a good opportunity to observe the particular growth which we handle, you will certainly use nothing else for any exterior finish.

OUR CYPRESS CLAPBOARDING has many advantages, beside those inherent in the wood, which you cannot overlook if you examine it. It will take paint and hold it better than any other wood.

Our CYPRESS COLUMNS, all sizes up to
14 inches, are sawed from the quarter of the log
(a big log that), and contain no heart center.
They are bred longwise through the center.
We turn them, flute them, furnish capitals of wood, hand-carved or paper-mache.

Then we supply CYPRESS PLAZA
FLOORING, RAILS, BALUSTES, URNS,
FURNITURE and so on through the list of all CYPRESS at a comparatively low cost. Let us explain this. Don't be old-fashioned. Send for our book, "Cypress Lumber and its Uses."

THE A. T. STEARNS LUMBER COMPANY.
Established 1849.
Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Neponset,
Branch Office and Exhibit, 165 Devonshire Street and 19 Federal Street, [Market Square Salesrooms, 1 South Street, corner Merrimack Street, } BOSTON

BOSTON PRICES!
COAL
DELIVERED IN QUINCY.

GEO. E. FROST.
Telephone 128-3 Dorchester. P. O. Address Neponset.

Paint Values
The practical painter says,
Patton's Sun-Proof Paint
is cheap paint for a good house because it lasts twice as long. It's good paint for a cheap house because it beautifies and preserves it.

Patton's SUN-PROOF Paint
represents the only true principle of scientific paint making, combining the highest degree of beauty with the greatest covering capacity and durability. It is a dependable paint. It does not lose its lustre. It does not peel, crack or chalk off. Guaranteed to wear five years. Send for book of Paint Knowledge and Advice (free) to
PATTON PAINT CO., Lake St., Milwaukee, Wis.
FOR SALE BY
WILLIAM WESTLAND, QUINCY, MASS.

EBEN SMITH. MRS. EBEN SMITH.
1872. 1897.
PICTURE FRAMING.
FINE GOLD WORK.
147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.
Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.
Oct. 12.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature
of Dr. J. C. Williams

Poetry.

The Unchanging.

Toe feet the hours slip
With feet unvarying;
Too soon is lost the sky
Of life-renewing Spring;
Too soon comes Autumn's breath
With presages of death.

Yet, though the red rose fade,
And the green fields lie waste,
Despoiled and disarrayed;
Though ceaselessly we haste
To our dim heritage
Down the gray paths of age:

There is one thing that Time,
The great all-conqueror,
May touch not with his time—
The fond, true heart of her!
Gilt with Love's aphorisms,
There Youth's perennial dwells.

—Harper's Bazar.

Miscellany.

Their Old Maid Cousin.

It was a bright and cheerful September morning, but the sunshine that flooded the world outside was not reflected on the faces of May and Margaret Chesman. They were pretty girls of eighteen, but just now their pretti-
ness was sadly marred by the unpleasant frowns they wore.

It was all because of the old maid cousin who had come from her far western home to visit them, and now,
by their father's urgent request, was to remain for an indefinite time and take charge of the Chesman household.

They were motherless girls, these Chesman twins, and had known no
real restraint since their father's death.
Naturally they were self-willed and somewhat spoiled, and they resented this interference from the woman whom they considered a stranger.

They took care not to show their feeling before their father. He was a stern man
when aroused, as they had discovered
on several unpleasantly remembered occasions. Besides, he seemed to have taken a strong liking to the old maid cousin. He was at no pains to conceal this feeling. In fact, her coming appeared to have made quite a new man of him. Before she came he had been absorbed and very quiet, and sometimes the girls would hear him
walking the floor of his room for hours.

It was business trouble, the girls fancied, but they didn't dare to speak
to him concerning it.

And then after Cousin Laura came
he suddenly brightened up and was quite himself again. It seemed to have begun with one evening in August when they found their father in the library earnestly talking with the cousin, with a good many papers on the library table
before them and their father arguing very earnestly as they paused at the doorway. They had been to a concert with
Mrs. Jamieson, the sister of the parlor,
and had just returned, and their father
looked up and saw them.

"Come in, girls," he said, "and kiss your cousin Laura, and thank her for all her many kindnesses." He did not speak in his usual calm voice, and
the twins noticed that his face was flushed and his eyes were unusually bright.

They did as he bade them, Cousin Laura embracing them tenderly, but they wondered at it all and sorely resented the power she seemed to have gained over their father.

Cousin Laura was a handsome woman
of perhaps thirty-five years, a woman
of unassuming personality and plain attire, who bore in her manner a suggestion of depth of character and strong executive ability.

You are all the relatives I have in the world," said Cousin Laura, as she beamed upon May and Margaret, and threw a swift glance at their father, and we must be very good to one another.

The girls knew that she wasn't even a first cousin; she was only their father's second cousin, and he hadn't seen her for many years, when the letter she had written from a far distant Western mining town came to announce her purpose of making them a visit, if agreeable. She came and she stayed. And all the time they felt that her influence was gradually bearing them down to a state of domestic subjection.

And now this particular morning
with its brightness and its reflected sunshine seemed to have brought matters to a climax.

May had softly slipped into the little writing room that adjoined the library,
but neither Cousin Laura nor her father
knew of her whereabouts.

"They are lovely girls," May overheard Cousin Laura say, "but just a little spoiled and self-willed, and I'm sorry to feel that they don't quite like me. They show it many ways."

May's father's voice suddenly grew harsh.

"Have they been impudent?" he quickly asked.

"No, no," cried Cousin Laura.
"They are ladies. I don't think they could be rude if they tried. But it's a fact that they do not like me."

"And why?" asked the elder Ches-
man.

"Because," laughed Cousin Laura,
"because they think I'm just a meddling old maid."

May's father laughed long and long.
"We will presently cure all that," he
said.

May could not hear Cousin Laura's response, but her father laughed again,
and then they went away.

May came out unobserved and lightly
ran up stairs to seek her sister.

"Sister," do you know what is going
on downstairs?"
"Breakfast," said the more matter of fact Margaret.

Poetry.

The Unchanging.

Toe feet the hours slip
With feet unvarying;
Too soon is lost the sky
Of life-renewing Spring;
Too soon comes Autumn's breath
With presages of death.

Yet, though the red rose fade,
And the green fields lie waste,
Despoiled and disarrayed;
Though ceaselessly we haste
To our dim heritage
Down the gray paths of age:

There is one thing that Time,
The great all-conqueror,
May touch not with his time—
The fond, true heart of her!
Gilt with Love's aphorisms,
There Youth's perennial dwells.

—Harper's Bazar.

Miscellany.

Their Old Maid Cousin.

It was a bright and cheerful September morning, but the sunshine that flooded the world outside was not reflected on the faces of May and Margaret Chesman. They were pretty girls
of eighteen, but just now their pretti-
ness was sadly marred by the unpleasant frowns they wore.

It was all because of the old maid
cousin who had come from her far
western home to visit them, and now,
by their father's urgent request, was to remain for an indefinite time and take charge of the Chesman household.

They were motherless girls, these Chesman twins, and had known no
real restraint since their father's death.
Naturally they were self-willed and
somewhat spoiled, and they resented
this interference from the woman whom
they considered a stranger.

They took care not to show their feeling
before their father. He was a stern man
when aroused, as they had discovered
on several unpleasantly remembered occasions. Besides, he seemed to have taken a strong liking to the old maid
cousin. He was at no pains to conceal
this feeling. In fact, her coming appeared to have made quite a new man of him. Before she came he had been absorbed and very quiet, and sometimes the girls would hear him
walking the floor of his room for hours.

It was business trouble, the girls
fancied, but they didn't dare to speak
to him concerning it.

And then after Cousin Laura came
he suddenly brightened up and was quite himself again. It seemed to have begun with one evening in August when
they found their father in the library
earnestly talking with the cousin, with
a good many papers on the library table
before them and their father arguing very earnestly as they paused at the doorway. They had been to a concert with
Mrs. Jamieson, the sister of the parlor,
and had just returned, and their father
looked up and saw them.

"Come in, girls," he said, "and kiss your cousin Laura, and thank her
for all her many kindnesses." He did not speak in his usual calm voice, and
the twins noticed that his face was flushed and his eyes were unusually bright.

They did as he bade them, Cousin
Laura embracing them tenderly, but
they wondered at it all and sorely resented the power she seemed to have gained over their father.

Cousin Laura was a handsome woman
of perhaps thirty-five years, a woman
of unassuming personality and plain attire, who bore in her manner a suggestion of depth of character and strong
executive ability.

You are all the relatives I have in the world," said Cousin Laura, as she beamed upon May and Margaret, and
threw a swift glance at their father, and
we must be very good to one another.

The girls knew that she wasn't even a
first cousin; she was only their father's second cousin, and he hadn't seen her
for many years, when the letter she had written from a far distant Western mining town came to announce her purpose of making them a visit, if agreeable. She came and she stayed. And all the time they felt that her influence
was gradually bearing them down to a state of domestic subjection.

And now this particular morning
with its brightness and its reflected sunshine seemed to have brought matters to a climax.

May had softly slipped into the little writing room that adjoined the library,
but neither Cousin Laura nor her father
knew of her whereabouts.

"They are lovely girls," May overheard Cousin Laura say, "but just a little spoiled and self-willed, and I'm sorry to feel that they don't quite like
me. They show it many ways."

May's father's voice suddenly grew
harsh.

"Have they been impudent?" he quickly asked.

"No, no," cried Cousin Laura.
"They are ladies. I don't think they could be rude if they tried. But it's a fact that they do not like me."

"And why?" asked the elder Ches-
man.

"Because," laughed Cousin Laura,
"because they think I'm just a med-
dling old maid."

May's father laughed long and long.
"We will presently cure all that," he
said.

May could not hear Cousin Laura's response, but her father laughed again,
and then they went away.

May came out unobserved and lightly
ran up stairs to seek her sister.

"Sister," do you know what is going
on downstairs?"
"Breakfast," said the more matter of fact Margaret.

Poetry.

The Unchanging.

Toe feet the hours slip
With feet unvarying;
Too soon is lost the sky
Of life-renewing Spring;
Too soon comes Autumn's breath
With presages of death.

Yet, though the red rose fade,
And the green fields lie waste,
Despoiled and disarrayed;
Though ceaselessly we haste
To our dim heritage
Down the gray paths of age:

There is one thing that Time,
The great all-conqueror,
May touch not with his time—
The fond, true heart of her!
Gilt with Love's aphorisms,
There Youth's perennial dwells.

—Harper's Bazar.

Miscellany.

Their Old Maid Cousin.

It was a bright and cheerful September morning, but the sunshine that flooded the world outside was not reflected on the faces of May and Margaret Chesman. They were pretty girls
of eighteen, but just now their pretti-
ness was sadly marred by the unpleasant frowns they wore.

It was all because of the old maid
cousin who had come from her far
western home to visit them, and now,
by their father's urgent request, was to remain for an indefinite time and take charge of the Chesman household.

They were motherless girls, these Chesman twins, and had known no
real restraint since their father's death.
Naturally they were self-willed and
somewhat spoiled, and they resented
this interference from the woman whom
they considered a stranger.

They took care not to show their feeling
before their father. He was a stern man
when aroused, as they had discovered
on several unpleasantly remembered occasions. Besides, he seemed to have taken a strong liking to the old maid
cousin. He was at no pains to conceal
this feeling. In fact, her coming appeared to have made quite a new man of him. Before she came he had been absorbed and very quiet, and sometimes the girls would hear him
walking the floor of his room for hours.

It was business trouble, the girls
fancied, but they didn't dare to speak
to him concerning it.

And then after Cousin Laura came
he suddenly brightened up and was quite himself again. It seemed to have begun with one evening in August when
they found their father in the library
earnestly talking with the cousin, with
a good many papers on the library table
before them and their father arguing very earnestly as they paused at the doorway. They had been to a concert with
Mrs. Jamieson, the sister of the parlor,
and had just returned, and their father
looked up and saw them.

"Come in, girls," he said, "and kiss your cousin Laura, and thank her
for all her many kindnesses." He did not speak in his usual calm voice, and
the twins noticed that his face was flushed and his eyes were unusually bright.

They did as he bade them, Cousin
Laura embracing them tenderly, but
they wondered at it all and sorely resented the power she seemed to have gained over their father.

Cousin Laura was a handsome woman
of perhaps thirty-five years, a woman
of unassuming personality and plain attire, who bore in her manner a suggestion of depth of character and strong
executive ability.

You are all the relatives I have in the world," said Cousin Laura, as she beamed upon May and Margaret, and
threw a swift glance at their father, and
we must be very good to one another.

The girls knew that she wasn't even a
first cousin; she was only their father's second cousin, and he hadn't seen her
for many years, when the letter she had written from a far distant Western mining town came to announce her purpose of making them a visit, if agreeable. She came and she stayed. And all the time they felt that her influence
was gradually bearing them down to a state of domestic subjection.

And now this particular morning
with its brightness and its reflected sunshine seemed to have brought matters to a climax.

May had softly slipped into the little writing room that adjoined the library,
but neither Cousin Laura nor her father
knew of her whereabouts.

"They are lovely girls," May overheard Cousin Laura say, "but just a little spoiled and self-willed, and I'm sorry to feel that they don't quite like
me. They show it many ways."

May's father's voice suddenly grew
harsh.

"Have they been impudent?" he quickly asked.

"No, no," cried Cousin Laura.
"They are ladies. I don't think they could be rude if they tried. But it's a fact that they do not like me."

"And why?" asked the elder Ches-
man.

"Because," laughed Cousin Laura,
"because they think I'm just a med-
dling old maid."

May's father laughed long and long.
"We will presently cure all that," he
said.

May could not hear Cousin Laura's response, but her father laughed again,
and then they went away.

May came out unobserved and lightly
ran up stairs to seek her sister.

"Sister," do you know what is going
on downstairs?"
"Breakfast," said the more matter of fact Margaret.

Poetry.

The Unchanging.

Toe feet the hours slip
With feet unvarying;
Too soon is lost the sky
Of life-renewing Spring;
Too soon comes Autumn's breath
With presages of death.

Yet, though the red rose fade,
And the green fields lie waste,
Despoiled and disarrayed;
Though ceaselessly we haste
To our dim heritage
Down the gray paths of age:

There is one thing that Time,
The great all-conqueror,
May touch not with his time—
The fond, true heart of her!
Gilt with Love's aphorisms,
There Youth's perennial dwells.

—Harper's Bazar.

Miscellany.

Their Old Maid Cousin.

It was a bright and cheerful September morning, but the sunshine that flooded the world outside was not reflected on the faces of May and Margaret Chesman. They were pretty girls
of eighteen, but just now their pretti-
ness was sadly marred by the unpleasant frowns they wore.

It was all because of the old maid
cousin who had come from her far
western home to visit them, and now,
by their father's urgent request, was to remain for an indefinite time and take charge of the Chesman household.

They were motherless girls, these Chesman twins, and had known no
real restraint since their father's death.
Naturally they were self-willed and
somewhat spoiled, and they resented
this interference from the woman whom
they considered a stranger.

They took care not to show their feeling
before their father. He was a stern man
when aroused, as they had discovered
on several unpleasantly remembered occasions. Besides, he seemed to have taken a strong liking to the old maid
cousin. He was at no pains to conceal
this feeling. In fact, her coming appeared to have made quite a new man of him. Before she came he had been absorbed and very quiet

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1903.

Voting List Figures.

In the revision of the voting lists this year 388 names were dropped by the Board of Registrars, reducing the total registration from 4,914 to 4,526. The decrease is about the usual one, and the probabilities are that before the State election in November over 400 and perhaps 500 names will be added, putting the total over 5,000.

The largest decrease was in precinct 2 of Ward One, but was nearly as large in precinct 2 of Ward Four, precinct 2 of Ward Two, and in Ward Five.

Ward Five is the only ward not divided into precincts and 756 voters are eligible to vote in one place.

Otherwise the largest precinct is Precinct 1 of Ward One, with 488. Ward Three is the largest ward with 878 voters, but Ward Four has 850 and Ward One 852. Ward Five has 756, while Wards Two and Six are closely bunched for last place, the former with 697 voters and the latter with 580.

The number of voters on the lists at the last city election and at the present time is shown by actual count of City Clerk Keith to be as follows:

	Nov. 12, 1902.	Aug. 31, 1903.	De-crease.
Ward 1, Prec. 1	432	404	28
Ward 1, Prec. 2	500	488	12
Ward 1, Prec. 3	280	241	39
Ward 2, Prec. 1	318	333	15
Ward 2, Prec. 2	432	404	28
Ward 3, Prec. 1	432	404	28
Ward 3, Prec. 2	432	404	28
Ward 3, Prec. 3	432	404	28
Ward 4, Prec. 1	432	404	28
Ward 4, Prec. 2	432	404	28
Ward 4, Prec. 3	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 1	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 2	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 3	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 4	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 5	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 6	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 7	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 8	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 9	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 10	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 11	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 12	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 13	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 14	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 15	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 16	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 17	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 18	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 19	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 20	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 21	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 22	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 23	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 24	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 25	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 26	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 27	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 28	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 29	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 30	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 31	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 32	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 33	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 34	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 35	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 36	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 37	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 38	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 39	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 40	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 41	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 42	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 43	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 44	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 45	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 46	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 47	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 48	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 49	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 50	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 51	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 52	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 53	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 54	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 55	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 56	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 57	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 58	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 59	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 60	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 61	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 62	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 63	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 64	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 65	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 66	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 67	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 68	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 69	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 70	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 71	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 72	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 73	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 74	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 75	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 76	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 77	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 78	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 79	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 80	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 81	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 82	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 83	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 84	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 85	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 86	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 87	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 88	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 89	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 90	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 91	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 92	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 93	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 94	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 95	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 96	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 97	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 98	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 99	432	404	28
Ward 5, Prec. 100	432	404	28

There are 55 females on the lists, one less than last year.

The Ms lead in number of names, there being 534. The Cs are a good second with 421, while the Bs, Ss and Hs have over 200 each. There are no Xs and but 1 U, while the Qs and Zs are under 10.

The numbers by letters follow:

A	129	N	119
B	397	O	186
C	421	P	217
D	259	Q	4
E	75	R	196
F	247	S	379
G	224	T	160
H	335	U	1
I	12	V	17
J	108	W	223
K	149	X	0
L	104	Y	0
M	514	Z	4

Rare and Antique.

Some of our citizens who have been to Boston this week to examine the magnificent display of antique and rare goods at the store of John H. Pray & Sons Co., pronounce it the best they have ever seen.

Charles F. Bacon, manager of the rug department, who has returned from Europe, says he has brought back over 100 bales of the best selected rugs he could find, and he had his choice in selecting; and at lower prices than ever, owing to immense quantity produced this season.

Every inch of the 20,000 feet of floor space is covered with choice Turkey, Persian and Indian rugs; and there are piles of Persian hall stripes, antiques, every one of them of color and designs to rave over. Most graceful of design and of the softest colors of all the eastern rugs are the Kermanshah carpets and rugs, some of them 15 by 23 feet. One feature of the new lot of rugs shown is the fact that so many of them are of unusually large sizes, ranging as large as 16 by 24 feet.

Gov. Bates Thanked.

Gov. Bates has received a letter from a committee of Revere citizens which reads in part:

"We, in behalf of all law-abiding citizens of our town, irrespective of party, for the aid rendered by you at the most opportune time, through the district police and the park police, express our most sincere thanks; and while we know that our local police have the power and are paid for their town treasury to do their duty, they have failed to perform it, and we trust that the future (after this year) shall never bring the necessity for State assistance in the execution of the laws of the Commonwealth in Revere. This promptly bringing to bar of the criminals is worthy of our highest praise and commendation, which we freely give, for it has saved to our town its good name."

New Quarters.

We are pleased to notice that Brother P. M. Leavitt of the Canton Junction has moved into new quarters; a large handsome building, two stories in height, erected the past summer for the publication of the Journal. Our brother should now be happy with a new building, plenty of presses and other nice machinery for turning out his newspaper and job work in a prompt and tasty manner. Nothing gives a publisher more pleasure than a nice office and good machinery when called upon to fill the demands of his fellow citizens.

Paint it, for the City's Sake.

The old Nightingale house, corner Washington and Temple streets, looks more dilapidated than ever, since the big trees have been cut down. It is a pity that the heirs of this valuable property, in the heart of the city, cannot afford to give the old residence, which once housed Mr. and Mrs. George Nightingale, prominent citizens of this town, a coat of paint. The old house is a disgrace to the city.

Lieut. Bumpus.

The remains of the late Lieut. Edward A. Bumpus, U. S. A., were received in Quincy on Aug. 20th, and placed in the receiving vault of the Mt. Wollaston cemetery to await the return of Judge Bumpus who is now in Europe.

The remains of Lieut. Bumpus came via the Pacific to San Francisco, and from there direct to Quincy and not as stated in Sunday's Globe.

—The annual exhibition of the Massachusetts Horticultural society, September 24, 25, 26 and 27, at Horticultural hall, Boston, of plants, flowers, fruits, vegetables promises to be the most interesting and one of the largest exhibitions ever held by the society. Good music will be rendered every afternoon and evening. The last day occurring on Sunday will give those persons fully engaged during week days an opportunity to enjoy a day of quiet rest.

Among the tourists registered last week at the London reading rooms of the American Express Company were Miss Edith Randall, Miss Rita M. Prescott, Miss Annie L. Prescott, Miss Fetter and Miss Emily C. Fetter, of this city. They returned last night on the Commonwealth which reached Boston at 5 o'clock.

CITY BRIEFS.

The sun sets before 6 o'clock.

Gen. Humidity is prolonging its stay with us.

John R. Graham of Bangor, Me., is in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Walsh are to move to Randolph.

G. E. Hatch has received a patent for a secondary battery.

Miss May Langley has gone to Durham N. H., for a few weeks.

The City Council will hold another meeting next Monday evening.

The new styles of fall hats have arrived at the store of George W. Jones.

Mrs. Thomas Hewson of Newcomb place is entertaining her sister from Maine.

Master Fred Harris is seriously ill at the home of his parents on Coddington street.

Miss B. Beatrice Tisdale of Somersworth, N. H., spent a few days in this city last week.

Hall and Holden won in the open tournament in doubles at Franklin Park on Tuesday.

C. Patch has received another large cargo of coal which they believe will give satisfaction.

The only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Swingle is seriously ill at their home on Hancock street.

Mrs. William W. Peniman of Elm place has been spending the past week with relatives at Scituate.

Councilman Thompson of Elm street is raising a large variety of pretty dahlias including the cactus variety.

John O'Hara, who was injured on Scamell street last week is reported as doing nicely and will recover.

Mrs. Charles Hall, who died in Hudson, Mass., last week was daughter of the late Ozzias M. Pope of Quincy.

T. Dexter Pierce and Stephen Pierce left last week for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. Vinton Pierce at Maplehurst, Wilton, N. H.

Miss Mary Grant, who has been spending the summer at the Adirondacks, returned to her home on Washington street, Tuesday.

Henry Mahoney, who has been confined to his home by illness for five weeks, has resumed his position at the Weeks-Bill pharmacy.

Orders have been issued by the N. Y., N. H. and H. R. R. to cut off the locomotive whistling as much as possible at Quincy and South Quincy.

Mrs. Esther Harris, who has been seriously ill at the City Hospital, has returned to her home on Walnut street and is able to go out every day.

A baby but a few weeks' old was found at Merrymont Park on Saturday, and the police took it to the Hospital, where it lived but a short time.

The open handicap tournament of the Quincy Tennis club was won Monday by N. W. Niles, who defeated A. B. Holden, in the finals 1-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

The Quincy quays do not seem to cut much ice in the summary of the Yacht Racing Association of Massachusetts this year. We should have more flyers next year.

Miss Annie Sanford, the pleasant and obliging milliner, after a four weeks' rest at her home in Maine, has returned to her duties for the winter with Miss C. L. Bliss.

Wallace Carr, Thayer academy 1906, left Tuesday for Arkansas State College where he is to remain two or three years in preparation for Junior class at Technology.

Mrs. T. H. Matthews and little son, and Miss Lillian Matthews of Augusta, Me., have returned home after a week's visit at their sister's, Mrs. P. F. Carlin 33 Cottage avenue.

The City Council of Quincy, Mass., has passed a unanimous verdict that dynamite is dangerous. Who said there was anything wrong about the City of Presidents—Herald Telegram.

Edwin F. Knight of Randolph and Mr. B. S. Smart of Boston, who secured the conviction of Brighton hotel men on Tuesday for violations of the liquor laws were employed by Henry H. Faxon.

Baals Sanford of Brockton, at one time district deputy grand master of this Masonic district, was among the long list of candidates who took the 33rd degree of Masonry in Boston on Tuesday.

The Quincy gentlemen camping at Lake Winnepesaukee report that they made war on the fish Monday morning. It is a great country they say, and the lake is beautiful. Their address is Meredith, N. H.

Miss Lucie Newcomb, who has been teaching this summer in Bangor, Me., has returned to the Journal office and will resume study this week, with Mr. Carl Faellen at the Pacific pianoforte school, Huntington avenue, Boston.

Captain Sanders, Q. H. S., called his team out for practice for the first time this season on Monday. Several of the former High school football men were present, among them Capt. Wright of 1901. There is material enough for a strong eleven.

Mac McGregor O. S. C., and many of the business associates, attended the funeral of Rev. E. N. Hardy yesterday afternoon. Rev. E. N. Hardy officiated, and the quartette of Bethany church sang. The clan performed its service at Mt. Wollaston.

The Brotherhood of Bethany church held a meeting Tuesday evening. Reports of committees were received and other committees were appointed. The work for the winter was mapped out. A church census by the city was considered but no definite action was taken.

John Mead, driver of McNeill's milk wagon, is at the Hospital suffering from blood poisoning. Several days ago he was out on a glass bottle. In the Spanish-American war it will be remembered he was shot in the thigh, later on he had a rib taken out. He has a wife and two children.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Vinton of Chelsea, Mass., have returned from their four months' visit in Greeley Col. They report a very hot summer and terrific thunder storms. "There was also a hail storm at Greeley where the hail stones were larger than hen's eggs and ruined the crops. They made side trips to Colorado Springs, Cripple Creek and other places, and enjoyed good health.

The annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor society connected with Bethany church was held Sept. 11, the following officers being elected: President, Cecil Blanchard; vice president, Benjamin Balthaz; secretary, Miss Annie Mitchell; treasurer, Miss Lottie Kingman; Miss Ida Thomas, the retiring president, presided. Rev. E. N. Hardy, the pastor, addressed the society. A vote of thanks was given the retiring officers.

Quite dark now at 6 P. M.

The low temperature is welcome.

Highland Park closed Tuesday evening.

R. D. Chase offers a desirable estate for sale.

James R. Allison has gone to Mountborno, N. H., for a few weeks.

John J. Kemp is confined to his home on Newcomb street by sickness.

Dr. Abele has returned from a veterinary convention held at Ithaca, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Pettengill of Revere road are touring the White Mountains.

Chief Williams was one of the judges at the firemen's muster at Weymouth on Thursday.

The Quincy High football team is scheduled to play Waltham High at Waltham Nov. 12.

Mrs. Charles E. Goldwater of Brockton spent Wednesday with old acquaintances in this city.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Butler will attend the Unitarian National Conference at Atlantic City next week.

Mrs. Frank F. Prescott and son Henry have returned from a two weeks' visit with friends in Portland, Me.

Miss C. S. Hubbard and Mrs. M. W. Robinson have been at the Mt. Look-out House at Hopkinton, N. H.

Mrs. Thomas B. Davenport is now convalescing rapidly and will return to her home from the hospital in a few days.

Charles Crane left Thursday by trolley for a three weeks' visit with relatives at Martha's Vineyard and Monument beach.

Quincy league game today at the Ward Two playgrounds which will decide the championship—Wollastons vs. Quincys.

All women who wish to enter their children in the Quincy Day Nursery will please give their names at once to Mrs. Frank Davis, Elm street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Lund of Washington street, quietly observed Tuesday the forty-sixth anniversary of their marriage and the 71st birthday of Mr. Lund.

Walter H. Cobb and Miss Cobb will accompany the Massachusetts Odd Fellows to Baltimore, for the 75th annual session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

Mrs. Lydia E. Manter has the sympathy of her many friends and acquaintances in this city in the loss of her husband, whose death occurred at Barre, Vt., on Thursday Sept. 10.

Mrs. E. Menbick of 28 South Walnut street is entertaining her son, John H. Willis, formerly of this city, but now District Foreman of the Union Pacific Railroad, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Gourd (Miss Edith Belle Forsaith) who were married in Andover, N. H., on Monday last, will be at home on Monday, after November first, at 68 Goffe street, Quincy.

The many friends of Miss Fannie Taylor will be pleased to learn that she is improving rapidly from her operation recently performed at the City Hospital and has been removed to her home on Main street.

The regular meetings of the Hospital Aid Association will be resumed Thursday, September 24, at 2.30 P. M., in the chapel of the First Church, City square. A large attendance is particularly desired.

A regular meeting of the Letter Carriers was held Thursday night. M. C. King delivered his report from the national convention held at Syracuse, N. Y., taking one and a half hours. The association will hold a ball the last of October.

WEST QUINCY.

The Copeland Club are to put a strong football team in the field this fall, and would like to hear from the Wollaston team. The team will comprise the following players: Joseph Barry, Albert Barry, Albert Belliveau, George Ripley, Joseph Flaherty, Daniel O'Connell, Harry Boyd, Hector Block, Russell Badger, John Joyce, George Berry, Adolphus and Angles to the Copeland club, West Quincy.

The Granite Railway Co. shipped a very handsome sarcophagus monument last week to Wooster. O. The bottom base was 10 by 7 by 1-3; the second base 8 by 5 by 1-3, and the die 7 by 4 by 5. The monument was all polished and one of the handsomest jobs that has been shipped from Quincy for some time.

The alarm from box 145 on Station street at 3.55 Monday afternoon was for a fire in a house on Wilson street owned by Joseph Vogel and occupied by John Murphy and another family. It was caused by an overturned stove, and the loss was about $10.

Several of the pigeons owned by Mrs. Laing of Traford street, which have been missing for several days, have returned, and she wishes to thank her neighbors very much in assisting her to find them.

Miss Ruth Petter, of No. 18 Kendrick avenue, has received from the Boston Herald Co. a very nice ping-pong set, as a prize for solving correctly, one of the series of Children's prize puzzle contests, now appearing in the Boston Sunday Herald.

THE PATRIOT

QUINCY PATRIOT ESTABLISHED 1837.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1903.

VOL. 67, NO. 39.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY; $2.50 PER YEAR.

The Quincy Patriot,
Established in 1837.
PUBLISHED SATURDAY MORNINGS BY
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT & SON,
OFFICE, No. 142 HANCOCK STREET.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.
A reduction of fifty cents will be made
when paid one year in advance.

Quincy Daily Ledger,
The ONLY DAILY in the ONLY CITY in Norfolk
County. Established in 1889.
Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year.
A reduction of $1 will be made when paid
one year in advance.

ALSO PUBLISHERS OF THE
Braintree Observer
A Weekly Established in 1878.

H. T. WHITMAN,
Civil Engineer
—AND—
SURVEYOR.
ADAMS BUILDING, - QUINCY
Boston Office, 85 Devonshire street
Hours, 12 to 2 p. m.
N. B. Plans of nearly all the Real Estate
in the City of Quincy can be found at my office. Telephone connection.
May 26. 11

J. E. KENLEY & CO.,
PLUMBERS.
All orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET, QUINCY.
Jan. 6. 11

IRA LITCHFIELD,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
PEARL STREET,
SOUTH QUINCY.

JULIUS JOHNSON,
Carpenter, & Contractor
—AND—
BUILDER.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
NO. 64 CENTRE ST., QUINCY, MASS.
June 19. 11

WILLIAM PARKER & SON,
Carpenters and Builders.
Plans and Specifications furnished and estimates given.
JOBBER PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
HANCOCK COURT, - QUINCY, MASS.

A. W. PARKER,
Carpenter and Builder,
Cor. Putnam and Merrimont Road, Quincy.
HOUSES FOR SALE AND TO LET.
PLANS FURNISHED.
Jobbing Promptly Attended to.

JOHN W. McANARNEY,
COUNCILLOR-AT-LAW,
ROOM 1, DUREN & MERRILL'S BLOCK,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!
OF ALL KINDS.
DRY AND GREEN
At Lowest Possible prices.
THOMAS O'BRIEN & SONS,
Yard off Miller and West Streets,
WEST QUINCY.
Quincy, Jan. 10. 11

DAVID BROWN,
HORSE SHOEING,
Carriage Work and General Jobbing.
ARLINGTON STREET, - WOLLASTON,
Nov. 9. 11

W. E. BROWN,
UNDERTAKER.
Office and residence, corner of Canal and Mechanic streets.
Quincy, Feb. 6. 11

INSURANCE AGENCY.
ESTABLISHED in Quincy in the year 1849 by
W. PORTER.
Insurance effected in reliable and safe
Block and Mutual offices.
By W. PORTER & CO.,
At No. 82 Water street, Boston.
Residence, Hancock street, Quincy.

DR. FENIMORE S. ANDREWS,
DENTIST.
67 Franklin St.,
Cor. Water St.,
PINE BLOCK, QUINCY ADAMS.
Office Hours, - 9 to 12; 2 to 5.
Also, MONDAY and FRIDAY Evenings,
7 to 9.
Telephone number, 146-2.

DR. C. T. SHERMAN
DENTIST.
Rooms 5 and 6, - Duren & Merrill's Block,
HANCOCK STREET, QUINCY.
Office Hours, 8 to 12, 1 to 6.
Residence, Greenleaf street.

DR. G. R. ENGLAND,
DENTIST.
21 Chestnut Street.
Telephone 126-5.
Quincy, Oct. 1. 11

GET YOUR Job Printing
AT THE PATRIOT OFFICE.
Where it will be done Promptly and
At Reasonable Prices.

EBEN SMITH.
1872.
MRS. EBEN SMITH.
1897.
PICTURE FRAMING.
FINE GOLD WORK.
147 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
REGILDING, RESTORING, PASSE PARTOUT.
Formerly Lincoln Street Art Store.
Oct. 12. 11

ON THE STREET
By "the Street" is usually meant the financial centre of a great city.
The men who do business there are among the best-dressed men in the world.
What "the Street" says is as final in matters of attire as in matters of finance.
We clothe a great many of these men and have done so for years.
We ask you to consider this fact when next you buy clothing.
Macular Parker Company,
Clothing for Men and Boys,
400 Washington Street, BOSTON.

EXAMINERS FOR AND MAKERS OF EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
ORIGINATORS OF THE
FOUNDED 1888. "SANBORN" METHOD OF EXAMINATION. INCORPORATED 1902
JOHN W. SANBORN CO.,
OPTICIANS.
No. 3 Winter Street, BOSTON, MASS.
BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres. and Manager.
TELEPHONE. ELEVATOR. ONE FLIGHT
Jan. 17. 11

STEARNS' INTERIOR FINISH.
Everything in Wood or Woodwork, Any Kind of Wood.
Some Cypress
is no better than Hemlock, but our Florida Cypress is well known to be more reliable than any other wood.
Our Natural Dark Cypress
is sometimes preferred for Interior Finish, to our better known Light Cypress, although the wood itself in either color may be relied upon in every particular. The darker wood, however, produces a richer effect at a lower cost than the so-called expensive hardwoods. See residences, churches, libraries and other buildings already finished.
Our Light Cypress is equally desirable for either Interior or Exterior Work. Finishes handsomely in natural color. Will take paint better than other woods and paint will not peel off.
There is no available wood so desirable for Shingles, Clapboards, Planks and other outside work.
Our Florida Ash
is of light and uniform color, some of it being not unlike White Mahogany. It is well adapted for fine interior finish and is not expensive.
We Believe that our Building Specialties are much superior to any similar material in America, and we simply want an opportunity to tell you why it is so before you have purchased—before it is too late.
Interested
write us fully regarding the results desired.
We can write you more intelligently than any other.

THE A. T. STEARNS LUMBER COMPANY.
(ESTABLISHED 1849).
Main Office, Mills and Wharves at Newport, Branch Office and Exhibit, 160 Devonshire Street, and 19 Federal Street, } BOSTON.
(Market Square Salesroom, 1 Sudbury Street, corner Merrimac Street.)

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature
of
Wm. D. Hoar
Use
For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
The Certain Company, NEW YORK CITY.

Poetry.
Golden-rod.
Golden-rod, why do you look so bright?
The sun has given you part of his light.
What makes you grow so straight and tall?
I'm trying to answer an upward call.
Why do you bloom in the summer so late?
I'm told to be patient and I must wait.
What makes you beautiful, golden-rod?
I'm trying to tell what I know of God.
Golden-rod, what can we learn of you?
To be cheerful and gentle, modest and true.

Miscellany.
Betsy Jane's Story.
My name is Betsy Jane Dobbins.
That is neither beautiful nor euphonious,
but has a decided plebeian sound, suggestive of basement kitchens, wash-tubs, and scrubbing brushes. I am willing to admit; however, once upon a time, I came very near changing my commonplace cognomen for that of Mrs.
Carlyle St. Clair, which I consider aristocratic in the extreme, and this is how it came about.

But first, let me tell you, that I am an old maid, and that I propose to remain so. Not that I have had plenty of offers—no indeed. Years and years ago, when I was living in two rooms and doing any kind of work to get an honest living, from picking blueberries at four cents a quart to making gentlemen's coats and vests for what I could get, I might have married
"Squire Pippins, Doctor Prindle, Captain Benjamin Buckhorn, or Jonas Jinks, the inventor.

But I used to be considered a woman of sound, practical, common sense, and when "Squire Pippins" who had a hair on his head, and had squandered his substance in riotous living, proposed to make his fourth matrimonial venture, somehow I couldn't rid myself of the impression that he regarded me as a possible means of support in his old age, and promptly answered "No."

As for Doctor Prindle, a fat, pompous little man, who was as poor as Job's turkey and a quack of the worst kind, it didn't take me long to make him understand that he was looking for a victim to experiment on with his nasty powders and pills. It would not be me.

And there was Captain Benjamin Buckhorn, a miserly old creature, who walked with two canes, and kept tipsy on hard cider, which he manufactured during his soldier hours, when he asked me to marry him, I told him right to his face, that if he felt the necessity of a strong, healthy nurse, and somebody to look after his horse and cow, and split wood and build fires, he would have to look further.

Jonas Jinks, the inventor, was young and fairly good-looking, with no special bad habits, but unfortunately he was lost both his feet in an accident. He pretended to love me with the purest affection, but when he asked the important question, and added as a sort of clinch, I suppose, that as Mrs. Jinks was a woman of my past and energy ought to make a handsome living, he told me that he wanted me to take care of his
"Patent Automatic, Combination, Self-shaking Pepper-box and Mousetrap," which, by the way, was the awfullest humbug, my conscience justified me in giving him the same answer that I did the other three.

But all this happened long ago, when I was quite young, and before my Uncle Saul, out in Texas, died and left me sole heir to forty thousand dollars.
Forty thousand dollars! Can you understand what that meant to a woman who had toiled and toiled and toiled, and had never known what it was to have even forty dollars at one time in her whole life?
For two weeks after receiving the joyful news—as I had never met my Uncle Saul, of course I could not feel deeply grieved at his decease—I was wandered around the house in a dazed state of mind, expecting every moment to awaken and find myself the victim of a tantalizing dream. Then I started in to enjoy my riches.

It was evening, and the lamps were lighted when I entered the station to wait for my train, and I was hungry, tired and dusty. A hasty glance into a mirror showed me that I was looking my worst, so drawing a thick green veil over my face, I took a seat in a dusky corner. Headless of the crowd were constantly passing in and out,
I sat there, building delightful air-castles, until I was aroused to a consciousness of what was going on around me by hearing my own name spoken by a woman in the next seat.

"I would like to know what good it has done to old Betsy Jane Dobbins," she was saying, "and if we don't get it somebody else will, that's settled."
She's the very softest piece of antiquated vanity that I've ever met yet in all my —ahem—career."

"Oh, yes, Nat, it's been a great deal for me, there's no doubt about that."
I'm the victim in this case.
You've no idea how I despise to toady around old drump. I have a good mind to throw the whole game up."
And lose thirty thousand dollars at the least! You must be crazy, my dear friend, and I'm not a bit less so.
I lifted a corner of my veil—merciful
Heavens! Right in front of me sat Mr.
St. Clair and his sister, and I had supposed them hundreds of miles away.

There was no mistake; for one moment everything swam before my eyes, and for the first time in my life, I really thought I was going to faint; but, with a desperate effort, I pulled myself together and awaited my sister's reply.
"Yes, that's it. We're sure to rake in a big bundle, anyway, and the best part of the transaction lies in the fact that we're running no risks. I happen to know that most of old Betsy Jane's money is invested in government bonds, and they are easily disposed of."

"Why, certainly, and once you're married, she is such an ignorant fool, you can work her out of every dollar
she has in the world, and then—"
Then old Betsy Jane will wake up some fine morning and find herself stranded back in the wilderness where she belongs, and we'll—"
I could hear no more, but almost paralyzed from the effects of what I had overheard, with the greatest difficulty,
I struggled to my feet, and managed to escape without attracting their attention. Once outside, I rallied my scattered wits enough to order a carriage, and directed the driver to carry me to the nearest hotel, when I sat down and wrote the following letter, which I forwarded to a New York address.

"The antiquated old drump takes this opportunity to inform Carlyle St. Clair that his services in the capacity of 'toady' are no longer required, as old Betsy Jane has learned a lesson that she will not forget, and in the future proposes to stay back in the wilderness where she belongs, and guard and protect her government bonds from all thieves and conspirators. B. J. D."

To ease my conscience, and also as a sort of revenge upon myself, I wrote an apologetic note to my Aunt Eunice, explaining the situation and intimating that, as my oldest living relation, it might be well for her to appeal to the proper authorities, and have a guardian appointed to watch over my interests in the future.

Long after, I accidentally learned that St. Clair was a professional crook, and his so-called sister, an adventuress, but I never saw either of them again, and as I told you in the beginning, though I have had plenty of offers, I am an old maid, and I intend to remain so.—Portland Transcript.

The Old Mississippi Packet.
I wish I could make it plain how wonderful a being is the steamboat.
She has a romance clinging to her every timber, and the blood of the thoroughbred in her veins. Into her go the engines of dead-and-gone river masters, and the measured roll of sweet-toned bells, paintings, bits of bric-a-brac—of famous steamers of the past. Cabins, worthy because of beauty or sturdiness, descend from generation to generation. Her name, often times, stands for wife, daughter,
old-time sweetheart, life-long friend.

Nobly she does her work. As a rule, the packet steamboat travels at least 25,000 miles in a year. Landing, she does not slip smoothly into a deep-water slip as does the ocean liner; she has to grapple through sand, stumble over rocks, buffet against banks and wharves. In time of storm she does not have miles of space in which to manoeuvre; she is cooped up at the wind's mercy, with nine-tenths of her bulk above water, in a channel sometimes not wide enough to turn about in.

Her powers of resistance are remarkable. When I likened to a ghost that St. Louis packet which I first boarded at St. Paul, there was more than mere fancy in the words. She was waiting for the first time in her life, for a lifetime she had been once wrecked in a cyclone, once sunk by a drawbridge, once sunk upon a snag—in that last accident losing almost her entire bottom. Thrice the river had viciously wounded her, but it had not killed her —yet.

There is no sadder sight than a steamboat whose day is done. I came across one tied at the bank below Vicksburg, a stern-wheel packet. Her wheel was gone, her chimneys awry, her rotted woodwork protruding through gaps in her faded paint. She was waiting for the end—either dismantling or disolution—with the river she had known so many years mournfully careering her dear old life.—From "The Old Route to Orleans," Scribner's.

"Old Grads" Reminiscences.
Many of the best stories of the earlier days of the college, says The Inlander, are connected with Dr. Williams, for many years held the chair of mathematics here. Apparently he never missed an opportunity to make a joke, and today the "old grads" tell of his witricisms with keenest enjoyment.

One morning a very small fellow named Brown found himself unprepared for recitation, and seated himself in the back of the room, hoping to escape being quizzed by hiding behind the other's broad shoulders. The escape apparently succeeded, for the quiz went on for the greater part of the hour without Brown's absence being commented upon. Suddenly Dr. Williams straightened up, peered over his desk first on one side and then on the other, and finally called out soliloquially: "Be-careful Brown, or I'll see you—your ears show."

Dr. Williams was very much disgusted when the regents passed the law admitting women to the university. A short time afterward, when his class was reciting, a large black dog strolled in through the open door. One of the boys started to put it out, but the doctor stopped him with a stern "Mr.
Jones, be seated. Don't you know, sir, that by a recent rule of the board of regents any resident of the state of Michigan is entitled to all the privileges of this university?"—Detroit Free Press.

Autumn in the Mountains.
The White mountains have gained the title "the foremost summer resort in America," and as the summer season is passing, preparations begin for the second season of the year, the autumn.
Beginning with the middle of September, the mountains take new life.
They are more beautiful than at any other time of the year. Hundreds of guests are pouring in, and the pilgrims to the interesting places are daily increasing.

Food and Fruit.
Mrs. Junness Miller declares that a perfectly nourished man or woman rarely ever has a gnawing, irresistible craving for unwholesome stimulants. "A dozen truly scientific kitchens in the lower parts of our large cities," she says, "would do more good toward wiping out crimes of one nature and another than all the laws that could be passed by the city councils."

This same matter of the relation of food to morals were touched upon by Prof. H. W. Hart before the United States Senate, committee of manufactures. He asserted that the pernicious adulteration of food was responsible for the present degeneration of the race. He advocated the use of whole wheat bread, and said that the appetite for beer was the result of craving of the system for the life-giving elements lost from the wheat in the process of manufacture into white flour.

"I wish," said the doctor, who had been watching a group of school children troop out of a candy store, where they had been spending their pennies,
"that I could form a society among little folks in which each member would pledge to spend all his pocket money for fruit instead of candy." Parents ought to use their influence in this direction. The cravings for sweets which I am satisfied by banana, mango, some dates or raisins—any of orange, are more healthful than cheap candies. If the children must have candy, teach them to make it themselves at home as early as possible.—
Healthy Home.

Christian Science.
A colored man, who worked for a white man who believed in Faith Cure, Christian Science, or whatever it is called, was an hour or so late reporting to work one morning. His employer, upon inquiry, was told that he was detained at home on account of the illness of his brother. The Christian Scientist ridiculed the idea of the brother's illness and said:

"Henry, your brother is not sick.
He just thinks he is sick. If he will just use his mind, exercise his will power, decide that he is not going to be sick, and will have faith in God, he will get right up, and you won't have to use any medicine."
This was all new and strange doctrine to Henry, but he did not think it wise to get into any kind of argument with his boss, so he scratched his head and said nothing.

The third day after this conversation Henry remained away from work the entire day. When he reported for work the next morning his employer said:
"Well, Henry, how is your brother today? Does he still think he is sick?"
The colored man replied: "No, sir;
we buried him yesterday. I reckon by this time he thinks he's dead."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Didn't Find Her Honey.
A young married woman from the South who is visiting New York with her husband left him in their hotel room one morning, while she went on an errand. She was not accustomed to big hotels nor to big New York, but she got back without mishap in half an hour and knocked at the door. There was no response.
"Let me in, honey," said the young woman, knocking more vigorously.
Still no response.
"Honey, let me in," called the young woman, redoubting her exertions.
"Honey, honey, let me in!"

She rattled the knob and shook the door and pounded with both fists, but there was no answer, while she went on the other side. The young woman's voice rose to half a cry.
"Honey, aren't you there? I want to get in. Honey, open the door."
Then arose from the other side of the door a deep bass voice with a reser-vful note in it.
"Madam, it said, 'this is not a bee-hive. This is a bathroom.'—New York Sun.

For the Society Editor.
He had a diffident, apologetic air as he opened the door and ventured just inside the room.
"Is this the society editor," he asked.
"No!" replied the exchange editor, without looking up from his work.
"Gone for the day?" inquired the visitor, hesitatingly.
"No! Back later," replied the exchange editor.

"Can I leave something?"
"Yes! Over there," and the exchange editor indicated the society editor's desk with his shears.

The stranger went over to the desk, fumbled in his pocket for a minute, deposited something very carefully on top of a pile of copy paper and then apparently backed himself out of the room.
The exchange editor glanced at the desk and instantly forgot his work. He began to laugh. Then he went out and brought in other members of the staff, and each joined in the laughter as he looked at the desk. There lay an item for the society column, and on top of it a big fat cigar wrapped in gold foil.
The society editor is a woman.
Chicago Times-Herald.

On Safe Side.
Barney was a noted car driver at a well-known watering place. He holds that the "salt water" was vastly improved by mixture with a "drop of the crystal." But when it came to his own self to the opinion that the latter element gained anything by the combination. He sometimes drank more of it "neat" than was wise or for the sake of his father's fishy family. One hot day, after a long drive and a liberal fare, Barney turned into the best bar in town and asked for a "sprinkle, just to keep down the dust." The proprietor, who would rather have other customers than poor Barney, came in as the latter was raising the glass.

"Barney," he said, "I'd rather you wouldn't be drinking my boy. You know you were sorry for it before, and I suppose you'll be sorry for this, too."
"Begorra, I might," replied Barney,
"but, it's safer to be sorry for taking it than for not taking it."

Fixed to Suit.
Bourke Cochran tells a story of a British veteran of the Boer war who was discharged from the army in a helpless condition; he had lost a leg and an arm—and one eye was gone. In his distress he was obliged to solicit alms on the London streets. One day an Irishman who spied him showered coins upon the unfortunate man with both hands.

"Why do you do that?" demanded a bystander. "Don't you see that the man is a British soldier—a foe to Ireland?"
"I do," retorted the Irishman. "But he can have all I got. He is the first Englishman I have ever seen that was trimmed up to suit me."—Ex.

Letter from the Capital.
Washington, Sept. 21, 1903.
The latest developments in the case of Miss Todd, who was removed from office to oblige Senator Allee of Delaware, have made the affair more than ever one of national interest. As a result of her dismissal it has been discovered that fourth class postmasters have been included within the protection of the civil service laws. This was affected, unknown to the public and the press, by a rule signed by the President on March 20 and which went into effect on April 15. This regulation does not extend to fourth class postmasters which is known as the "merit system," that is, no examination is required of them and the President is still at liberty to appoint whom he chooses to a fourth class office or to remove such employees for any reason save cause.
He cannot remove them because of their political or religious affiliations. That is positively forbidden by the second paragraph of the first clause of the civil service rules. That rule applies to the case of Miss Todd, and it will be impossible to justify her removal unless the law unless the President sees fit to repeal his last civil service regulation.

It is now claimed by the spoilsman that the extension of the civil service regulations to include fourth class postmasters was made and made inadvertently, but there is no ground for the claim. The law was clearly framed by the civil service commissioners and signed by the President with that very end in view. Nor is there the slightest reason to believe that the President will repeal the regulation. The most creditable part of Mr.
Roosevelt's official record is that which shows him to be an ardent advocate of civil service reform and a sworn enemy of the spoils system. When he signed the regulation on this matter he was another page to the story of his promise in this phase of federal reform and it is too much to expect that, even to protect a member of his cabinet, he will at this late day do anything to stultify his record.

Some of the indications have been returned by the District of Columbia grand jury, two against George W.
Beavers, former superintendent of salaries and allowances, and the other is believed to be against a prominent New York politician, a man who is reputed to be placed in the hands of the President during October. The only reason for using the word "practically" is that there will always remain a possibility of running across some new clue which may require following up, and that the prospective trials may develop new evidence which will doings in the Postoffice Department.
Although the cunning with which Beavers managed to cover his tracks for a time baffled the postal inspectors they have now gained an insight to his corrupt practices and it is believed that before they complete their work evidence will have been produced which will reveal the fact that his malfeasance has cost the government nearly as much as that of August W. Machen, $250,- 000. Roughly speaking these two will be found to have cost the government of $500,000. The maladministration of the legal division of the Postoffice Department did not, as a rule, entail direct loss to the Department, the sufferers being that portion of the deluded public which permitted itself to be defrauded by the fraudulent work of the officials. The government's work was allowed undisturbed use of the mails.

So diverse have been the reports of the fortunes of the Panama Canal treaty that now no conservative correspondent dares make a prediction as to its future, but it is interesting to note that there are some indications that it has taken a new lease of life. Several reports have been received recently at the State Department regarding the status of the treaty and these have not been made public, but it has leaked out that officials of the Department have some reason for believing that the extravagant demands which have been made by Colombian statesmen were not put forth in earnest, but rather with a view to finally receding from their position, securing minor concessions, which they appear to really regard as imperative. It is intimated that these minor demands might be granted without jeopardizing the future of the treaty, although it is appreciated that, in view of the influence now opposed of the transcontinental railroads it would be exceedingly difficult to secure its ratification by the United States Senate even with slight and comparatively inconsequential changes. Apropos
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt statesmanship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt states-
manship in Bogota, when every friend
of the treaty and of such influences, a
State Department official today called
the attention of your correspondent to
the inconsistency of certain newspapers
in this country which have dwelt with
great emphasis on the corrupt statesmanship in Bogota, when every friend of the treaty and

ALL GOODS WILL BE DELIVERED FREE AT RESIDENCES IN QUINCY.

John H. Pray & Sons Co.

EVERY DESCRIPTION OF
FLOOR COVERINGS
Assortment — COMPLETE
Prices — RIGHT
Work — PROMPT

It is generally known that we are Distributors of Floor Coverings for the County of Norfolk, and we desire it to be equally well known that we have all grades of Handmade Fabrics, Lace Coverings, Furniture Coverings, etc.

The advice of an interior decorator is at your service, if desired. Goods displayed either in our show-room or at residences. Estimates furnished for covering single pieces of furniture or for completely decorating either a single room or an entire house.

For eighty-six years, under the same firm name, we have distributed to the public, to our neighbors, to our friends, carpets and rugs, and until we added Interior Decorations and Upholstery Fabrics our sole and entire business has been Floor Coverings.

Does not this record make for intelligent confidence on your part?

Pray Building, Washington St., opposite Boylston St.
BOSTON

Represented in Quincy by Mr. Otto A. Hayward; in Wollaston by Mr. J. W. Wellington.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES

In the District Court of the United States for the County of Norfolk, District of Massachusetts.
In bankruptcy of CHARLES E. BULL, Debtor.
Notice is hereby given that on the 28th day of August, A. D. 1903, the said Charles E. Bull was duly appointed Administrator of the estate of the said Charles E. Bull, and that the first meeting of his creditors will be held at Boston, in the County of Norfolk, on the 31st day of October, A. D. 1903, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankruptcy and transmit such business as may properly come before said meeting.

EMERY B. GIBBS,
Refer to Bankruptcy.
Brookline, Sept. 22, 1903. 25-1v

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of ROBERT W. LANDBERG, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to said Administrator.

(Address) THOMAS D. ABSTANT, Administrator.
Quincy, Sept. 25th, 1903. 25-2v

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of AGNES J. MACKENZIE, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to said Administrator.

(Address) THOMAS D. ABSTANT, Administrator.
Quincy, Sept. 25th, 1903. 25-3v

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of ALEXANDER FELTUS, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to said Administrator.

(Address) THOMAS D. ABSTANT, Administrator.
Quincy, Sept. 25th, 1903. 25-4v

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

FOR the purpose of preparing the annual Register of Voters and of receiving evidence of qualifications from persons claiming a right to vote at the coming State Election, the Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session at the following places, from 7.30 to 9.30 o'clock, on the evenings of

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 16, Council Chamber, City Hall.
FRIDAY, Sept. 18, Hose House, Ward 5.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 20, Hose House, Ward 6.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 22, Hose House, Ward 4.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 24, Hose House, Ward 2.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 26, Hose House, Ward 3.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 28, Hose House, Ward 1.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 30, Hose House, Ward 7.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 1, Hose House, Ward 8.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 9.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 10.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 11.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 12.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 13.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 14.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 15.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 16.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 17.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 18.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 19.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 20.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 21.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 22.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 23.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 24.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 25.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 26.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 27.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 28.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 29.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 30.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 31.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 32.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 33.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 34.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 35.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 36.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 37.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 38.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 39.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 40.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 41.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 42.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 43.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 44.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 45.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 46.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 47.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 48.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 49.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 50.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 51.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 52.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 53.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 54.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 55.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 56.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 57.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 58.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 59.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 60.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 61.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 62.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 63.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 64.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 65.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 66.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 67.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 68.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 69.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 70.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 71.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 72.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 73.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 74.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 75.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 76.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 77.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 78.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 79.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 80.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 81.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 82.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 83.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 84.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 85.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 86.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 87.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 88.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 89.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 90.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 91.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 92.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 93.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 94.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 95.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 96.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 97.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 98.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 99.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 100.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 101.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 102.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 103.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 104.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 105.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 106.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 107.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 108.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 109.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 110.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 111.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 112.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 113.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 114.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 115.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 116.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 117.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 118.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 119.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 120.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 121.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 122.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 123.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 124.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 125.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 126.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 127.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 128.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 129.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 130.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 131.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 132.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 133.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 134.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 135.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 136.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 137.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 138.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 139.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 140.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 141.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 142.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 143.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 144.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 145.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 146.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 147.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 148.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 149.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 150.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 151.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 152.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 153.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 154.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 155.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 156.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 157.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 158.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 159.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 160.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 161.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 162.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 163.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 164.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 165.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 166.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 167.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 168.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 169.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 170.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 171.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 172.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 173.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 174.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 175.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 176.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 177.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 178.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 179.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 180.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 181.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 182.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 183.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 184.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 185.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 186.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 187.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 188.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 189.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 190.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 191.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 192.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 193.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 194.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 195.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 196.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 197.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 198.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 199.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 200.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 201.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 202.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 203.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 204.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 205.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 206.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 207.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 208.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 209.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 210.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 211.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 212.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 213.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 214.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 215.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 216.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 217.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 218.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 219.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 220.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 221.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 222.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 223.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 224.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 225.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 226.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 227.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 228.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 229.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 230.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 231.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 232.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 233.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 234.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 235.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 236.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 237.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 238.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 239.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 240.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 241.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 242.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 243.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 244.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 245.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 246.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 247.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 248.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 249.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 250.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 251.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 252.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 253.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 254.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 255.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 256.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 257.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 258.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 259.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 260.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 261.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 262.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 263.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 264.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 265.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 266.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 267.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 268.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 269.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 270.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 271.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 272.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 273.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 274.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 275.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 276.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 277.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 278.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 279.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 280.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 281.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 282.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 283.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 284.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 285.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 286.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 287.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 288.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 289.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 290.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 291.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 292.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 293.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 294.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 295.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 296.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 297.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 298.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 299.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 300.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 301.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 302.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 303.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 304.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 305.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 306.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 307.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 308.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 309.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 310.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 311.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 312.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 313.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 314.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 315.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 316.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 317.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 318.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 319.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 320.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 321.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 322.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 323.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 324.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 325.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 326.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 327.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 328.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 329.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 330.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 331.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 332.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 333.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 334.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 335.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 336.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 337.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 338.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 339.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 340.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 341.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 342.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 343.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 344.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 345.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 346.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 347.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 348.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 349.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 350.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 351.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 352.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 353.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 354.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 355.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 356.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 357.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 358.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 359.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 360.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 361.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 362.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 363.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 364.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 365.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 366.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 367.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 368.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 369.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 370.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 371.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 372.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 373.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 374.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 375.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 376.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 377.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 378.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 379.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 380.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 381.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 382.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 383.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 384.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 385.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 386.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 387.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 388.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 389.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 390.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 391.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 392.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 393.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 394.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 395.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 396.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 397.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 398.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 399.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 5, Hose House, Ward 400.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 7, Hose House, Ward 401.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, Hose House, Ward 402.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 11, Hose House, Ward 403.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13, Hose House, Ward 404.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15, Hose House, Ward 405.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17, Hose House, Ward 406.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, Hose House, Ward 407.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Hose House, Ward 408.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, Hose House, Ward 409.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 25, Hose House, Ward 410.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, Hose House, Ward 411.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29, Hose House, Ward 412.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 31, Hose House, Ward 413.
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3, Hose House, Ward 414.</

